Down to the wire

We are coming down to the wire in what may be the most successful Save-A-Buck (actually $1.50) campaign in our history. This is the final week. Anyone who comes in with renewal money during the week or has it in the mail so that it reaches us no later than Monday morning, April 4, can take the discount.

The Georgetown area continues to grow and have problems, which are explained in each issue of the SUN. Advertisements represent the discounted merchandise our business firms are offering, often saving SUN readers more in a single week than they pay for their annual subscription. Our excellent reporters tell the week-by-week story of the area, in a straight-forward fashion, all neatly tied up in a package that, with the discount, costs subscribers about 8 cents per copy. A bargain? You bet!

A telephone directory that gives all the Williamson County numbers has been published by a Corpus Christi firm. I got a copy Wednesday and immediately started counting.

THE LARGEST TELEPHONE complex is Cedar Park - Leander - Jollyville with, I estimated on the basis of space, 5600 telephones. Taylor was number two with 4490, Georgetown third with 3660 and Round Rock coming up fast with 2900.

Counting all of the Cedar Park listings as being in the county, which I believe is not the case, the county has 19,000 telephones, give or take a few dozen. The listing gave Liberty Hill 540, Florence 536, Granger 575, Jarrell 195, Coupland 200, Hutto 280, and Thrall-Thorndale 750. Thorndale isn't in the county, so to stay in Williamson deduct 500 from that figure.

In past census counting, Georgetown has trailed Taylor by one-third. In telephone listings however, we do better, with 80 percent of Taylor's total. Round Rock, on the other hand, now has 80 percent of the Georgetown figure, which is an eye-popping gain.

In our business this combination telephone book will be a convenience. I understand that our Chamber of Commerce was given a number of these books and they are free to first-comers. —0—

How long ago was it, Williamson County farmers, when the Agriculture Department of the United States government almost put us out of the cotton business because irrigated west and south Texas could produce it more economically? I guess about 20 years.

THE WEST TEXAS cotton producers, working for allotments, were so greedy they removed fences from around their farm yards and planted right up to the home. Cotton belt

THE PLAY'S THE THING or it will be on Tuesday and Wednesday when theater groups from the North and South Zones of District 12 AAA come to the Alma Thomas Theatre at Southwestern University to compete in University Interscholastic League (UIL) One-Act Play Contest. Georgetown High School players, Russell Caluette (left) as Lord Bothwell and Missy Kingery (right) as Mary Stuart, rehearse a scene from the play they will be presenting on Tuesday, March 29. The Georgetown entry in the UIL contest will be "Mary of Scotland". The public is invited to attend the play. Curtain time will be 10 a.m. on Tuesday. See cast photo page 9

G'town will host UIL One-Act Play Contest

Georgetown will be the site for the University Interscholastic League (UIL) One-Act Play Contest for District 12 AAA on March 29 and 30.

The Alma Thomas Theatre at Southwestern will be filled with young actors and actresses dressed in fine costumes and ready to perform next Tuesday and Wednesday.

ACCORDING TO the contest manager, Karen Tatum, North Zone competition will begin at 8 a.m. on March 29. Belton, Lampasas, Georgetown and then Taylor will don their make-up and costumes to do their plays during the morning hours. South Zone competition will begin in the afternoon. Round Rock, Del Valle, Lockhart and Westlake will stage their performances after 1 p.m.

The two best North Zone plays and the two best South Zone plays will be chosen on Tuesday to advance to District competition on Wednesday. Special awards for best actor, best actress and all-star cast will also be presented after the March 29 plays, Ms. Tatum told the Sun.

District winners will be selected on Wednesday, March 30. The four zone winners will compete against each other, beginning at 8:30 a.m. From these four, the two best District plays will be chosen to advance to Regional Contest in Corpus Christi. Best actor, best actress and all-star cast for the District level will also be chosen.

THE GEORGETOWN ENTRY for the contest is "Mary of Scotland". It is a period play with elaborate costumes and make-up. The historical production weaves a tale of plotting and intrigue in the court of Mary Queen of Scots.

At 19, Catholic Mary Stuart arrives in Scotland to assume the throne. She immediately meets opposition from John Knox, a leader in the Protestant Reform movement.

In England Elizabeth Tudo plots to bring Mary's downfall and prevent her from becoming heir to the throne of England. Elizabeth and her advisor, Lord Burghley, spread rumors about Mary and trick her into marrying the handsome drunkard, Lord Darnley, instead of Mary's true love, Lord Bothwell.

DARNLEY PROVES a weak and jealous king. He breaks into her chambers in a drunken rage and kills her secretary, Rizzio. A short while later Darnley is murdered and Mary weds Bothwell.

The Scotts rise up against their queen with the encouragement of John Knox and Mary's councellors. She is imprisoned where she remains until her death. Even in death, however, she triumphs over her enemies, bearing a son who will one day rule both Scotland and England.

Missy Kingery will play the part of Mary Stuart and Beth Morse will play Elizabeth Tudor. Other members of the cast are Jim Smith as Jamie, Scott Smith as John Knox, Russell Caluette as the Earl of Bothwell and

Estate Planning Seminar to aid county landowners

Williamson County landowners can gain valuable insight on the most far-reaching changes in estate laws in 35 years by attending either of two estate planning seminars to be held in Georgetown and Taylor this week.

SPONSORED BY the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the seminars will feature explanations by specialists of the impact the changes will have on farm and ranch estate plans.

The first seminar will begin at 7:30 p.m. Monday night in the Knights of Columbus Hall two miles east of Taylor on State Highway 79. The second session will begin at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the San Gabriel Community Building in Georgetown's San Gabriel Park.

Both seminars will cover reasons for estate planning, some estate law basics, and changes implemented by passage of new estate legislation last autumn. The seminar will run until 9:30 p.m.

WILLIAMSON County Extension Agent John Wakefield said the estate law alterations will necessitate review of many estate plans and consideration of new matters in initial planning.

"A lot of people in the county are selling land, and it could cost them a lot if they don't understand these laws," he said, adding, "We want to emphasize that it's especially important for the ladies."

The Taylor seminar will be conducted by Don Parks, an Extension Service Economist-Management Specialist, and Jim Linzy, a Temple tax lawyer.

PARKS and Georgetown attorney Neill Wilkerson will conduct the Georgetown seminar.

"There has been tremendous interest in this area," said Wakefield, "and if this seminar goes over well we may set up a more detailed program next fall."

Sunday dedication set for new Hike-Bike Trail

Georgetown's new mile-long Hike and Bike Trail will be dedicated at 1 p.m. today (Sunday) in San Gabriel Park come rain or shine.

Planners of the event said Friday that a family picnic and afternoon in the park was slated to follow the short dedication ceremony, weather allowing. Those attending are urged to bring folding chairs, blankets, and picnic meals to enjoy the afternoon with their friends.

Robert F. B. "Skip" Morse will serve as master of ceremonies of the dedication, while Mayor John Doerfler will review the development of the project, present special awards, and officially open the Hike and Bike Trail.

BEGUN as a designated Georgetown Bicentennial Commission project for 1976, the trail later became a joint municipal-Bicentennial improvement for the park.

Funding for construction was obtained through a matching $23,000 grant from the federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation (BOR), $12,000 in city funds, and the donation of two acres of land by council member Dee W. Scott. Scott's donation, worth nearly $15,000, helped the city get the matching federal grant.

The trail runs almost a mile, from just north of the VFW park on Second Street along the east bank of the San Gabriel River on College Street and down into San Gabriel Park, ending at the park bandstand. A 210-foot bridge spans the river near the juncture of its two branches, enabling hikers and bikers to cross over to the park from College Street.

A rockwork retaining wall, built at no cost to the city by Green Thumb workers, covers the section of the river bank where the trail winds down to the new bridge.

"AN IMPORTANT ASPECT of the new trail," commented City Mgr. Leo Wood, "is Political hopefuls quizzed; absentee vote deadline nears

THE APRIL 2 city council and school board elections are less than a week away. To help Georgetown residents decide who they want to vote for, the SUN, radio station KGTN and the Georgetown Women's Political Caucus have sponsored two special candidate forums.

Turn to page 8 - 10 of this issue of the The Sunday SUN to find out what each of the candidates has to say about various issues facing Georgetown.

SAMPLE BALLOTS for the April 2 regular election are on page 8 of this issue.

Week's news in a nutshell

There's a lot of interest in Georgetown and Round Rock in the upcoming community and school elections set for April 2, but over at Cedar Park there is genuine heat and concern. This was inevitable, of course, after the school board fired seven teachers and staff members for, what is being claimed, their involvement in local politics. The local newspaper, the Hill Country News took dead aim at trustees Buford, Wilson, Todd and Beard in an editorial, asking the voters to elect three opposing candidates Bible, Bradford and O'Conner. Meanwhile, a new coach has been employed to replace fired Coach Huntis Black. Harold Hill is the new mentor. He comes from Jacksboro and has a 45-17-4 record over the past six years.

AND ROUND ROCK, of course, is getting set for a big election day, with considerable interest building in the naming of commissioners to write a Home Rule City Charter. There will also be hot races for the city offices and school trustees, so Round Rock voters are doing their best to sort out the facts and give a good account of themselves at the polls.

In Austin Wednesday, Mayor Jeff Friedman exposed himself to the possibility of personal danger by meeting an irate dog lover who had threatened to kill an employee at the Austin Humane Society. But all turned out well enough. The mayor didn't get shot and efforts are being made to find the fellow a nice dog to suit his needs.

IN THE TEXAS Legislature, medical malpractice insurance bill was passed 149-1 after many hours of hot debate, leaving no one quite satisfied. And, in Washington, the delight of conservatives, the labor-backed common situs bill (which would have allowed any union, no matter how small, to stop construction on any project, no matter how big) was given a stinging set-back. Pickle and Poage voted against it and Ray Marshall, Secretary of Labor, spoke for it.

John Connally says the news media of today has a certain smugness which seems to imply that "we are the judge, jury and prosecutor, not merely the recorder of human events." Well, old John ought to know about smugness, but perhaps he has a point, especially when he says he is critical about "the growing volume of news reporting on serious subjects by reporters and writers with superficial understanding of the subject." But what's the alternative, big John? Should newspapers refrain from reporting on these deep subjects and let the politicians inform the public with no comments from the press? Would that get the job done more satisfactorily?

RUSSIANS DON'T PLAY FAIR

For the 1980 Summer Olympics the finest athletes in the world will converge on Moscow. They might as well stay home.

If what's past is prologue, the Russians will manage to win by hook or crook.

The world's earliest athletes—in Sparta and ancient Rome—literally "ran for their lives."

IN ATHLETIC COMPETITION, back where the Olympics began, the winners won no big money—but they were otherwise motivated:

The losers were put to death.

Russia takes athletic competition almost that seriously today.

Look at the face of Olga Korbut when she competes; in her face you can see the importance Russia puts on winning!

Chicago Tribune sportswriter Rick Talley has been doing some investigative reporting on this subject. He confirms that they don't play fair. He says they are, in fact, "the most accomplished, blatant cheaters in the history of sport."

Examples: Boris Osenenko hot-wired his dueling sword in the Montreal games of 1976.

RUSSIA'S WATER POLO team, facing defeat, tried instead to withdraw.

There was Russia's flagrant roughness during the U.S.A.-U.S.S.R. basketball game in Munich in 1972.

And Russia's weightlifters came to the event bloated with steroids.

When the World Aerobatic Championships were held in Kiev in 1976, the Soviet hosts rigged the judging, changed the rules during the competition and managed to award top team and top individual prizes to Russians.

The Americans—who have bested the best of the Russians in every competition outside Russia—not wanting to create an international bruhaha, bit their lips and went home.

But later in an aerobatics magazine specific incidents of Soviet cheating were related. One Soviet judge, for example, scored several Soviet flights without once looking at the aircraft in flight!

AMERICAN TEAM MANAGER Bob Carmichael said, "It's difficult to describe how brazen those people are, how determined to claim victory however unfairly."

Talley figures that even NBC will rue the day it paid the Russians $85 million for broadcast rights to these next games, expecting that Russia will also demand and get dozens of Soviet edited "cultural hours" on that network showing the world the "unblemished beauty" of the Soviet Union.

And the first time an American announcer dares to question Soviet cheating, somebody will pull the plug.

Road to success

"Five fast ways to save," is the message over the signature of Robert W. Rhodes, vice-president of the Taylor office of the First-Federal Savings and Loan Association. It's a good message and could just as well apply to Georgetown folks who do business with our thrift institutions.

If you're having trouble putting a little something aside to save, try one of these plans:

• Crash program. If you can't stick to a permanent plan, settle for a series of short ones. Economize drastically for two or three months and save what you don't spend.

• Installment plan. When you've made the last payment on the car or some other installment purchase, continue making the payments but direct them to your Savings Account.

• Marked money. Declare a certain denomination of coin unspendable. If you pick dimes, then every dime that comes into your hands gets saved. The cash mounts up quickly.

• Self-service. do you generally pay someone to cut the grass? Paint the house? Wash the car? Do it yourself and save the fees.

• Self-denial. Sacrifice something you spend for regularly and put the money in savings instead. Possibilities include: weekly trips for bowling, movies or late-night pizzas.

While we hope that you are not one of those who cannot save regularly with us, perhaps one of these suggestions can get you started in the saving habit. Why not give one a try. . . you've certainly got nothing to lose and everything. . . including money . . . to gain!

We are living in a free-wheeling society, but even so, few successful families have failed, during their lifetime, to practice thrift, including a sound savings policy. This does not necessarily have to be totally in hard cash but from our cash savings we are able to make investments in homes, businesses, farms or even the stock market.

A dollar saved is a dollar — plus interest — earned.

Humanity over politics

Given the use in Middle East tensions brought about by the assassination in Lebanon of leftist leader Kamal Jumblatt, it is heartening to learn that Jewish groups and individuals of all persuasions have gone out of their way to express warm thanks to three Moslem diplomats for their role in saving 134 lives during the seizure of hostages in Washington.

The three ambassadors — Iranian, Pakistani and Egypt's Ashraf Ghorbal — met privately with members of the Hanafi sect at considerable peril to themselves. Most of the lives they helped save were Jewish. And the act was one of outright humanity, transcending personal or political considerations.

In publicly acknowledging the spontaneous and widespread response, Ambassador Ghorbal said he was particularly grateful that so many of the letters were from Jews. He acted, he said, "in full determination about needing to help a human being."

Through his action and that of his colleagues, and through the response it generated, a new link was formed between individuals who have long had reason to mistrust each other. That small link may be an omen for better days ahead in the Mideast. —The Boston Globe.

Firms drill their own gas wells

By John Moorhead

Akron, Ohio

Near the wooded hillside where Soap Box Derby cars roll every year, a bright blue rocker arm stands beside a parking lot.

It is a gas well drilled by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company to ensure supplies of the vital process fuel.

Shortages of natural gas added to the impact of the deep freeze this past winter, with curtailments forcing some industries to shut down temporarily. Now companies are drilling deep into the earth in search of their private gas jets.

"The payout from the well is so poor that we would prefer to buy from the utility [East Ohio Gas Company] if we could get ensured supply," says Frank Tully, director of manufacturing services for Goodyear and the man in charge of the gas-drilling project.

"But we think things will get worse, and we decided that 10 to 15 years down the road we had to protect ourselves." The company plans to drill two more wells this spring in Akron and is studying drilling sites at other plant locations in Ohio.

"Our need for gas is relatively limited, but critical, because there are processes for which we have found no substitute," Mr. Tully explains. "While we are trying to protect ourselves on supplies of natural gas, we are also trying to avoid the need to use it" by conducting research on alternative methods or substitute fuels.

Other companies with drilling plans include Goodyear's Akron neighbor, Firestone. "We have all the necessary approval and are getting ready to drill," says Firestone spokesman Robert Troyer.

General Motors has done extensive drilling near its Lordstown, Ohio, plant west of Youngstown. GM currently has 175 producing wells there. Through agreements with two Ohio utilities, East Ohio Gas and Columbia Gas, GM is able to use the utilities' pipelines to send gas to other company plants in Ohio, such as its central foundry in Defiance.

"Every plant that we were able to get gas to, continued to run throughout the curtailment," comments Dave Van Sickle of GM's energy-management division.

Republic Steel has several gas wells operating in southern Ohio and plans to drill more this year.

Goodyear's little blue rocker arm, pumping out the comparatively modest yield of 50,000 cubic feet a day supplied a radial-tire production line when East Ohio Gas turned off the spigot last winter. That kept 450 workers on the job despite the curtailment. There were gas-related work stoppages in some other of Goodyear's Ohio plants, however.

Goodyear plans to drill two more wells in Akron shortly and is studying other possible sites in Ohio. Says Mr. Tully: "By next winter, we hope to be able to maintain production in all of our Akron manufacturing facilities. Hopefully, too, we will have gas wells at other Ohio plants that will help to alleviate shortages from our regular suppliers."

Car mileage expenses may be deductible tax expense. . . . . .

Taxpayers who drive their automobiles for business, moving, charitable and medical purposes may be able to deduct such expenses on their tax returns, the Internal Revenue Service said.

Taxpayers who keep records of actual costs may claim operating expenses and fixed expenses, such as depreciation and insurace, for business use of their automobile. For deductible nonbusiness uses, only operating expenses may be claimed.

Instead of claiming actual expenses, taxpayers may use an optional mileage allowance method. Taxpayers can deduct 15¢ per mile for the first 15,000 miles and 10¢ per mile for each additional mile when their automobile for charitable, medical or moving expenses are allowed 7¢ per mile under tax guidelines. In all instances parking and toll fees may be claimed in addition to the mileage rate.

These deductions can be made only if the taxpayer was not reimbursed for the expenses by his or her employer. If the employer's reimbursement exceeds the employee's actual expenses, the amount of the excess must be shown as gross income, the IRS said.

For more details concerning business expenses, the free IRS Publication 463, "Travel, Entertainment and Gift Expenses," is available from local IRS offices.

STATE Capital NEWS

AUSTIN — House Speaker Bill Clayton, "laying rumors to rest," announced he will seek an unprecedented third term as House speaker in 1979.

Clayton, 48, denied any interest in running for U.S. senator or lieutenant governor next year or in getting the state agriculture commissioner's post vacated by veteran John C. White.

He told reporters he has 90 firm pledges of support in 1979, virtually ruling out any genuine contest unless some of his backers change their minds.

"If we allow a speaker's race to develop, it could throw us off schedule in handling the important legislation we face, and we could end up in a last-minute tangle as has happended in the past," said Clayton.

Others speculated that Clayton, anticipating difficult times ahead in the 1977 legislative session that will test powers of leadership, wanted to demonstrate that he is no lame duck boss of the House.

Rep. Buddy Temple of Diboll said he is still a candidate for 1979 speaker and sees nothing wrong or unusual with having a race on during a session.

Other potential candidates — Reps. Bill Sullivant of Gainesville, Tom Schieffer of Fort Worth, Tom Uher of Bay City and John Wilson of La Grange — indicated they have no intention of taking on Clayton for the speakership.

Charge Unwanted

Texas senators expressed their firm disapproval of a telephone directory assistance or information charge permitted by the Public Utility Commission.

They voted 19-9 to prohibit such charges in spite of warnings the bill may actually lead to higher monthly phone rates for most subscribers.

Southwestern Bell Vice President Doyle Rogers announced after the vote 96 per cent of residential telephone customers and 87 per cent of business customers pay no directory assistance charges. The first 10 such calls per month are free, and a 20 cent charge is levied for each additional call over that level.

Rogers called the bill "anti-consumer," and said if the bill becomes law, costs of the service will have to be spread systemwide to all customers rather than just those who lean heavily on information operators.

Senate Acts

Coal slurry pipeline legislation and a multi-billion tax break for farmers won Senate approval last week, but senators stalled the first effort to bring up a controversial measure which would raise consumer loan interest rates.

Slurry pipelines would be granted power to condemn rights of way under SB 185.

SJR 1 would authorize special tax valuation formulas for farm, ranch and timber lands.

The loan bill received an 18-12 vote on a motion to bring it up for consideration — two short of the necessary two-thirds majority for order-of-business rules suspension.

Meanwhile, another controversial measure before lawmakers — medical malpractice legislation — was slated for a House test this week.

Courts Speak

In a split decision, the Texas Supreme Court found a wheat farmer is a "merchant" in so far as being bound to an oral agreement to sell his crop for $3.56 a bushel.

The high court said a data processing company is not obliged to pay a sales tax if its primary product is service rather than computer punchcards.

The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed a San Antonio death penalty murder conviction because a defense psycholigist was not permitted to testify.

Another murder case was sent back to Dallas for new trial due to testimony about a previous gun offense by the woman defendant.

An El Paso County embezzlement conviction also was reversed because the state did not recall a key witness.

AG Opinions

A Texas medical school is not prohibited from imposing admission requirements for students who have attended foreign medical schools, Atty. Gen. John Hill determined.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

— Contributions for election expenses or nonreimbursable office expenses do not constitute "pecuniary benefits" if legally reported as contributions under the election code and are not within the scope of penal code sections.

— The family code prohibits a law enforcement agency from fingerprinting a child except under certain exceptions.

— A visiting court reporter from another county judicial district is not entitled to per diem in addition to expenses.

— The chairman of the Texas Youth Coucil is a member of the council entitled to vote on matters before the body, and the group cannot limit or restrict his voting privileges.

Short Snorts

Former State Rep. Ralph Wayne of Plainview will become new state deputy comptroller and chief clerk, succeeding Randall B. Wood of Austin who is entering private law practice.

Texas cities last year collected $11.7 million from occupants of hotel rooms, up 22 per cent from 1975.

A bill to allow terminally ill persons to direct that their lives not be sustained artificially by machines received Senate committee approval.

Dr. Kenneth D. Gaver, Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation commissioner, is the new chairman of the national accreditiation council of psychiatric hospitals.

Average calendar day allowable of Texas oil production as of March 15 was 3.6 million barrels.

AUSTIN NOTEBOOK

By Bill Kidd

Austin—Now that the 65th Legislature has passed the midpoint, in terms of days, in its regular session, it would be in order to assess what's been done, and what's left.

Actually, it's easier to note what hasn't been done, in terms of major issues facing lawmakers.

SCHOOL FINANCE, tax reform and that grab-bag of goodies known as the general appropriations bill remain to be faced—while malpractice insurance, which pitted doctors and trial lawyers in a Godzilla vs. The Smog Monster—type brouhaha, has been tackled but not yet brought down.

Which isn't to say lawmakers have been twiddling their thumbs.

Several major items, such as coal slurry pipelines, and innumerable smaller matters have been moved through, and the general tone of the session has been "business-like."

Speaker Bill Clayton says the House is movng a bit quicker than he had anticipated, with the Appropriations Committee expected to bring out its version of the biennial spending bill shortly.

And the Senate, exhibiting its usual aplomb, has been moving purposefully ahead as well.

Highway funding appears on the way to being unsnarled, following the Briscoe-Hobby summit conference, even if there are some slices off the loaf the governor wanted.

CLAYTON HOPES the pace of the session will continue as it has, with the process wrapping up by Memorial Day, a few days before the official end.

At the moment, school finance appears to be the biggest stumbling block, and the issue of teacher pay raises the area where lawmakers are likely to stump their toes the most.

Last session was billed as the "education session," but after much debate, numerous amendments and tough floor fights, a compromise measure was approved with members saying that they could come back in two years and improve things.

Now it's time to do so — and another round of debate and amendments — as indicated by 39 amendments in the House Public Education Committee — appears due when the bill reaches the House.

ON THE SENATE SIDE, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby likewise hopes for an early adjournment, perhaps as much as a week before the 140-day deadline.

Hobby feels school finance may be toughest issue and that finding some way to give West Texas much-sought tax relief, while preserving the ability of metropolitan districts to meet their needs will be the key to school finance.

While it will be tough, "it's not beyond human wit," Hobby feels.

Hobby expects the Senate to move its versions of school finance and the appropriations bill out shortly, with the appropriations bill likely to be in conference committee around the end of April.

The reason the session has had a faster start appears to be the number of veteran lawmakers returning on both sides of the rotunda, the veteran leadership in both House and Senate, the fact that many of the issues are re-runs, and the lack of an inauguration to distract lawmakers during the first two weeks.

Hobby also sees the prefiling of bills as a significant factor — although not as many folks in either the House or Senate took advantage of the prefiling provisions to get legislation in as might have.

SO THE LEGISLATURE at mid-point in time still has about three-quarters of its work ahead of it, just as has been true in other sessions.

But it looks like the major issues, such as appropriations, may be spaced out a bit more evenly, instead of all being crammed into the end-of-session crush.

No one expects that crush to be avoided, but it looks as if legislators will have a bit more time to discuss and consider those issues still facing them — if they want to.

Whether they do, and how well they do it, won't be known until the final half of this session is over.

"I am boycotting the businesses whose employees park on the square"

March 23, 1977

Letter to the Editor:

The Sun's article on the square's parking problem gave me hope that maybe, this time, something would really be done. Much to my dismay, however, I feel I must be one of the very few employers who read it.

When I look out my shop window each day and can count at least one dozen cars of employees just on the south side of the square, I feel both angry and hurt. Don't these people realize I make my living off the people who park at my curb? Since neither I nor my employees park in the two spaces in front of my building, don't I have some moral right to expect that those two spaces can be for my customers, and not some secretary up the street.

Even though other businesses do not care about my business, certainly they should be concerned about their own. Many shops and offices on the square have at least three employers and/or employees park in front of their business daily. Where do they expect their customers to park? Do they want an unhappy disgruntled customer who has driven around the block four times and then had to walk two blocks? Or maybe they just drove to a shopping center instead!

As a concerned Georgetown resident and business-owner, I have resolved to boycott all businesses that allow employees to park on the square, for these businesses are not only being inconsiderate, but they obviously do not value you or me as a customer. I am sure most businesses do not care about my patronage, but if you, the reader, will join with me in this resolve, we may turn the tide.

Our local police force tries diligently to control the parking, but is almost powerless since the parking meters were voted out of Georgetown. The present policy of marking tires will succeed only in a town of honest people, not people who "sneak" out of parking tickets by backing up or driving around the block. I would be embarrassed to have anyone see me breaking the law in broad daylight; for that is precisely what they are doing. The signs say two hour parking; not 'park all day if you can get away with it.' It is disgusting to watch these working people, most of whom are over thirty-five years of age, break laws, and then bemoan the state of our young people or our political system. They should be smart enough to see they are doing the same thing.

Legally I have no control at all over any other private business, but as I help pay the salaries of city, county, state, and federal employees, I feel I can speak about this group. The Williamson County Courthouse has no written policy on parking of employees. It is a well-known fact, however, that workers in this building spend many minutes each day moving their cars around the square. I, for one, do not appreciate the hours of salary time an employee spends moving his car each month. The courthouse is a busy public place, and each parking space around it is needed by all of us. Many people using the courthouse facilities are either elderly or disabled in some way; they have a hard time just getting up the steps.

Our city has provided us with very nice parking lots never more than two blocks from the square. It takes less than five minutes to walk those two blocks. That is much less time than moving a car three or four times a day, besides the fuel it wastes.

Those who are guilty will be the only people offended by this letter. I really don't care about them, because they obviously don't care about their neighbor, their job, their business, their town, or the law. Let's show them we care. Unite for a growing Georgetown.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Carol Trevathan

DEBBIE BALDWIN

Debbie Baldwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Baldwin, has been selected Guest of Honor for the month of March by the Georgetown Study Club.

Debbie is a senior at Georgetown High School. She was a member of F.H.A. her freshman and sophomore years, a member of the Pep Squad her freshman through junior years, a member of the Annual Staff since her junior year and selected to the National Honor Society her junior year.

DEBBIE IS CURRENTLY a member of the Paper Staff, serving on the Student Council as Senior Class Representative, secretary of the Junior Historians and President of the Local O.E.A. Chapter. She entered U.I.L. Typing her junior year and has ribbons and medals for her achievements. Baldwin is a very active member of the high school V.O.E. Program. She entered the O.E.A. Reconstitute means to restore concentrated food. Frozen orange juice is one good example—add water and you have the whole product. SU freshmen to visit Chicago

Southwestern University freshmen will have an opportunity to study their subject first hand when they leave by train for Chicago Tuesday, March 29.

The students, enrolled in the new "Humanities in Practice" course, have been focusing this semester on Chicago, 1885-1915.

Following considerable reading, lecture and discussion on historic figures, the culture and economy, and the architecture that grew from Chicago—the students will spend a week visiting those places they studied.

The trip is an optional feature of the course, and the students will be spending part of their spring vacation making the seven-day journey.

"We think it will be both educational and a lot of fun," says Dr. Martha Allen, chairman of the Humanities Division and one of six faculty members who will travel with the students.

Chicago was chosen as a focus of study when those designing the course decided that American history in the late 19th century was needed in the humanities curriculum.

"The more we looked at it, the more we realized that Chicago during this period was the center of what was going on," Dr. Allen said.

Among the places the Southwestern group will visit will be Hull House, the settlement house established in 1889 by Jane Addams to meet the social, recreational and cultural needs of the poor in a section of Chicago.

They will visit the site of the Columbian Exposition, a world's fair of 1893; Pullman Town, site of the Pullman strike of 1894; Robie House, designed by Frank Lloyd Wright, and the auditorium designed by Lewis Sullivan, two architects studied by the group.

And they will spend time on the Northwestern University and the University of Chicago campuses, in several museums, in Old Town, and at the Board of Trade.

They will also be spending a number of hours on the train. "This will be a new experience for most of the students and should be fun," said Dr. Allen.

University Chaplain Farley Snell and Dr. Ellsworth Peterson, chairholder and chairman of the Music Dept., will serve as tour guides.

Other faculty members planning to make the trip are Dr. Karen Fisher, Claude Kennard, and Mrs. Elizabeth Lundblad.

Students planning to go are Bryan Russ, Mark McPhial, Mark Wood, Jackie Hooper, Grace Bernhardt, M'Lynda Wilsher, Ann Worthing, Laura Williams, Beth Whitfield, Richell Keene, Sarah Tunnell, and Laura Moffitt.

Top rally drivers to compete over area roads Saturday

Top sports car rallyists from the entire southern half of the United States are going to converge on western Williamson County as well as areas of Bell and Burnet counties today (Saturday, March 26) for the 1977 running of the Sports Car Club of America's Rustler's Run National Rally.

Rally headquarters will be located at the Stagecoach Inn in Salado, with the rally course itself running southwest into the scenic Texas Hill Country.

THIS YEAR'S Rustler's Run will cover approximately 215 miles of paved road in the western part of the county. The course has been carefully calculated by SCCA officials, to determine the time it should take a car to travel the exact course at precise legal speeds specified in the instructions.

In SCCA championship rallying, competitors are divided into classes according to the type and amount of navigational equipment used; Class A having no equipment limitations, Class B strictly limited equipment, and Class C (often referred to as SOP—Seat of the Pants), in which no equipment is allowed. Even the car's odometer is taped over. Many competitors in Rustler's Run are actually pro rallyists competing in cars especially prepared for this particular rally. These competitors will participate as amateurs.

The rally will get underway as the first car leaves the Stagecoach Inn at 7:31 a.m. Saturday.

The public is invited to attend.

Athletes, weight control

Too-rapid weight loss by athletes diminishes strength and endurance, Mrs. Mary Sweeten, a foods and nutrition specialist, says.

She specifically cautioned against "too-rapid weight loss by starvation, dehydration, super vitamins and fad diets.

"Instead, the best way to reduce body weight — and achieve a maximum ratio of muscle strength to body weight — is by eating a lower-calorie balanced diet and increasing exercise moderately," the specialist recommended.

"THAT REDUCES excess body fat and increases muscle strength," she added.

Mrs. Sweeten is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

On the other hand, athletes wanting to gain weight should increase weight as muscle mass and not fat, the specialist pointed out.

"THE ONLY WAY to increase muscle mass is by exercising more and eating appropriately, because no food vitamin, drug or hormone alone will achieve this increase in muscle mass. Also, a higher caloric diet to increase muscle mass should be in animal fats and cholesterol."

However, whether the athlete wants to lose or gain weight, the daily diet should include at least two 2-3-ounce servings of Meat Group Foods, two to three servings of Milk Group Foods, and four or more servings daily from Fruit and Vegetable—and Bread and Cereal Groups.

Pirates blast Wartburg, face St. Mary's Saturday

Southwestern's Pirates removed a wart Thursday, but will be facing a much more serious operation — like snake bite — when they face St. Mary's Rattlers in Georgetown Saturday (today).

THE BUCS bombed Wartburg College of Iowa 5-0 and 16-7 Thursday as Bobby Fuller, Joe Farr and Steve Wendtland all hit home runs in the same inning of the second game. It was Farr's second grand-slam homer in five days.

Wendtland had just finished winning his fourth game against no losses as Pirate pitcher in the first game, striking out seven, walking four while allowing five hits.

The shut-out made him feel so good that he went three-for-three at the plate including the three-run-homer as a designated hitter in the second contest.

Wartburg had actually gone into a 5-2 lead in the third inning before the Bucs broke loose with the home run brigade and 14 runs in the fourth inning, a school record for one-inning scoring for the state's oldest university.

Rick Gravens, along with Bill Harlow, Bruce Partain and Kelvin Blank pitched for Southwestern in the second game with Gravens getting the win, his fourth with no losses.

THE BIG GAMES will be Saturday, however, when the Pirates take on defending champion St. Mary's in a double-header at Georgetown's San Gabriel Park beginning at 1 p. m. Admission is free.

Southwestern finished half a game behind the Rattlers in the Big State Conference last year as each team won a game over the other in league play. The Bucs also dropped a game to Texas Lutheran last year which put them second in the standings.

This year conference schools will be playing each other three times instead of twice, and the double-header in Georgetown this afternoon is expected to put the winner in the conference driver's seat.

St. Mary's edged another strong contender, TLC, 10-9 in the conference opener for those teams last Saturday while Southwestern rolled over Huston-Tillotson in two games in Austin.

THIS WEEK St. Edward's upset East Texas Baptist taking two of three games in the conference openers for those schools. ETBC had come into Austin with a sparkling 13-1 record before running into the Hilltoppers.

Statistiscally Southwestern gained four points in team batting, from .308 to .312, while Bruce Fell improved his individual stats by jumping up to .371 from .338. Steve Klopp pirated two more stolen bases for a total of nine for the season. He led the team in that department last year with 12.

The Pirates now own a 21-11 season record.

Tennis match re-set

The men's tennis match between Southwestern University and St. Mary's University scheduled for last Thursday was postponed because of rain.

The conference match has been re-scheduled for 2 p.m. April 12 in Georgetown.

Buc golfers dominate own tourney

Pirate golfers from Southwestern University took most of the booty from their own tournament Thursday as their "black" team won first and their "gold" team third in the eight-team meet.

Coach Bill Merritt has been having some difficulty in deciding which four among his eight golfers are best, so he arbitrarily divided them into two teams for the tournament at Georgetown Country Club.

THE "BLACK" TEAM featured consistency as Les Russell, Smith Tonahill, and Steve Doering all fired 72's and Clay Cornett 73 for the winning 289 total.

Jerry Birkelbach of the "gold" fired a 69, however, to place second in individual play behind Southwest Texas State's Bill Wooley with a 68. SWT's Wade Smith was third in individual play with a 71 followed by most of the other Southwestern players in the top 10.

The other "gold" team members and their scores were Steve Wilkins, 72; Ricky Preston, 76; and Garry Hammac, 81.

Team scores following Southwestern's "Black" were SWT 294, SU "gold" 298, Texas Lutheran 301, Midland Lutheran of Nebraska 314, St. Mary's 321, St. Edward's 329, and Huston-Tillotson (three players).

THE PIRATE GOLFERS will next play April 1 in an Austin tournament with the University of Texas, TLC, Huston-Tillotson, and St. Edward's. The meet will be on the Morris Williams course, one of two courses where the conference tournament will be held April 14-15.

"All eight of our team did better than I expected," Coach Merritt said. "If we would feel that we could play on other courses like we play on ours, we would be in good shape.

"That's our goal right now — we've got to improve our mental approach, or confidence," Merritt said.

Babe Ruth plans 13 year-old league

Babe Ruth League organizers are beginning a league for 13 year-olds only, league president James Knight said, and are accepting signees through April 1.

The league is open to all boys who will be 13 as of July 31.

Cost for registering for the league is $10, and applicants must have a birth certificate as proof of age.

Three teams are planned so far, with Jim Barksdale, Bodie McCormick and Archie Schneider as coaches, although Knight said a fourth team will be added if necessary.

Play begins April 25.

For more information, contact Knight at 863-6161 or Weldon Petty at 863-2637.

SU's women netters continue winning ways

The women's tennis team at Southwestern University continued its winning streak by beating St. Edward's University and Concordia this week.

THE PIRATE WOMEN now have nine wins against only one defeat, and they have a chance to avenge that loss when they host Baylor in the final match of the season in Georgetown Tuesday at 2 p.m.

Southwestern downed St. Edward's 5-1 in Georgetown Wednesday, winning all the singles matches and splitting in doubles play.

Laura Moffitt beat Michelle Hannah 6-3, 6-4; Carole Gordon topped Teresa Salamone 7-6, 6-2, Julie Crain blasted Ann Harris 6-1, 6-1; and Gayle Murphy beat Carolyn Czichos 6-0, 7-6.

In doubles Moffitt and Crain beat Hannah and Salamone 6-2, 6-2; and SU's Liz Hedley and Beth Hollingsworth dropped a match to Harris and Czichos 4-6, 6-2, 3-6.

AGAINST CONCORDIA in Austin Tuesday Moffitt beat Cindy Akridge 6-1, 6-1; Gordon topped Mary Ware 6-0, 6-0; Crain beat Annette Belcher 6-1, 6-0; and Murphy defeated Cindy Pace 6-0, 6-0.

In doubles the Pirates beat Concordia as Moffitt and Crain topped Akridge and Ware 6-2, 6-0 and Gordon and Murphy beat Belcher and Pace 6-0, 6-1.

Baylor defeated Southwestern 6-1 in Waco early in the season in some close matches. Coach Glada Munt feels her team has a chance of reversing the score although the Bucs may be without the help of Moffitt, their top-seeded player, who has to catch a train to Chicago that afternoon for a humanities course field trip. Moffitt, a San Marcos freshman, was the only winner against Baylor in the first match.

The Baylor match, scheduled on the Georgetown Country Club courts, will be the final one for Southwestern this year. The team has cancelled plans to participate in the zone tournament of the Texas Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women because of conflicts of schedules by the players.

G'town Sportsmen land bass bonanza in March tourney

The Georgetown Sportsman's Club held its March tournament on Lake Belton last Sunday.

THE DAY started out cloudy and cold, but the fish didn't seem to mind at all. They took almost any kind of bait that was thrown at them, and they were taken at various depths.

Most of the larger fish, however, were caught on plastic worms in 10 to 20 feet of water. The colors that paid off best were black, purple and strawberry.

There were eleven teams that fished the tournament and they weighed in an average of 10 lbs. 1 oz., although most of them reported catching many smaller fish which would not meet the 12 inch club minimum and were released.

The winning teams were:

First place — Erasmo Acevedo and Jackie Kirk — 24 lbs.

Second place — Roger Baker and Allen Petty — 12 lbs. 10 oz.

Third place — Jim Brown and Fred Henry — 11 lbs. 3 oz.

Big bass which weighed 5 lb. 9 oz. was caught by Jackie Kirk.

THE TOP TEN standings for the year so far are as follows:

1.	Jim Brown	400
2.	Ken Stanford	355
3.	Jackie Kirk	289
4.	Paul Bohanan	241
5.	Roger Baker	233
6.	Gary Kurio	227
7.	Erasmo Acevedo	172
8.	R. L. Smedley	139
9.	Butch Floyd	125
10.	Allen Petty	118

The next meeting of the Georgetown Sportsman's Club will be Thursday, April 7th at 8 p.m. in the Stonehaven Community Center. Visitors are welcome. For further information, call Fred Henry at 863-6074.

Beef is aged to develop additional tenderness and characteristic flavor. Aging requires special conditions. Aged beef means that the beef is held at temperatures 34-38 degrees F. for three to six weeks or held for two days at about 70 degrees F. Ultraviolet light is used to reduce bacterial growth in the second method, explains Mrs. Mary Sweeten, foods and nutrition specialist.

DISCOVER 4-H

By CAROLYN BONNER & EDWARD WILKIE

Youth across the county are getting started working on 4-H demonstrations. A demonstration is an 8 to 12 minute presentation by a team or individual, and can be given on any topic related to a 4-H project.

If any 4-Her is thinking about giving a demonstration and needs help in getting things together. Call us at 863-2318 and we will be happy to help you.

There will be a food preservation workshop for 4-Hers and interested youth on Tuesday night, April 12. The meeting will be held at 7 p.m. at the Texas Power and Light Meeting Room in Taylor.

WE WILL DEMONSTRATE canning and freezing methods, for safety and good quality products. This is planned especially for youth, but adults are welcome. Mark your calendar for April 12 at 7 p.m. and come learn proper food preservation.

THE TEXAS 4-H Leaders Forum is just around the corner. The forum is for all interested 4-H leaders and is an excellent opportunity for leaders to learn together and have a lot of fun.

The forum will be held April 15-16-17 at the Texas 4-H Center on Lake Brownwood. The forum begins at noon on Friday and is over at noon Sunday. Speakers, panels, seminars and films are planned. This adds up to a great experience for the 4-H leaders.

Any 4-H leader interested in attending all or a part of the forum should contact us at the 3rd floor of the Courthouse, Georgetown, Texas, for more information.

On June 20-24 there will be a statewide 4-H Roping School held in Stephenville, Texas. The school will be held at the Burrus Indoor Arena on the west side of town. This event is being developed in order to encourage young men and women in 4-H to develop leadership and to exercise their abilities in working with younger members in roping activities in 4-H. Participation is open to all districts of the state, with membership being offered on a first-come, first-serve basis to those boys and girls who are 14 years of age and older. Special emphasis will be placed on teaching methods and providing material which will make this possible.

The cost of the school will be $60.00 for the week. This will include group insurance, meals, lodging, stall rent for the horses and will cover the cost of practice calves used in the teaching process itself. The meals will be taken in the Tarleton State University Dining Room. The students will be housed in the Tarleton State University Dormitories.

It is planned that this school will begin at 1 p.m. Monday, June 20 and will be completed about 4 p.m. Friday afternoon, June 24. It will be necessary to have the horses removed from the Burrus Arena area by Saturday morning as there will be a Jackpot Roping held over the weekend.

Any Williamson County 4-H Club member who is interested in attending this school should contact the County Extension Office for an application form and a copy of the rules for participants. The deadline for submitting your application to the County Extension Office is Friday, April 15.

First Baptist youth will be leading revival

The First Baptist Church of Georgetown is planning a revival March 28 through April 3, using their own church youth.

Those proclaiming the gospel for the revival are Paul Sutton, Jeff Hoppe, Tim Cummins, Mark Whitten, Larry Simpson, Jay Wolf and George Simms.

Paul Sutton has been Youth Director at First Baptist for the past four years. He is now in his third year at Southwestern Seminary.

JEFF HOPPE is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Hoppe, owners of Hoppe Construction Company. Last summer he was summer Youth Director at First Baptist Church in Tyler. Jeff is a senior at Baylor and on graduation he plans to enter the Proclaiming Ministry.

Tim Cummins was an honor graduate of Georgetown High School. He is currently a freshman oral communications major at Baylor. The Proclaiming Ministry is also his goal after graduation.

Mark Whitten is a senior at Baylor and is currently Pastor of the Weir Baptist Church. A Georgetown native, Mark was a GHS honor graduate, too, and a member of the Crestview Baptist Church.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Simpson, owners of Century 21 Real Estate, Larry Simpson is working for Youth for Christ in Katy, Texas.

JAY WOLF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Wolf, is another GHS honor graduate. He is currently a senior at Baylor and president of the student body there. After graduation he plans to minister for God through Proclamation.

The final young man to be spreading the gospel for the First Baptist revival is George Simms, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Simms. George is finishing his third year at Southwestern Seminary. He plans to prepare for a ministry of Proclamation as a teacher and preacher.

Aside from the leadership of these young men, the revival will also involve song. Mrs. Thomas (Dodie) Griffith will sing during Sunday and Monday services. Don Cook of Austin will sing Tuesday. Two groups from Baylor University will also lend their voices to the week's services on Wednesday. On Saturday, the Wilson Family, Austin recording artists will add their vocal tribute.

Other special events on the schedule for the week are testimonies of Baylor athletes on Tuesday and Thursday. A special emphasis on the Fellowship of Christian Athletes will also be part of the Thursday program. A Fellowship "rap session" for young people will follow the evening service on that night.

ACCORDING TO PASTOR Al Cummins, "Seldom does a town or church our size have this many tremendously talented young people going into the ministry — young men who combine certain qualities of high scholarship, deep sense of Christian commitment and ability to develop wide range personal relationships.

"It would be interesting to keep the revival poster and take it out 20 years from now," he added, "to see where these young men are. I think we will be terribly proud of a town that produced this kind of young men and a community that attracted families such as these."

Burson will go to conference

Mike Burson has qualified to attend a career conference of New York Life Insurance Company agents April 18-20 in Dallas, Texas, according to General Manager Donald R. Edwards, CLU, of the company's Austin General Office.

He will join other agents and company executives for educational work in life underwriting, health and employee protection insurance.

Papers were signed Saturday making Miss Coleen Beck the owner of the W. C. Love building on the corner of Main and Brewster streets.

For sentimental reasons, to sell this building was a hard decision to make. My father, W. C. Love bought the corner lot with a wooden building in 1895 when he was a young single man and put in a hardware and grocery store. The rock building was built in 1910.

From the time I was a small child, I played in the back yard, which was fenced, and went to the store to stay until my father and uncle went home. There were always two showcases of candy and one of chewing gum and numbers of boxes of apples and oranges. Though my father was very generous we never were allowed to just help ourselves to the candy. He told us to get a certain number of pieces. That made it hard to choose when it all looked so good. I was never tempted to take oranges or apples as I never cared for raw fruit.

Now our hope is that the building will be made into something of which our father would be proud. He loved that site and building.

Norvell and Pope are wed

Miss Sherleen June Norvell became the bride of C. Wayne Pope, Thursday March 17 at Central Assembly of God Church in Irving, Texas.

After a brief honeymoon trip, the couple will reside in Irving, Texas.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Norvell of Jonestown is a graduate of the Leander High School and is presently employed with Decibel Products Co. in Dallas, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Pope of Irving are parents of the bridegroom who attended Irving schools and is presently employed with Jay's Moving Service of Irving.

When a person enters the shared life of marriage, the right to have privacy should not be surrendered, advises Dorthy Taylor, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Georgetown school board candidates

1. What are your three major concerns about the Georgetown schools?
2. What emphasis do you place on vocational versus academic programs in the local schools?
3. Are you satisfied with the current relationships between teachers and administrators? What is the responsibility of the administration to teachers and their professional organizations?
4. Do you favor enforcement of Title IX regulations (equal treatment for male and female students)? Are you aware that the school board has just passed a policy (the student dress code) which does not comply with Title IX and thus jeapordizes all federal funding? What would you do to see that the school district complies with these federal regulations?
5. What is the role of the physical education program in the schools?
6. How do you feel about the new Georgetown Community Education Program? Do you think the program should be expanded and continued year-round?
7. What should the relationship between the school board and the school administration be?
8. Do you feel the present curriculum in the high school is adequate?
9. What are your concerns and priorities for children in the primary school?
10. How do you plan to deal with the rapid growth of the school system and the critical need for space at the primary level?
11. As an elected official, what would your budget priorities be?
12. Do you feel a responsibility to obtain input from the public concerning the decisions and priorities of the board? How would you obtain this input?
13. What kind of preparation (reading and continuing study) will you undertake if you are elected to the school board?

DONNA BARKSDALE

1. My three major concerns for the Georgetown schools are:
a. that we prepare our children for a future that will benefit all of us;
b. in order to prepare our children we must have the best possible faculty and adequate facilities; and c. the only way we can achieve these goals for our children is to get the most out of every tax dollar we spend.

2. Vocational and academic programs should not be in competition with each other. Georgetown has a very good vocational program, and I would like to build our academic program to compliment the vocational. Both programs are necessary for comprehensive educational growth.

3. Teachers and administrators must work in close harmony for the benefit of all students. The administration should respect the skills and accomplishments of the teachers, and use their expertise in forming goals and policy for the school system. In return, the teachers must have a respect for the administrators in implementing these policies. The administration should encourage teacher participation in professional organizations as long as they are dedicated to professional growth and not personal benefits.

4. Every student should be given the opportunity to participate in any activity that he or she might desire. Georgetown has made great progress in girls' athletics, and also in boy-girl participation in vocational programs. I think this can be useful for a well-rounded education. I am aware of the recent school board action and the emotional state it has caused. This is now seen as a yes or no issue. What about an intermediate ground that all can be comfortable with? Personally, I can go along with students having discretion in their dress desires, but only to the extent that others are not distracted and discipline is not jeopardized.

5. Physical education is a vital part of each student's preparation for the future. Exercise has been proven necessary in keeping our bodies healthy. Beginning in the early grades, I would like to see a program of life-time sports. When we are physically fit, our concentration ability is such that classroom attention is greatly improved. Physical education can be fun as well as a valuable learning tool, if properly administered.

6. The new Community Education program has been very well received, and I would like to see it continued. Adult education is one of the best ways we can involve all Georgetown citizens in the use of school facilities and money. I would like to see the program expanded into other schools and continued on a twelve month basis.

7. The school board and the administration must have a working relationship that will accomplish the most productive learning situation for the students. As I understand, the role of the board is to set goals and policy for the school system. The administration is then responsible for carrying out these goals. There must be a positive attitude on the part of both groups for this procedure to succeed.

8. The present curriculum in the high school is probably adequate, but I can certainly see areas that could be strengthened to fit the needs of a changing society. Our foreign language and behavorial sciences are inadequate. The students entering adulthood in the future will have many different occupations to consider. I would like to feel that our school system has done its best to prepare these students for whatever profession or vocation they choose.

9. I would really like to see the children at the primary level have a positive learning experience from the very beginning. We must challenge our students with the basic knowledge of reading, writing, and number sense. This can best be accomplished when they are surrounded by caring people who want to equip them with the necessary skills and tools to fulfill their potential.

10. A master plan that will deal with the rapid growth we are experiencing is absolutely necessary. This plan must be available for review by all the community and it must be closely adhered to. It is regrettable that we are not better prepared for what is upon us right now. Our future depends on the learning situation of our children and this must be our first priority. In years past it was recognized that a need existed to provide a good education for each of us. Today, we have this same obligation to our children.

11. As an elected official, it will be my duty to closely monitor and manage the funds of the school district. Space in the lower grades is an absolute necessity. If we are to strengthen our curriculum, we will certainly need learning materials which will help challenge the students. In this time of rapid change and tight money supplies, I cannot stress enough the need to spend our money wisely.

12. The school board is responsible to the community. Therefore, it would seem only right that we obtain input from the public. I would like to see the board form work areas and the members be responsible for determining if we are getting the most from the money we are spending. Our goals and priorities must be meeting the needs of the students. I would like to have some board meetings over the radio. Public attendance at board meetings should always be encouraged, and an agenda should always be readily available to the public before each meeting.

13. I have attended school board meetings on a regular basis for a number of months. In order for me to be continually prepared, I realize that it will be absolutely necessary to study the policy book, the minutes of the previous meeting, and the agenda for the upcoming meeting. The money dispensed each month must be closely watched. Time must be spent obtaining input from our administrators and teachers concerning their needs. This will take many hours if I am to be a contributing member of the board, and I am willing to give this time to my community.

For The Good of Our Children
Donna Barksdale
For Re-Elected Place for School Board

JAMES DRAEGER

1. a. Quality education for all students
b. Long term planning for the physical facilities
c. Development of future academic programs

2. I don't think that academic and vocational programs should be pitted against each other. Both programs are important. Each individual student should make his or her choice according to his or her abilities and desires. The school district should offer quality courses in each of these programs.

3. In general, I believe the relationships are good. However, there are certain areas in which I would like to see improvement. I believe it is the responsibility of adminstrators to encourage teachers to participate in organizations that will promote enrichment in their field and organizations that will provide a channel of communication between the teachers and parents.

4. I am in favor of enforcement of Title IX regulations and believe we are in compliance with these regulations. As an incumbent board member, I am aware that the board recently approved the school manual which included the dress code that has been in effect for several years. Federal courts have upheld dress codes as being legal. To my knowledge, no school district has lost federal funds because of a dress code. Therefore, I do not feel our federal funds are in jeopardy.

5. No educational system is complete unless its curriculum includes a strong physical education program. Along with their minds, children's bodies need an education too. During children's growing years, they need help in developing better coordination and building stronger, healthier bodies. I feel we definitely need improvement of the physical education program in the lower grades where at the present time, it is lacking or non-existent. The elementary curriculum should include regularly scheduled exercises and free and organized play. In addition to the present improvements being made in the upper grades, I would like to see a gymnastic program and the expansion of life time sports.

If this question refers to physical education as being extra curricular football, basketball, etc., I feel these programs should supplement the physical education program and should not be given any higher priority than any other subject.

6. I have endorsed the Community Education program and encourage participation. This is an excellent opportunity to further mental skills and develop new hobbies in different areas of interest to all age groups.

If interest continues to grow and we have more participants, I feel the program should be expanded and continued to a twelve month basis, providing we receive state funding for the program or the program becomes self-supporting.

7. The school board should function as a policy making body. The administration's responsibility is to handle the day to day affairs and enforce the board's policies. Mutual respect should lead to open lines of communication resulting in sound policies and the best education possible for our students.

8. We must never take the position that everything is adequate, but strive to continually improve our curriculum. However, we must realize that a school district our size will never be able to offer every course that will be requested. In the past, we have offered courses and have had only a few students enroll. This is not financially feasible within our limited budget. With the recent addition of a full time curriculum director, I believe we will see improvement in the development of our academic program, allowing it to meet the continually expanding and changing needs of our students.

9. With the projected enrollment increase and all day kindergarten coming, we must assign the enlargement of our physical facilities as our number one priority for the primary school. This will entail additional classrooms, a new cafeteria and repairs to the present building.

In addition, I would like to see:
a. physical education program instituted,
b. an expanded program for gifted children
c. continuing improvements in our special education program
d. a greater emphasis on the development of children's creative abilities through art and language.

10. The school board has been studying our future needs for the last several months. The junior high must be expanded and restroom and locker areas increased. Westside school must be expanded with additional classrooms and cafeteria. Primary school needs classroom, cafeteria and general repairs. This growth must be planned in such a manner that we will be able to meet our students' needs and at the same time, do not put an additional unreasonable tax burden on the taxpayers. Personally, I endorse the proposed pending state legislation that would eliminate or drastically reduce property taxes.

11. I have no particular spending priorities except as stated in the previous answer. We will need to expand our facilities to meet our growth. We must provide our teachers with adequate supplies and teaching materials.

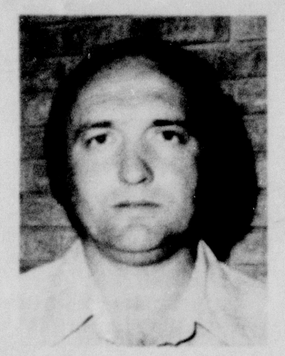
I feel we must continue updating our bus fleet in order to meet the increased number of routes and by having good equipment, we are reducing the cost of repairs and down time.

I do believe that we must spend the tax dollar wisely and not spend money for the sake of spending on items that do not carry a high priority. Spending must be maintained at a level consistent with revenues.

12. A board member has a definite responsibility to obtain information from the public. They elected him to represent them and he must listen to determine their desires. The public must serve as a board member's eyes and ears and express their opinions to him. He must be understanding of personal situations and simultaneously keep the overall picture in perspective. The board member must be easily available to the public to obtain input by personal contact, phone calls or letters to keep informed of the public's wishes. In the past, I have actively solicited the opinions of concerned members of the community and will continue to do so. As a board member, I feel complimented that many have felt free to express their desires to me.

13. My preparation for the school board will continue to consist of reading articles published in such magazines as the TEXAS ASSOCIATION OF SCHOOL BOARDS and other periodicals that are available. These publications enable me to stay abreast of current educational philosophies. As in the past, I will study each item on the agenda prior to each board meeting and secure the necessary data along the public opinions to study the issues, enabling me to render a better informed decision.

BOBBY POPE



1. Three major concerns about the Georgetown schools:
a. Taxes — We should search for other means of funding to go along with our present taxes to keep taxes from going any higher than they are at the present time.
b. School facilities — We need more classroom space in our lower grades and we need to provide upkeep of our present school facilities. We also could use additional athletic facilities as funds permit.
c. I think it is important to continue our present school programs and keep the door open for improvement for the benefit of all students.

2. I believe it is important that we have a strong vocational and academic program for all of our students. I do not think we should sacrifice one for the other.

3. Yes, it appears to me we have a good working relationship between administration and teachers. The administration should encourage teachers to take part in their professional organizations.

4. I believe it is necessary for schools to have a dress code as long as it is carried out equally among the students, whether male or female. I intend to carry out whatever regulations are lawful. I understand that Title IX is administered by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare which makes it subject to the courts. At a school board meeting where this was brought up and voted on, I understood that Georgetown Independent School District was in compliance.

5. The role of physical education is a necessary part of the school's overall program. It not only provides recreational activity, but helps build character in the student. All students should be given the opportunity to participate in all sports.

6. I think it is good that we have such a program as Community Education. If the funds were available for this type of program to be offered on a 12-month basis, I think this would be fine; but, I do not think we should sacrifice the education of our students for such a program if funds are not available.

7. The school board is the policy making body and should see that its policies are being carried out by the administration. The working relationship between the school board and the administration should be good. The school board should be an extension of Georgetown Independent School District people's vote.

8. Yes, I think the present curriculum is adequate, but we must always keep the door open for improvement.

9. We should try to provide for the best teachers available to us for primary level. Classrooms should be kept small. In small classes the student can receive better and more personal instruction.

10. It seems to me that a bond election would be the only way to provide for additional classroom space.

11. Instruction and related expenses would be my first priority and next would be for debt against the school district.

12. The school board should listen to citizens of the school district. The public should and always is welcome to attend all school board meetings.

13. If elected I will do whatever reading or study necessary to become an informed board member.

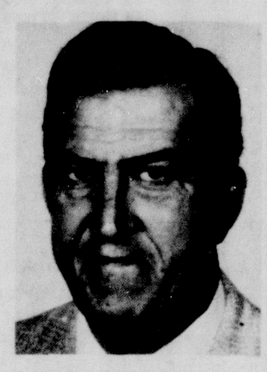
JOHN R. "BOBBY" THOMAS



1. a. Additional funding other than from local tax increases. Most school districts need additional state funding.
b. Lack of facilities — chief concern in this area is classroom and auxiliary space in the Primary and Westside schools, and upkeep of the present buildings.
c. Continuation of the many fine programs now in progress and expansion of the curriculum to meet the needs of all students.

2. The academic and vocational programs should not be in competition. I feel that both can and should be strong to meet the needs of each particular student.

3a. Yes, the relationship between administration and teachers is very good in most cases. In the Georgetown Independent School District this is shown by the fact that the faculty during the 1976-76 school year voted down the need for a consultation agreement to be drawn up. The comments from the faculty were that they had good administration and that if at any time this should change, then the faculty could approach the board about a consultation agreement.

3b. The administration should encourage the professional staff to participate in such organizations as is necessary for professional growth.

4. There should be no discrimination as far as race, color, sex or creed are concerned. The courts have upheld the right of the schools to have a reasonable dress code as long as it is written, approved and enforced indiscriminately. Title IX is administered by HEW and as such is subject to the court decisions.

5. The role of physical education is to provide for all students an opportunity to enjoy and appreciate athletic and recreational activities which include individual and carry-over sports. Physical education is a necessary and important part of the total school program, and the physical activities as part of the curriculum can be as important and fulfilling as any other part of the school program.

6. Community Education is very important to the GISD and should be expanded into other areas as funds permit. However, the primary function of the public schools is education of students K through 12 and they should not be short-changed in favor of Community Education.

7. The school board is the policy-making body. They are responsible to all the people of the community. The implementation of policy is the responsibility of the administration. The school board should evaluate all administrative personnel to see that board policies are being carried out. The relationship between the board and administrative staff can and should be good.

8. Additions can certainly be made to the present curriculum at the high school. However, it has been the policy of the board in the past to teach any subject of importance where sufficient student interest has been shown. The board has spent extra money to see that physics, calculus, and courses such as these are taught even with a low enrollment.

9. The Primary School must have small classes. The board has kept the classroom size around 25. Very strong emphasis should be placed on a basic program of reading, writing, language arts and mathematics.

10. The board has been working on plans to alleviate the crowded condition by a proposed bond issue to include additional classrooms for Primary School, Westside School and Northside Middle School. The proposal includes construction of a new cafeteria in each of the schools and renovation of the old cafeterias for additional classroom use.

11. The main budget priority is for instruction, which is approximately 75 percent of the budget. The next largest expenditure or priority is for debt service, which comprises about 10 percent of the total budget.

12. The board has in the past and does at the present encourage citizen input by attending school functions and open invitation to attend all school board meetings.

13. Any citizen or board member can keep abreast of current educational problems by attending conferences, reading periodicals such as Texas Association of School Board monthly bulletin, National School Board monthly bulletin and other current educational periodicals.

show nevertheless had built a good roster of stations around the country. The 80 markets where it has been seen represents some 90 per cent of the U.S. market.

It was showing a good profit, according to Sheldon Boden and Len Koch, both executive vice presidents of Syndicast. The show, in fact, netted several hundred thousand dollars. Sammy himself was earning a good buck.

To do the show, he had to give up a number of weeks of lucrative nightclub engagements, but he was more than equally compensated.

Among the 80 or more stations airing the Sammy Davis weekly variety show were three of the five owned by NBC -- New York, Chicago, and Los Angeles, the three largest markets in the country. Combined, they represent 17 per cent of the total U.S. viewing market.

A few weeks ago, NBC's president, Robert Howard, disclosed that the network was going to offer its affiliates a late Sunday night major movie package, starting in the spring.

That obviously meant that NBC's stations in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles, listening to Big Daddy at the network, would have to pick up the movie package and cancel Sammy's show.

"It kills Sammy," Boden declared. "You can't lose those three major markets and stay alive. It takes away 17 per cent of the market, and a lot of money."

What it means is that the networks can still manipulate the competition and influence the growth of any syndicated show. Syndicators strive to make a package deal with any of the three networks to sign on for their owned-and-operated stations. By law, networks can own just five TV stations and if they subscribe to a prime-time access syndicated show for its channels, it virtually guarantees a full season run. A network guarantee is that lucrative.

But should a syndicator be moving other shows that intrude on the networks, or, if networks should intrude on non prime-time hours, as NBC has done to Sunday nights, clipping Sammy Davis' show, it leaves little doubt of the network power to control the situation. Sammy Davis did not represent competition to NBC, other than he happened to be in a spot the network figured could be more profitable with its own programming.

So, Sammy is to be replaced by movies in three markets, and his show goes down the drain.

Syndicast is not destitute, however. It has several other shows on the market, including a half-hour contemporary comedy show called "Bananas," which Don Kirshner, the music maven, is producing and a 60-minute variety-talk show hosted by Jim Nabors.

TV Dial-ogue

MONKEE MIKE -- I know that a couple of the Monkees are back together and touring regularly, but whatever happened to my favorite -- Mike Nesmith? Also, what was the nickname he used to go by when they first formed? Josie Callahan, High Point, N.C.

Mike Nesmith, easily the most talented of the original Monkees, has a new album out called simply "Michael Nesmith." Island Records is releasing it for distribution and took out a full page ad in Billboard, so they must have faith in it. He's made a number of albums over the years, mostly a kind of eccentric country-rock, and he is still something of a cult artist on the West Coast. The nickname was "Wool Hat," derived from his wearing a wool watch cap most of the time.

DEAD MAN -- I loved Rich Man, Poor Man, Book II, but why, oh why, did they have to kill Rudy off? Peter Strauss was my favorite on the show. Marylou Huff, Bartlesville, Okla.

They had to kill Rudy off because Strauss wanted out of the show. He only agreed to do the series for a year so he would have enough money to then be more selective. He no longer felt challenged by the role.

JUAN WHO? -- What's Wong's real name on Welcome Back, Kotter? Where does he live and how old is he? S. Crose, Gulfport, Miss.

I assume you mean Juan Epstein. His real name is Robert Hegyes, a half Italian, half Hungarian playing a Jewish Puerto Rican. Bob is married and lives in Burbank with his wife. He's in his late 20's.

RIFLEMAN -- Could you please tell me the name of the character that Chuck Connors played on The Rifleman? Thank you. Mychael M. Patrick, Soquel, Calif.

Sure. It was Lucas McCain.

MORE ON PA -- Having read things in print on all the players in The Waltons, except Ralph Waite who plays John Walton, I wonder about him. Can you give me some information on him? Agnes Marie Summers, Tampa, Fla.

Ralph Waite still considers himself a theatre person and says this season will probably be his last with The Waltons. He would like to get back to the stage, in fact he even runs his own theatre in Los Angeles. His background is in New York where he worked with Joe Papp's Shakespeare Festival along with many other now well known actors. Waite has been divorced for 15 years, but has recently fallen in love, he says, and may marry soon.

MARY, MARY -- In an old movie I saw Mary Badham play Natalie Wood's younger sister in "This Property Is Condemned" also starring Charles Bronson. Is she now acting under the name of Mary Kay Place as Loretta Haggars in Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman? Rita Morrison, South Point, Oh.

Those are two entirely different women. Mary Badham was a very fine teenage actress who also appeared in "To Kill A Mockingbird" and "Let's Kill Uncle." She has not made any films recently and is currently 25 years old. Mary Kay Place is a bit older than that and was never an actress in her youth. She got into the business first as a comedy writer for such shows as "The Mary Tyler Moore Show."

OLD FACE -- There's a movie around town now called "The Farmer." Gary Conway is the star. I know he was in an old TV series, but what? He looks so familiar! Jack Coltrane, Ada, Minn.

Conway appeared in two old series. First, he was the sidekick to Gene Barry on "Burke's Law", then he co-starred with a whole bunch of familiar faces in "Land of the Giants." Incidentally, he is also the producer of "The Farmer."

Sammy Davis axed

Networks strangle syndicators

By DAN LEWIS

Sammy Davis' Sunday night syndicated show, which had been considered successful, has been cancelled by its distributor, a victim of network greed.

Five years ago, the commercial networks were forced to move out of the syndication business. The FCC and Justice Department ruled the nets couldn't produce their own shows, run them on the networks, then put them into the syndication market for reruns when the shows ran their course in prime time. Then along came prime-time access, and syndicators found themselves in their own particular gold rush.

But while FCC and Justice Department took the networks out of syndication, they have been unable to prevent the TV networks from influencing the destinies of shows in syndication. Sammy Davis is a case in point.

For two seasons now, Syndicast has been distributing Sammy and Company. Not necessarily the hottest show to be offered off-network, and off prime-time (Sundays at 11:30p.m.), Sammy's

SQUEEZED out of syndication by some fancy footwork on the part of NBC, Sammy Davis will have to get back into action in the clubs to make up for losing his series.

Management is the key to farm ponds

Management is the key to top fish producing farm ponds, says a fisheries specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Texas has about one-half million acres of small farm ponds. Stocked with channel or blue catfish, these ponds can produce up to a thousand pounds of fish per acre annually if managed properly," emphasizes Don Steinbach.

"A lot of things come under consideration," says the specialist. "Anyone putting in a farm pond must be serious about it and must work at it. A good fish producing pond doesn't just happen."

THE KEY to beginning a good farm pond is the correct location. First of all, the pond site should be able to hold water—clay soil is best. The watershed—the area over which water will flow into the pond—should be covered with grass sod. This will prevent silt from filling the pond at a rapid rate. For an acre pond, at least 25 to 50 acres of land is needed for the watershed.

"The pond should be at least three to five feet deep around the water's edge when full," contends Steinbach. "Fish production is not increased with the depth of the water but it may prevent the pond from going dry during a drought."

THE SOIL should be cleaned where the dam will be located and a drain pipe should be lodged through the dam at construction to allow drainage if needed.

Problems such as seepage can be controlled with bentonite, a soft, porous, moisture-absorbing mineral clay. Muddy water can be cured by broadcasting agricultural gypsum or aluminum potassium sulfate (alum). Hay or grass cuttings may also be spread over a muddied pond to help clear the water.

When it comes to stocking the pond, a variety of fish can be used—sunfish, largemouth bass, channel and blue catfish. However, channel and blue catfish offer the most potential.

FISH for stocking ponds are available from both public and private hatcheries. Requests for fish from state hatcheries should be directed to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas 78701. Fish from these hatcheries are available only for new or renovated ponds. All applications should be made before January 1 of each year. Information on private hatcheries is available from county Extension agents or Extension fisheries specialists at Texas A&M University.

"For production of large, healthy fish in a limited amount of time, a pond should have an adequate food supply during the year," emphasizes Steinbach. "Fertilizing water is the key to growing fish because this initiates the food chain. Apply a fertilizer such as 20-20-5 at 100 pounds per surface acre in March or April or when the water temperature is about 60 degrees F. Later apply smaller doses at two-week interims until the desired amount of plankton is obtained, but do not fertilize after May 31.

"TO INCREASE good fishing, feed fish with a commercial feed. Feeds come in the floating and sinking type and either is acceptable as long as it contains at least 25 percent protein. However, do not fertilize a pond if a commercial fish feed is being used.

"Piles of brush and automobile tires also concentrate fish and can make for more successful fishing," notes Steinbach.

Good management of ponds includes the removal of any unfit or undesirable types of fish such as shad, carp, bullhead catfish or suckers. Steinbach advises removing the complete population and beginning over with a balanced stock.

Rotenone is often used to clear fish out and can be used after the water temperature reaches 65 degrees F. and when the water is at its lowest level. The chemical is harmless to humans and livestock and will lose its strength in 7 to 14 days, at which time the pond may be restocked.

"BOTHERSOME plants can be controlled with certain herbicides but these must be used with care," emphasizes Steinbach.

More information on farm fish ponds is available from county Extension agents or fisheries specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M University.

U.S. shoe sizing was developed in England during the 14th century. A measurement of one-third inch, the length of an average barley corn, represents the difference in whole numbered shoe sizes., Mrs. Becky Clup, area clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER

By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

The French say, "Sorrow comes on horseback, but it goes away on foot." How swiftly our happiness seems to pass, but how long our heaviness seems to last.

David was distressed, and he cried, "How long wilt Thou forget me, O Lord? For ever? How long wilt Thou hide Thy face from me?" But a hidden face does not indicate a forgetful heart. The Lord has said, "I will never fail you or forsake you."

A little girl had the measles, and her infected eyes could not stand the sunlight. As the mother darkened the room, she asked, "Are you afraid?" The sick girl answered, "I am not afraid, Mother, as long as you stay where I can touch you."

So, too, our Lord is out of sight, but He is never out of touch. And like the Psalmist we have our dark days when the time seems to linger in its flight. We say, "The Lord has forgotten me!" but He says, "I will not forget thee." We say, "The Lord has left me!" but He says, "I will never leave thee."

Because the Lord said, "I am with you always," there will never be a day that you will be without Him. It may be a sad day or a glad day, but if you practice His presence it will always be a profitable day.

TV Star Scene

A civil war of sorts has come to television with the recent expulsion of the Hollywood chapter from the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences. The heave-ho came after a longstanding battle between the New York and Hollywood chapters. The West Coast clique felt their 5,000 members were getting short shrift. The Academy has 11,000 members in all. As of now, the actors, producers, directors and such on the L.A. side have decided to form their own organization and are planning to boycott this year's Emmy Awards, set for NBC May 15. So, maybe this year that old show biz adage that the show must go on will be cancelled.

The Father Knows Best family will be reunited for a 90-minute TV movie. Robert Young, Jane Wyatt, Billy Gray, Elinor Donohue and Lauren Chapin return in the story for the parents' 35th wedding anniversary. Time wore heavily on at least two members of the cast. Gray became a drop-out druggie after the series and pudgy-faced Lauren Chapin spent years in analysis recovering from her childhood stardom. It'll be nice to see them working again.

NBC keeps churning out the pilots in hopes of scoring big in next year's ratings race. Among the hopeful offerings are "James at Fifteen," starring Lance Kerwin, Melissa Sue Anderson, Lynn Carlin and Linden Chiles. The two-hour comedy/drama focuses on the joys and pains of adolescence. Yvette Mimieux and Gil Gerard co-star in "The Busters," an action picture, co-starring Gavin MacLeod of Mary Tyler Moore fame. Then there is "CHiPs," a revved-up look at some California Highway Patrol motorcycle cops. Starring are Larry Wilcox, Erik Estrada, John Baker and Robert Pine. Vvrroooom!!!

Since leaving Rich Man, Poor Man last year, Nick Nolte seems to be getting along quite well, thank you. He's been signed to co-star with Audrey Hepburn and Tatum O'Neal in an upcoming film . . . During TV's Golden Age, a cigar-chomping comedian introduced a zany brand of comedy uniquely suited to the small screen. His name was Ernie Kovacs, and PBS will air "The Best of Ernie Kovacs" as a series in early April . . . Lined up for the second season of Austin City Limits on PBS are The Earl Scruggs Review, The Amazin' Rhythm Aces, Willie Nelson, Roy Buchanan, Steve Fromholz and The Nitty Gritty Dirt Band. The series begins May 16.

"People used to just stare at me in public because they had seen me play so many bad-guy roles in movies," Claude Akins says, "so now it will be nice to have people walk up to me thinking that maybe I'm not such a bad guy after all."

Akins was in such a good-guy mood recently as a result of his role of a lawman in CBS' new series Nashville 99, running for four weeks beginning April 1. Akins has the perfect background for the role.

"In playing Stoney," he says, "I want to be the kind of policeman my father was for 22 years in Indiana. If my dad found a drunk wandering around, he would bring the guy home to sleep it off rather than throw him in jail. He told me that if you help a man in trouble, you have a friend for life, but throw him in jail and you've made an enemy for just as long. I play that kind of compassionate cop. It's kind of a tribute to my old man."

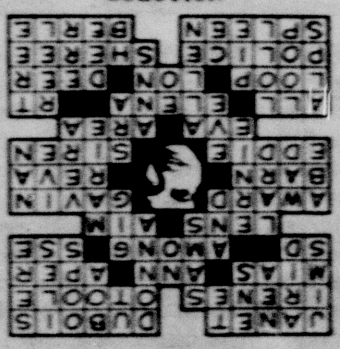
SOLUTION



DR. JOHN R. WEBB

1. My major concern as a candidate is to see that the Georgetown schools develop a better academic program. This needs to be our school system's primary purpose. Other concerns are for more classroom space, especially at the primary levels. Also, we need to develop a long term growth plan for our school system; one that will be useful into the 1980's.

2. Over the last several years, our school system has developed a very good vocational program. It is now time for us to emphasize a more thorough and better academic program. We must insure that our graduates have thoroughly mastered basic skills in language, math, and science. We also need some type of program for our educationally gifted students. Hopefully this program will challenge them to use their talents more fully than the present academic program does.

3. I am not aware of any highly significant breakdown in the relationship between our teachers and administrators. Certainly they must work as a team, with both sides contributing to our educational goals. My understanding is that some administrators are members of the Texas State Teachers Association, though not required to be. I feel this shows that those administrators are aware of the teachers' professional organizations.

4. If, in fact, our school system is not in compliance with federal regulations, then we need to change the policy so that we meet those regulations. Personally, I am not in favor of the school board having either a dress code or a hair code. This is a matter that the parents and child should decide, not the school board.

5. A physical education program should be directed towards teaching students to be physically active all through their adult life. It should emphasize life-time sports so that the students can use their physical skills long after they graduate. It should also emphasize the health reasons for maintaining good physical shape.

6. I feel that the new Community Education has been an excellent way to show our school system's responsiveness to community needs. I feel it has been extremely successful. I would favor expanding it to a 12-month program.

7. The school board should set the educational goals and establish policy for the school system. The administrators should see that those goals and policy are carried out. The board must check to make sure that the administration is carrying out the goals and policy faithfully.

8. I feel that the present curriculum in high school could be improved. We need to offer some type of program for our educationally gifted students. We need to encourage all our students to take more language, math, and science courses. We need a better selection of foreign languages. Our concern in developing our curriculum should be one that challenges our students to perform at their highest levels of skill.

9. The children at the primary levels must receive a thorough background in basic language skills, including reading, spelling, and writing. They must also have a very good knowledge of math and science skills. These formative years are the backbone for the more complex educational years. We must develop appropriate measures to see that they are achieving at their grade level.

10. I would like to see our board develop a long term plan to deal with the already crowded classroom space. This is especially important since we are a growing community with an increase in our school enrollment of about 7 to 8 percent yearly. We must expand our classroom space at the Primary and Westside schools. But just as important is the need to look further and develop an adequate program for the 1980's.

11. My priorities for the budget include wise use of tax money for expanding the facilities already available. My concern is for an excellent education for all students, and, to me, this means classroom space and adequate salaries for the teachers necessary to insure our educational goals. I feel that our athletic and vocational budgets are sufficient at present.

12. The school board must remain responsive to the taxpayers. We must build public support and understanding of our policies and goals. We need to make sure that voice votes are taken and recorded at our public school board meetings so that the citizens are aware of how each board member voted.

13. I plan to try my best to attend at least one continuing education program yearly. These are sponsored by the Texas Association of School Boards or Texas Educational Association. Also, I feel that my daily contact with the public will keep me in touch with the taxpayer's attitudes and opinions about our school system.

THE JOHN R. WEBB FAMILY

To The Georgetown Area Citizens:

As a concerned taxpayer and parent, I am running for Georgetown Independent School District Trustee. I feel that we need to develop a better academic program in all our schools.

My major concern is to develop appropriate educational goals and see that those goals are attained. We also need to develop a long term growth plan for our school system. I am asking for your support and vote in the April 2nd. School Board election.

Thank you for your support.

Russia is topic in Leander

"A Report on Religious Worship in Soviet Russia" will be the topic concerning missions and missionary activity by Pastor D.A. Calvin, Leander Assembly of God, Highway 183, Leander, TX. Sunday, March 27, at 6 p.m.

"Stephen Walegir, Business Manager, Central Bible College, Springfield, MO., has mailed me a complete report on his second trip to Soviet Russia," explained Pastor Calvin, "and it is very interesting, particularly to any freedom-loving American."

The pastor said the following is an excerpt from Mr. Walegir's report on his trip to Russia:

"You could well imagine four sermons in one service and with four to five choir numbers, how long the service can be. However, it is very meaningful, very rich, and very warm. Many of the leaders have spent time in prison. Many of the workers in the church, such as choir leaders, working with youth and so on, have spent time in prison.

"It is true there are no Sunday Schools in Russia. There are no youth services. There can, however, be a youth choir. There are no missionary activities in Russia, no tract distribution or any religious distribution at all.

"It is against the law to invite anyone publically in any way to a service. Russia will not allow missionaries to visit: They do allow tourists. There is one church in the city of Leningrad and Moscow."

The public is invited to hear this missionary report Sunday evening, March 27, at 6 p.m. at the church.

HARK THE QUEEN! — The cast of the Georgetown High School UIL One-Act Play entry, "Mary of Scotland", was caught Wednesday during one dress rehearsal without their make-up and with pins still holding some of their costumes together. The group still managed to look terribly regal, however. By the final curtain next Tuesday all the seams, frills, beards and stockings will be in place. Members of the cast are (left to right) Butch Pickens (sitting), Russell Caluette, Bob Brown, Rufus Tanksley (sitting), Adrienne Holmans, Jim Smith (kneeling), Missy Kingery (sitting), Pat Cox, Lori Rodgers, Scott Smith, Paul Minshew, Beth Morse (sitting) and Carl Thomas. The Georgetown entry will be judged at 10 a.m. Tuesday, March 29, at the Alma Thomas Theatre on the Southwestern University campus. The public is invited to attend.

ABZ holds rush party

A rush party for prospective members was held recently by Alpha Beta Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority. Hostess for the evening was Mrs. Edward Wilkie.

Those attending enjoyed a light supper and get-acquainted games and charades. Guests were Mrs. Ray F. Thomas, Jr. and Mrs. R. S. Spacek. The party was planned and carried out by Mrs. William White and Mrs. Tommy Foust.

Mrs. Mike Burson was hostess for the last regular meeting of the month at which guest speakers were Mrs. Otis Person and G. E. Almquist, Jr. Mrs. Person, representing Austin City Council of Beta Sigma Phi, reviewed procedures for girlof-the-year nominations and progressing into another chapter. Mrs. Almquist spoke of the activities of the Williamson County City Council. Plans were finalized for an evening of bowling with husbands and for the upcoming garage sale to be held May 7.

Liberty Hill NEWS

BY HOWARD N. WILSON

On Saturday, April 2, Liberty Hill Market Day, the first for the Spring, will be in progress on Liberty Hill Square. The Election for the Liberty Hill School Board of Trustees will also be conducted on Saturday in the Liberty Hill Elementary Cafetorium from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m.

The candidates for place 6 are George Dutton, John Bohanan and J. W. Hicks Jr. Candidates for place 7 are Mac Williamson, Anna (Carpenter) Brown and Jim Burnett. Absentee voting will be possible at the Superintendent's office in the Liberty Hill High School from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. through March 29. Be sure to exercise this great democratic privilege by going to the polls and casting your vote.

Classes will be dismissed for our entire school on Friday, April 1, at the regular time for an Easter Vacation. Classes will resume on Monday, April 11. Have a happy and safe holiday — we want to have you back safe and sound!

This is our last reminder of your last opportunity to attend the outsiders basketball tournament now in progress in the school gym under the sponsorship of the Panther Booster Club. Be sure to make plans to go by the tournament — we feel sure you will be glad you did!

Coach Moffitt reports that his Liberty Hill Panthers lost a slug fest last Tuesday to Burnet 11-6. Liberty Hill, in their first time at bat got two men on base when catcher Travis Gilmore hit a three-run homer to put them ahead by 3-0.

In Burnet's first time at bat, they got two runners on base, one at second and the other at third with no outs. The third batter then hit a short hopper to David Hernandez who threw him out at first base. Robert Stephens, Liberty Hill's first baseman, saw the runner at second base off the bag and ran toward him when the third base runner tried to get home. Stephens threw to Gilmore, the catcher, who tagged the runner out before throwing the ball to Roy Montemayor who tagged the runner out at third before the runner could advance to complete a triple play.

In the third inning, Donnie Johnson hit a solo home run over center field to give the Panthers a 4-0 lead going into the bottom of the third inning. Burnet did not score in the second inning.

Liberty Hill did not score in the third inning, but Burnet via three walks, a hit and an error scored two runs with no outs. With the bases still loaded, Roy Montemayor came into pitch, and he was promptly tagged for a grand slam giving Burnet a 6-4 lead.

Burnet added two more runs in the fourth inning, and Liberty Hill scored one in the fifth inning. Burnet also scored one in the fifth inning and two in the sixth. Liberty Hill added one more run in the seventh inning on a fielder's choice.

Eddie Brewster and Donnie Johnson each got two hits with Eddie getting two singles and Donnie hitting a home run. Roy Montemayor and Robert Stephens each got singles as did Joe Lopez and Omar Lopez and Travis Gilmore hit a home run.

Pam and Jimmy Holmes and their little daughter, Stacia, were joined in their home on March 21 by James Ralph II. This hefty young man weighed in at Sheppard Hospital in Burnet at nine pounds, 5½ ounces. He measured almost 22 inches long.

We want to extend our "Heartiest Welcome" to this young man, and congratulate his proud parents and sister!

Mr. and Mrs. Jewell Wilson were in San Saba last week to visit their granddaughter, Debra Lynn Johnson, who was hospitalized several nights due to an injury she received in athletics. We are pleased to report that she is at home now and is able to be back in school. The Wilsons also spent the night in Bend with Jimmy, Mary and Dianne Johnson.

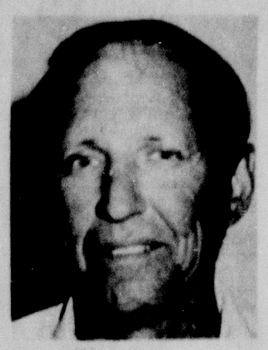
Georgetown city council candidates

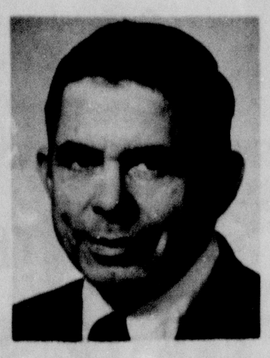
1. List your three major concerns about Georgetown.
2. What kind of community do you envision Georgetown to be ten years from now?
3. What should the City Council do to promote this type of community and plan for its growth? Would you favor additional city zoning regulations?
4. How do you plan to get feedback from all segments of the Georgetown community concerning decisions of the Council and priorities they should address?
5. Would you support and work for the appointment of more women and minority group members to city boards and commissions?
6. What is the city's responsibility to provide facilities and services for juveniles with problems or those who have committed offenses beyond that currently provided by the county?
7. Is Georgetown's housing supply, especially for low and middle income citizens, adequate? If not, how would you propose to stimulate construction of low and moderately priced housing, of either the rent or home owner type? Would you favor application of Community development funding for such purposes?
8. Do you feel city building codes are adequately enforced against existing delapidated structures as well as new construction? Would you favor an expanded building inspection service?
9. Would you support green belt requirements in real estate development? If so, how would you finance the maintenance of these green belt areas?
10. Would you favor establishing a city utility commission?
11. Does Georgetown's courthouse square need commercial revitalization? How would you stimulate business activity in this area of the city?

LEE FULKES



1. Growth, facilities, and senior citizens on fixed income
2. The same type community it is now, only larger
3. a) Continue to grow in an orderly manner through long range planning and zoning
   b) No
4. Personal contact
5. Yes
6. I feel the city should work with the county on services needed.
7. a) No
   b) By utilizing existing Georgetown Housing Authority
   c) No
8. a) Yes
   b) No
9. No. Because I think the city's money should go on the present City of Georgetown San Gabriel Park for all of its citizens to enjoy.
10. No
11. I think the businesses around the square are doing good. I feel more parking should be available.

WILLIAM C. "WIGGY" SHELL

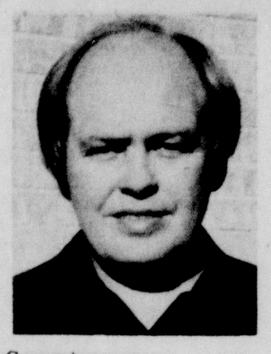


1. Water treatment plant
   b. All utility rates
   c. Growth of the City
2. I feel that the community will grow at a rapid pace, however, with a good sound city government I still envision Georgetown to be a great community to live and raise your family.
3. All types of city service such as electric, water, sewer, police and fire protection. More zoning ordinances to protect homeowners and commercial businesses.
4. Encourage more people to come to the city council meetings and public hearings and zoning commission and express their views and opinions.
5. I am in favor of putting some women and minorities on appointed boards, as long as they are willing to take the responsibility for which appointed.
6. If the County needs our assistance I would be willing to discuss the problems that juveniles have and if at all possible I would be willing to work with the county on any juvenile problems within the city.
7. I do not feel that the low income and middle income housing is adequate for the citizens of Georgetown. I will strive to encourage more of the developers to construct houses under the Section 8 program. Also, I will support construction of additional units such as we now have at Stonehaven.
8. No, because I feel we have so much construction at this time that they do not have sufficient time and manpower to keep up with the old construction as well as the new. Yes, I am in favor of expanded building inspection service.
9. Plan for and make sure that we develop park areas and natural greenbelts in new developments. Appropriate a portion of the city budget for these areas as long as they are within the city limits of Georgetown.
10. No, because I feel that the present council is aware of the problems with all utilities.
11. No.

HARRY GOLD

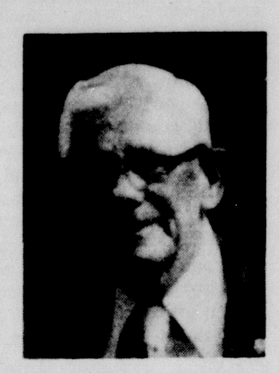
1. Being able, within our capabilities, to keep up financially with capital improvements and planned, orderly growth with no additional heavy tax burden.
2. I will work to see that it stays as it is now. Our city will be larger, but basically it will be of the same quality it is now.
3. The water intake structure and the new water storage facilities are two steps in this direction. Our city zoning regulations are current.
4. Thru the citizens advisory committee, public hearings, and individual conversations with interested citizens.
5. Serving on boards should be done by people from all segments of our community. The percentage of men, women, and minorities should be based on citizen's willingness, qualifications, and dedicated regardless of sex or national origin.
6. I believe any involvement in this area would only be duplicating services now being rendered by the county juvenile probation officer and his staff. Getting into this area would be duplication for a city of this size.
7. No. An application is before the proper authorities for 60 additional low rent housing units which may be approved by this summer. Also, there are now 2 subdivisions that will provide for about 500 homes in the $25,000 to $35,000 range. Loans for these homes can be had through FHA and VA sources for those qualifying.
   Community development funds are used exclusively from citizen input into the program. After public hearings have been held and all citizens have been involved, their recommendations to the city council will determine projects to be funded.
8. Current building codes are adequately enforced. Our current building inspection department is doing a first-class job.
9. This matter has already been taken care of. Elimination of refund contracts to builders was changed to channel that money into parks and recreation fund. I think parks and greenbelt areas should be put in by the city in areas in which they are needed.
10. No. The city council is capable and needs full control of all utilities serviced by the city and by franchises.
11. It needs to be kept fresh looking and in good state of repair. As long as that is done there will be business activity around the square. Planned, coordinated programs on a yearly basis by a majority of current businesses would stimulate traffic more.

KENNETH OLSON



1. My three major concerns about Georgetown are:
   (1) A well planned growth pattern for the city, including adequate utilities for all citizens;
   (2) Increased tax exemptions for veterans and for people age 65 and over; and
   (3) Improved traffic safety measures, especially in the school speed zones, to protect our children.
2. I envision Georgetown as a progressive and prosperous community ten years from now. It has been predicted that Georgetown will have a population of 25,000 by the year 2000. If this prediction is true, our population should be around 13,000 within ten years.
3. The city council should have a well organized master plan for the growth of the area and it must be updated on a regular basis. Yes. It will be necessary because of the rapid growth of the city.
4. I'm a businessman located on the square and will be in constant contact with all segments of the Georgetown community.
5. There are currently women and minorities serving on city commissions and boards. I would review and evaluate the circumstances and if they are qualified I would support their appointments.
6. Insure that the city's law enforcement agency assist the county judges and probation officers in any way possible and also seek federal funding for an educational program if one is available.
7. There is definitely a deficiency in the low and middle income housing supply in Georgetown. I would seek out any federal funding program that may be available through Community Development grants or other HUD related programs.
8. From my observation of the delapidated buildings that have been torn down and of the new buildings under construction, city inspection is being enforced. I would have to review present programs and if they are not being properly enforced, I would give it due consideration.
9. Yes. They should be financed by the city or the county depending on where they are located.
10. No. This is one major reason I'm seeking election to the council. We must do everything possible to reduce the high utility rates.
11. The Historical Zone Commission has a great input to the development of the square. I believe this Commission must be flexible enough not to destroy downtown growth. As I view the situation there are many areas we could improve. If elected one of the major areas would be making an all out effort to improve parking situation in the downtown area of Georgetown.

J. D. WININGER



1. To propose better lighting around the courthouse and square. To have our parking situation overhauled. This can be done by parking meters and more parking lots. Beautifying our town around square with greenery and flowers, to have some kind of tourist program. This would bring in money.
2. Georgetown will increase in population to 15,000 or 20,000 with proper leadership.
3. To annex more land into the city, thereby giving the city more tax dollars. Yes, to provide commercial zoning when and where needed.
4. To have public meetings with all interested businesses, the county commissioners and all people concerned. We all need to work together for a better place to live. We have a wonderful city. Let's see if we can't make it better.
5. Yes, I am in favor of these appointments. The more people you get involved in the work, the more interest there will be. In my opinion the Georgetown city council, if not now, in the near future will and can use seven members on the city council.
6. To provide counseling with parents and young people to help them work out their problems. I would be in favor of some kind of work program under city management that these young people could perform under our present minor laws. We could keep our city and parks clean of debris and by the same token keep these young people busy and out of mischief. This would work out, if it could be adopted.
7. No, I don't think Georgetown's housing is sufficient. Working people with families cannot pay 30 or 40 thousand dollars for a house. We need more housing in the $25,000 range. We all need to work in unity for this purpose.
8. Yes, I feel that our inspector is doing a good job; however, he needs help and to be on the job full time. Even at full-time, he needs assistance. This would keep the bugs out of the jobs.
9. Yes, I have in the past and will in the future. We have voted to cut off the rebates to the developer and place this money toward financing the green belt project. I propose for us to ask from all clubs donations for the purchase of swings, slides or park equipment, or perhaps they would like to purchase and donate a piece of playground equipment.
10. A city utility commission to deal with LCRA, the gas company and General telephone would not accomplish anything as the state has taken all municipal powers and vested them in the Public Utilities Commission and Railroad Commission. As far as establishing city utility rates for the citizens, I believe that the Citizens Advisory Commission and City Council can handle these adequately.
11. Yes, repair, remodel, paint and fix up with the help of the Chamber of Commerce and all concerned. We must have our city attractive for visitors or people interested in moving here.

Perry's paintings on display at Alma Thomas

Currently on exhibit in the Gallery of the Alma Thomas Fine Arts Center at Southwestern Unviersity is an art show featuring 25 works by Robin Judd Perry of Burlington, Massachusetts, a candidate for graduation this spring from the School of Fine Arts, according to Claude Kennard, director of the Gallery.

The public may view the exhibit through April 12.

INCLUDED IN THE SENIOR ART SHOW are seven scenes of dreamimagery drawings (ebony pencil on manilla vellum), seven scenes of "studio paintings" in oils, three oil portraits and a selection of life studies in varied media, ranging from conte crayon to pastels.

Majoring in art and minoring in art history for the bachelor of fine arts degree, Ms. Perry has exhibited frequently in Massachusetts while a student at Framingham State College and in Texas while enrolled at Southwestern University. Last spring she was represented in a juried show during the Texas College Art Major Exhibit in Dallas and in student exhibits on the university campus.

Perry has studied art with Fred Fiandaca and Don Osier in Massachusetts and with David Everett and Guss Farmer of the art faculty in the School of Fine Arts at Southwestern University.

PERRY IS A MEMBER OF THE Fine Arts Dean Selection Committee (spring 1976) at Southwestern University and Art Activists at Framingham State College, Framingham, Massachusetts, where she was named to the Dean's Distinction List.

A native of Providence, Rhode Island, she is a graduate of Burlington High School, Burlington, Mass. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Perry, presently of Round Rock, Texas.

SU evening courses set for summer

Several evening courses have been planned at Southwestern University this summer for the working public who want to continue their education, says Dr. Suk-soon Suh, summer school director.

The growing summer program will have three sessions with the first May 10-27, the second June 3-July 12, and the third July 13-29.

Dr. Joe Colwell, who has been on sabbatical for the past year studying real estate at the University of Texas, Austin, and at Texas A&M, will be back on campus for the May session to teach an evening course in real estate (selected topics). The course is scheduled at 6 p.m.

Two evening courses are scheduled during the June session with Colwell teaching business law and Harold Eidson teaching computer programming techniques. Both three-hour courses begin at 6 p.m. in the evening.

A late afternoon course in "Mass Media and Politics" will be taught by Dr. Suh at 4:30 p.m. during the June session.

Dozens of other courses ranging from the popular French House (a total living experience in the French language) to racquetball and from "Post-Biblical Judiasm" to the "Physiology of Reproduction" will be offered during the summer.

Many of the courses are "by arrangement" for the convenience of the student.

Pre-registration for the summer sessions will be April 25. Schedules and lists of courses are available at the admissions office in Mood Hall.

Society holds 1st rock hunt

The first club rock hunt of the year was held March 20 by members of the Williamson County Gem and Mineral Society. Time and location arrangements were made by the vice president, Ray F. Hotopp.

The hunt was for agates and fossilized limestone and was most successful.

The April meeting has been postponed from the second Sunday, which is Easter, to the third Sunday and will be held at Stonehaven at 2:30 p.m.

Paula Gamble performs with SWT choir

SAN MARCOS — A student from Georgetown, Paula Gamble, a soprano, is among the 48 singers of Southwest Texas State University's top student choir, the Chorale, which performed recently at a concert in St. Mark's Episcopal Church of San Marcos.

The chorale's program included Heinrich Schutz' "Sing to the Lord a New Song," Anton Bruckner's "Three Graduals for the Church Year" and Gabriel Faure's seven-part mass, "Requiem."

Fleming becomes ACTU president

DR. DURWOOD FLEMING

Southwestern University President Durwood Fleming will take office as president of The Assn. of Texas Colleges and Universities (ATCU) on Friday, April 1, in Fort Worth.

This will be the third major position of service assumed by Dr. Fleming within the year. He already serves as president of the Assn. of Colleges and Universities for International-Intercultural Education (ACUIIS), the largest consortium of institutions organized for international education both abroad and in this country.

And President Fleming was just recently named to The University Senate of the United Methodist Church, the professional educational advisory agency for the United Methodist Church and all educational institutions related to it, of which there are more than 150.

The Assn. of Texas Colleges and Universities, founded in 1916, has become the only spokesman for both the tax supported and the independent schools of higher education in Texas. Virtually all colleges, universities, and junior colleges in the state are members of ATCU.

"My administration will be focused on ATCU's assuming a stronger leadership role for higher education with particular emphasis on its perceiving the future of colleges and universities in Texas and communicating this message to all Texans," President Fleming said.

An early function of ATCU was in evaluating high schools and colleges in Texas, and it served as the statewide accreditation agency until 1968.

In recent years ATCU's principle work has been in sponsoring such studies as "Private Colleges: Pluralism and Partnership;" "Transfer of Credit," related to applicability of transfer of credit for degree requirements; and "A New Affirmation on Higher Education," which has just been published and released.

Dr. Fleming is the 12th President of Southwestern, the state's oldest university, assuming that position in 1961 after serving 16 years as founding pastor of St. Luke's United Methodist Church of Houston.

A native of Sulphur Springs, Dr. Fleming earned a B.A. degree from Southern Methodist University and a Th.M. degree from Perkins School of Theology. He has also studied at East Texas State University and Union Theological Seminary in New York. In 1957 he was awarded a Doctor of Divinity degree from McMurry College and in 1965 he received the Distinguished Alumnus Award from SMU.

President Fleming is also a member of the Texas Planning Commission; the Board of Ministry, Texas Conference, of the United Methodist Church, and is chairman of the Big State Conference Council of Presidents.

He is a past president of the Texas Council of Church-Related Colleges and past chairman of the Texas Methodist College Assn.

French professor to speak at SU

A distinguished professor from France will discuss the latest political developments in that country Wednesday at Southwestern University.

Professor Maurice Saias will speak to Dr. Francis O'Brien's class on "European Governments" at 11 a.m. Wednesday in room 318 of Mood Hall. The public is invited.

Dr. O'Brien, himself an on-the scenes scholar of the Irish political situation, said that he expected Dr. Saias to discuss the gains made by Communists in France in last Sunday's election.

"THEY (Communists) predict victory in the next Assembly election," O'Brien said. "The French Communists say that they are now entirely divorced from Moscow and are 100 percent a French party, but many Frenchmen say 'We don't believe them'."

Saias has been on the faculty and the dean of the University of Aix-Marseille for the past 15 years and has served as visiting professor to the University of Texas at Austin and to the Administrative Staff College of Henley-on-Thames (his present post).

HE ALSO has been a professor at the International Management Institute of Northwestern University and of the London Graduate School of Business for the International Teachers Program.

Saias has been consultant for many large companies in both France and the United States, has been a member of the Executive Committee of the European Foundation for Management Development, and served on the Jury d'Agregation des Sciences de Gestion," the first national recruitment examination for management professors in the French university system.

Revival begins Sun. at Cedar Park Baptist

New Hope First Baptist Church announces their revival dates, March 27-30.

The Sunday services are at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. The services Monday through Wednesday will be at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. The members extend a cordial invitation to all to attend any of these services. A nursery will be provided for children 3 years and under.

Henry B. Sims, pastor, will be he evangelist. He is a graduate of the University of Corpus Christi and Southwestern Seminary. He recently came to Cedar Park from the First Baptist Church Smithville.

Rex Lane will be leading the music for the revival.

New Hope Baptist Church, organized in 1868, has a rich history.

"We accept the authority of God's inspired Word. We believe in salvation by grace through faith. We believe and practice the independence and autonomy of the local church. We do co-operate with other churches in carrying out the great commission."

Incorrect, illegible data delays refunds

Incorrect or illegible addresses and social security numbers on tax returns can delay refunds, the Internal Revenue Service cautioned today.

Taxpayers who have moved since filing their tax returns should inform both the U. S. Postal Service and the IRS Service Center where they filed their return of the new address, or any refund due might not reach its destination.

An incorrect or illegible social security number can also delay the processing of the tax return and slow up the issuance of a refund check due.

A simple solution to the problem is for the taxpayer to use the peel-off label attached to the tax package mailed out by the IRS. The taxpayer can make any name, address or social security number corrections right on the label so that the IRS will know to whom and where to direct the refund.

Alpha Iota Thetas have spring party

Alpha Iota Theta held its Spring Rush party in the home of Mrs. Denise Bird at 809 East 4th Street.

A St. Patrick's Day theme was used. Shamrocks and hats set the mood and a shamrock cake, cookies and lime sherbet punch completed the theme.

Eagle's Eye

by NATALIE HUBBARD

Friday afternoons have become almost useless. Some classes are totally drained. Both athletes and literary contestants are away winning more trophies. It is nice to see GHS performing well in these opposite events.

Vocational students are among top contenders too. Last weekend Missy Kingery and Hilda Guevara attended the State TAHOS contest. Missy placed first in her event. Both girls are very talented. Patricia Cox has gone to the state meeting of OEA this weekend. Patricia, like other vocational students, represents our school well.

The three fine arts departments are also preparing for their contests. The UIL One-Act Play, "Mary of Scotland", competes Tuesday, March 29, at 10 a.m. Band and Choir competitions come shortly after Easter vacation.

From the small cross-section of events I have mentioned, you can get an idea of how busy the third quarter is.

This part of the year is the hardest on the yearbook staff. Events happen and are then written up for the book almost simultaneously. If you've ever wondered why the AERIE comes out in August and not May, it is because the Aerie staff must work vigorously to cover everything from registration to graduation.

Even though pre-registration took place this past week, the calendar shows that graduation is not far away.

At GHS, the word "graduate" applies not only to students, but also to cafeteria food. I'm sure, by now, you have noticed the higher quality menus. Mrs. MacEwan would really appreciate some well earned praise. Now students will have to find something other than school food to criticize.

In the game department, Debbie Howell received a prize for remembering the most facts. Janet Cashmore took the boobie prize. In matching up faces to baby pictures, Marie Christopher won, while Carmen Alcoces took the boobie prize. Rita Burgess, president, won the door prize.

Members attending were Rita Burgess, Linda Cisneros, Juanita Carter, Mary Miranda, Wanda Franklin, Judy Whitfield, Juanita Toungate, Joan Medrano, Denise Bird and Shirley Russell.

Commissioners to sign showbarn land lease

County Commissioners are expected to sign the final contract with the City of Georgetown to lease land in San Gabriel Park for the new livestock showbarn when they meet next Monday.

AFTER THE LEASE is signed, they will approve final specifications for the building and authorize advertising for construction bids.

County Attorney Billy Ray Stubblefield expects to have the lease ready for Commissioners to sign on Monday.

Consideration of professional liability insurance for county officials and employees is also on the agenda for next Monday.

FINDING a suitable liability insurance policy, especially one that will cover Sheriff's deputies and Emergency Medical Services personnel, has been a problem.

Commissioners are also expected to:

- Discuss unleased mineral rights on land owned by Williamson County in Sutton County. The land was originally acquired for use by Williamson County Schools.
- Hear the Sheriff request overhead lights on patrol cars.
- Consider appointment of a Deputy to help Constable H. T. Ward in Precinct No. 2.
- Consider reappointing Justice of the Peace Inez Ward. Inez Ward unintentionally vacated her position as JP when she filed to run for the Granger City Council. She has since withdrawn her bid for the city council and Commissioners will consider re-appointing her as JP.
- Consider the vacation policy for EMS personnel.

No violations found by grand jury in C.P. leaflets

A Williamson County grand jury found no felony violations after investigating a series of political leaflets distributed in connection with the last Cedar Park bond election.

Alleged erroneous information in the leaflets had been blamed for the failure of the water and sewer system bond election.

THE LEAFLETS had been distributed by the Cedar Park Water Corporation.

THE GRAND JURY investigated charges that corporate funds had been used to finance the leaflets, but found no evidence to substantiate the charges.

Cedar Park Mayor Ron Merrill said that the city still intends to file a complaint with Williamson County Attorney Bill Stubblefield against the leaflet's financial backer for violation of state election codes.

Texas' '77 Rice Crop Record

AUSTIN—Texas' rice bowl is overflowing, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has announced, with rough rice stocks in the state at near record levels.

"Abundant rice crops last year in traditional American export markets brought down demand for our product," White explained, "and in response to decreased demand coupled with resulting price slumps, Texas farmers have reduced their current acreage six per cent to 480,000 acres."

As of Jan. 1, 1977, Texas had 23,613,000 hundredweight (cwt.) of rough rice in all positions, 22 per cent more than a year earlier. Stocks of rough rice in the U.S. totaled a record high of 100.3 million cwt., 46 per cent above the 1975 total, according to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Stocks of milled rice were 84 per cent higher than in 1976, at 1,664,000 cwt. "And only 475,000 cwt. were in port or in transit to ports," White said.

"After beginning last year with 804,000 cwt. of milled rice on hand, little moved from warehouses, and by harvest completion in the fall we had upped our January, 1976, inventory by 706,000 cwt.," he stated.

the safety it offers, especially for children. Since it connects the VFW and San Gabriel Parks, youngsters can now travel from one to the other without having to cross either the low-water crossing bridge farther downstream or Highway 81.

"We feel it's going to carry a lot of traffic and many local residents are going to enjoy it," Wood added. "All those who were concerned with making the trail a reality, including our Bicentennial Commission, the state Parks and Wildlife Dept., and the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, are to be commended. I feel it really completes our Bicentennial celebration."

farmers, who had seen what over-production could do to the price structure, had gone along with the government's request to curtail production, so their allotments were drastically reduced.

Well, now the irrigation scheme has about played out. Northwest Texas farmers drew on the vast underground reservoirs to such an extent that now they are virtually empty. The farmers want water diverted from the Mississippi river, or some other place to keep them in business.

And, for the "backward type family farmer" growing cotton in the black belt, new methods of insect control, new developments in fertilizer and farming methods have improved his yields. He is now what he was 20 years ago, the hope for continued, economical production of cotton, which is becoming more in demand, more valuable all the time.

WE AREN'T HAPPY about the west Texas situation, understand. The world could use a lot more cotton than it is now producing and the more of it that can be grown in Texas, the better. We are pointing to the situation to illustrate how the lack of foresight on the part of governmental bureaucracies, plus some personal greed, can lead a state or nation down the path of self-destruction.

COME ON OUT to Georgetown's Municipal Airport any time between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. today (Sunday), invites Chief Warrant Officer Bud Rogers of Ft. Hood, who along with other U. S. Army officers will give visitors a gander at the Mohawk aerial surveillance plane displayed behind him. Eight of the big birds are temporarily stationed at the airport, where two army units are participating in Gallant Crew '77, a huge Central Texas war game. The army has scheduled Sunday's public visitation to acquaint Georgetown area residents with the Mohawk and with some of the operations under way at the airport as part of the training exercise. To get to the airport, take the west frontage road of Interstate Highway 35 to the sign directing you to the field, turn left, and drive on to the airport entrance, where you'll make another left and drive a short distance to the waiting Mohawk near the airport operations building.

Top flower choices show little change

Americans seem to be "sticking to their guns" when it comes time to buy flower seed each year. Their choices have changed little in the past 29 years.

Dr. William C. Welch, landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, cites figures by the National Garden Bureau which show that the three most popular flowers in 1946 — petunias, zinnias and marigolds—are still the most popular today. The figures are based on seed packet sales in 1946 and in 1975.

"Although the top three flowers remained the same, their individual rankings changed," notes Welch. "Petunias held the top spot in 1946, with zinnias second and marigolds third. Last year zinnias were tops in seed sales while marigolds were second and petunias third."

The horticulturist points out that the rankings were based on seed sales and did not include the sales of bedding plants. If bedding plants were included, petunias would no doubt be the most popular flower today, with marigolds probably nabbing second place.

Welch notes that bedding plants are more readily available today, and their sales are skyrocketing.

Completing the list of top 10 flowers in 1946 were asters, sweet peas, snapdragons, nasturtiums, portulaca (moss rose), larkspur and alyssum. Rounding out the 1975 list were nasturtiums, alyssum, asters, morning glory, portulace, snapdragons and sweet peas.

"It's interesting to note that there has been little change in gardeners' preferences for flowers during the past 29 years," says Welch. "Apparently they have stayed with the flowers that have performed well—the old reliables, so to speak. The main change seems to be toward low-growing, heat resistant flowers."

Residents of Serenada Country Estates are urged to attend a meeting at the First National Bank Festival Room Thursday evening, 7 p.m., for the purpose of forming an Association of Homeowners.

Down to the wire

We are coming down to the wire in what may be the most successful Save-A-Buck (actually $1.50) campaign in our history. This is the final week. Anyone who comes in with renewal money during the week or has it in the mail so that it reaches us no later than Monday morning, April 4, can take the discount.

We hope all of you do.

OUR NEXT STEP, after getting everyone properly credited with payments, will be to mail out renewal statements at our regular subscription rate. So, if you are not going to stop reading the SUN, make your move this week and save that extra buck-fifty!

The Georgetown area continues to grow and have problems, which are explained in each issue of the SUN. Advertisements represent the discounted merchandise our business firms are offering, often saving SUN readers more in a single week than they pay for their annual subscription. Our excellent reporters tell the week-by-week story of the area, in a straight-forward fashion, all neatly tied up in a package that, with the discount, costs subscribers about 8 cents per copy. A bargain? You bet!

the passing glance

By Don Scarbrough

A telephone directory that gives all the Williamson County numbers has been published by a Corpus Christi firm. I got a copy Wednesday and immediately started counting.

THE LARGEST TELEPHONE complex is Cedar Park - Leander - Jollyville with, I estimated on the basis of space, 5600 telephones. Taylor was number two with 4490, Georgetown third with 3660 and Round Rock coming up fast with 2900.

Counting all of the Cedar Park listings as being in the county, which I believe is not the case, the county has 19,000 telephones, give or take a few dozen. The listing gave Liberty Hill 540, Florence 536, Granger 575, Jarrell 195, Coupland 200, Hutto 280, and Thrall-Thorndale 750. Thorndale isn't in the county, so to stay in Williamson deduct 500 from that figure.

In past census counting, Georgetown has trailed Taylor by one-third. In telephone listings however, we do better, with 80 percent of Taylor's total. Round Rock, on the other hand, now has 80 percent of the Georgetown figure, which is an eye-popping gain.

In our business this combination telephone book will be a convenience. I understand that our Chamber of Commerce was given a number of these books and they are free to first-comers.

How long ago was it, Williamson County farmers, when the Agriculture Department of the United States government almost put us out of the cotton business because irrigated west and south Texas could produce it more economically? I guess about 20 years.

THE WEST TEXAS cotton producers, working for allotments, were so greedy they removed fences from around their farm yards and planted right up to the home. Cotton belt

THE PLAY'S THE THING or it will be on Tuesday and Wednesday when theater groups from the North and South Zones of District 12 AAA come to the Alma Thomas Theatre at Southwestern University to compete in University Interscholastic League (UIL) One-Act Play Contest. Georgetown High School players, Russell Caluette (left) as Lord Bothwell and Missy Kingery (right) as Mary Stuart, rehearse a scene from the play they will be presenting on Tuesday, March 29. The Georgetown entry in the UIL contest will be "Mary of Scotland". The public is invited to attend the play. Curtain time will be 10 a.m. on Tuesday.

G'town will host UIL One-Act Play Contest

Georgetown will be the site for the University Interscholastic League (UIL) One-Act Play Contest for District 12 AAA on March 29 and 30.

The Alma Thomas Theatre at Southwestern will be filled with young actors and actresses dressed in fine costumes and ready to perform next Tuesday and Wednesday.

ACCORDING TO the contest manager, Karen Tatum, North Zone competition will begin at 8 a.m. on March 29. Belton, Lampasas, Georgetown and then Taylor will don their make-up and costumes to do their plays during the morning hours. South Zone competition will begin in the afternoon. Round Rock, Del Valle, Lockhart and Westlake will stage their performances after 1 p.m.

The two best North Zone plays and the two best South Zone plays will be chosen on Tuesday to advance to District competition on Wednesday. Special awards for best actor, best actress and all-star cast will also be presented after the March 29 plays, Ms. Tatum told the Sun.

District winners will be selected on Wednesday, March 30. The four zone winners will compete against each other, beginning at 8:30 a.m. From these four, the two best District plays will be chosen to advance to Regional Contest in Corpus Christi. Best actor, best actress and all-star cast for the District level will also be chosen.

THE GEORGETOWN ENTRY for the contest is "Mary of Scotland". It is a period play with elaborate costumes and make-up. The historical production weaves a tale of plotting and intrigue in the court of Mary Queen of Scots.

At 19, Catholic Mary Stuart arrives in Scotland to assume the throne. She immediately meets opposition from John Knox, a leader in the Protestant Reform movement.

In England Elizabeth Tudo plots to bring Mary's downfall and prevent her from becoming heir to the throne of England. Elizabeth and her advisor, Lord Burghley, spread rumors about Mary and trick her into marrying the handsome drunkard, Lord Darnley, instead of Mary's true love, Lord Bothwell.

DARNLEY PROVES a weak and jealous king. He breaks into her chambers in a drunken rage and kills her secretary, Rizzio. A short while later Darnley is murdered and Mary weds Bothwell.

The Scotts rise up against their queen with the encouragement of John Knox and Mary's councellors. She is imprisoned where she remains until her death. Even in death, however, she triumphs over her enemies, bearing a son who will one day rule both Scotland and England.

Missy Kingery will play the part of Mary Stuart and Beth Morse will play Elizabeth Tudor. Other members of the cast are Jim Smith as Jamie, Scott Smith as John Knox, Russell Caluette as the Earl of Bothwell and

Estate Planning Seminar to aid county landowners

Williamson County landowners can gain valuable insight on the most far-reaching changes in estate laws in 35 years by attending either of two estate planning seminars to be held in Georgetown and Taylor this week.

SPONSORED BY the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the seminars will feature explanations by specialists of the impact the changes will have on farm and ranch estate plans.

The first seminar will begin at 7:30 p.m. Monday night in the Knights of Columbus Hall two miles east of Taylor on State Highway 79. The second session will begin at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the San Gabriel Community Building in Georgetown's San Gabriel Park.

Both seminars will cover reasons for estate planning, some estate law basics, and changes implemented by passage of new estate legislation last autumn. The seminar will run until 9:30 p.m.

WILLIAMSON County Extension Agent John Wakefield said the estate law alterations will necessitate review of many estate plans and consideration of new matters in initial planning.

"A lot of people in the county are selling land, and it could cost them a lot if they don't understand these laws," he said, adding, "We want to emphasize that it's especially important for the ladies."

The Taylor seminar will be conducted by Don Parks, an Extension Service Economist-Management Specialist, and Jim Linzy, a Temple tax lawyer.

PARKS and Georgetown attorney Neill Wilkerson will conduct the Georgetown seminar.

"There has been tremendous interest in this area," said Wakefield, "and if this seminar goes over well we may set up a more detailed program next fall."

Sunday dedication set for new Hike-Bike Trail

Georgetown's new mile-long Hike and Bike Trail will be dedicated at 1 p.m. today (Sunday) in San Gabriel Park come rain or shine.

Planners of the event said Friday that a family picnic and afternoon in the park was slated to follow the short dedication ceremony, weather allowing. Those attending are urged to bring folding chairs, blankets, and picnic meals to enjoy the afternoon with their friends.

Robert F. B. "Skip" Morse will serve as master of ceremonies of the dedication, while Mayor John Doerfler will review the development of the project, present special awards, and officially open the Hike and Bike Trail.

BEGUN as a designated Georgetown Bicentennial Commission project for 1976, the trail later became a joint municipal-Bicentennial improvement for the park.

Funding for construction was obtained through a matching $23,000 grant from the federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation (BOR), $12,000 in city funds, and the donation of two acres of land by council member Dee W. Scott. Scott's donation, worth nearly $15,000, helped the city get the matching federal grant.

The trail runs almost a mile, from just north of the VFW park on Second Street along the east bank of the San Gabriel River on College Street and down into San Gabriel Park, ending at the park bandstand. A 210-foot bridge spans the river near the juncture of its two branches, enabling hikers and bikers to cross over to the park from College Street.

A rockwork retaining wall, built at no cost to the city by Green Thumb workers, covers the section of the river bank where the trail winds down to the new bridge.

"AN IMPORTANT ASPECT of the new trail," commented City Mgr. Leo Wood, "is

Week's news in a nutshell

There's a lot of interest in Georgetown and Round Rock in the upcoming community and school elections set for April 2, but over at Cedar Park there is genuine heat and concern. This was inevitable, of course, after the school board fired seven teachers and staff members for, what is being claimed, their involvement in local politics. The local newspaper, the Hill Country News took dead aim at trustees Buford, Wilson, Todd and Beard in an editorial, asking the voters to elect three opposing candidates Bible, Bradford and O'Conner. Meanwhile, a new coach has been employed to replace fired Coach Huntis Black. Harold Hill is the new mentor. He comes from Jacksboro and has a 45-17-4 record over the past six years.

AND ROUND ROCK, of course, is getting set for a big election day, with considerable interest building in the naming of commissioners to write a Home Rule City Charter. There will also be hot races for the city offices and school trustees, so Round Rock voters are doing their best to sort out the facts and give a good account of themselves at the polls.

In Austin Wednesday, Mayor Jeff Friedman exposed himself to the possibility of personal danger by meeting an irate dog lover who had threatened to kill an employee at the Austin Humane Society. But all turned out well enough. The mayor didn't get shot and efforts are being made to find the fellow a nice dog to suit his needs.

IN THE TEXAS Legislature, medical malpractice insurance bill was passed 145-1 after many hours of hot debate, leaving no one quite satisfied. And, in Washington, the delight of conservatives, the labor-backed common situs bill (which would have allowed any union, no matter how small, to stop construction on any project, no matter how big) was given a stinging set-back. Pickle and Poage voted against it and Ray Marshall, Secretary of Labor, spoke for it.

John Connally says the news media of today has a certain smugness which seems to imply that "we are the judge, jury and prosecutor, not merely the recorder of human events." Well, old John ought to know about smugness, but perhaps he has a point, especially when he says he is critical about "the growing volume of news reporting on serious subjects by reporters and writers with superficial understanding of the subject." But what's the alternative, big John? Should newspapers refrain from reporting on these deep subjects and let the politicians inform the public with no comments from the press? Would that get the job done more satisfactorily?

UNDER THINGS we didn't know: Temple is the seventh fastest growing city in the United States percentage-wise, out-stripping Austin which is 13th. This info comes from a story written by Dave Allred, a member of the Texas House of Representatives, appearing on an inside page of this issue of the SS.

President Carter, with an eye on the 1980 elections, wants to allow persons to vote in elections merely by showing up on election day with proof of identity and residence. Sen. John Tower is agin' it, saying "it opens the doors to abuse." He cited the possibilities of voting tombstones, livestock and aliens, which also has been accomplished under the present system from time to time.

RUSSIANS DON'T PLAY FAIR

For the 1980 Summer Olympics the finest athletes in the world will converge on Moscow. They might as well stay home.

If what's past is prologue, the Russians will manage to win by hook or crook.

The world's earliest athletes—in Sparta and ancient Rome—literally "ran for their lives."

IN ATHLETIC COMPETITION, back where the Olympics began, the winners won no big money—but they were otherwise motivated:

The losers were put to death.

Russia takes athletic competition almost that seriously today.

Look at the face of Olga Korbut when she competes; in her face you can see the importance Russia puts on winning!

Chicago Tribune sportswriter Rick Talley has been doing some investigative reporting on this subject. He confirms that they don't play fair. He says they are, in fact, "the most accomplished, blatant cheaters in the history of sport."

Examples: Boris Osenenko hot-wired his dueling sword in the Montreal games of 1976.

RUSSIA'S WATER POLO team, facing defeat, tried instead to withdraw.

There was Russia's flagrant roughness during the U.S.A.-U.S.S.R. basketball game in Munich in 1972.

And Russia's weightlifters came to the event bloated with steroids.

When the World Aerobatic Championships were held in Kiev in 1976, the Soviet hosts rigged the judging, changed the rules during the competition and managed to award top team and top individual prizes to Russians.

The Americans—who have bested the best of the Russians in every competition outside Russia—not wanting to create an international bruhaha, bit their lips and went home.

But later in an aerobatics magazine specific incidents of Soviet cheating were related. One Soviet judge, for example, scored several Soviet flights without once looking at the aircraft in flight!

AMERICAN TEAM MANAGER Bob Carmichael said, "It's difficult to describe how brazen those people are, how determined to claim victory however unfairly."

Talley figures that even NBC will rue the day it paid the Russians $85 million for broadcast rights to these next games, expecting that Russia will also demand and get dozens of Soviet edited "cultural hours" on that network showing the world the "unblemished beauty" of the Soviet Union.

And the first time an American announcer dares to question Soviet cheating, somebody will pull the plug.

Road to success

"Five fast ways to save," is the message over the signature of Robert W. Rhodes, vice-president of the Taylor office of the First-Federal Savings and Loan Association. It's a good message and could just as well apply to Georgetown folks who do business with our thrift institutions.

If you're having trouble putting a little something aside to save, try one of these plans:

- Crash program. If you can't stick to a permanent plan, settle for a series of short ones. Economize drastically for two or three months and save what you don't spend.
- Installment plan. When you've made the last payment on the car or some other installment purchase, continue making the payments but direct them to your Savings Account.
- Marked money. Declare a certain denomination of coin unspendable. If you pick dimes, then every dime that comes into your hands gets saved. The cash mounts up quickly.
- Self-service. do you generally pay someone to cut the grass? Paint the house? Wash the car? Do it yourself and save the fees.
- Self-denial. Sacrifice something you spend for regularly and put the money in savings instead. Possibilities include: weekly trips for bowling, movies or late-night pizzas.

While we hope that you are not one of those who cannot save regularly with us, perhaps one of these suggestions can get you started in the saving habit. Why not give one a try. . . you've certainly got nothing to lose and everything. . . including money . . . to gain!

We are living in a free-wheeling society, but even so, few successful families have failed, during their lifetime, to practice thrift, including a sound savings policy. This does not necessarily have to be totally in hard cash but from our cash savings we are able to make investments in homes, businesses, farms or even the stock market.

A dollar saved is a dollar — plus interest — earned.

Humanity over politics

Given the se in Middle East tensions brought about by the assassination in Lebanon of leftist leader Kamal Jumblatt, it is heartening to learn that Jewish groups and individuals of all persuasions have gone out of their way to express warm thanks to three Moslem diplomats for their role in saving 134 lives during the seizure of hostages in Washington.

The three ambassadors — Iranian, Pakistani and Egypt's Ashraf Ghorbal — met privately with members of the Hanafi sect at considerable peril to themselves. Most of the lives they helped save were Jewish. And the act was one of outright humanity, transcending personal or political considerations.

In publicly acknowledging the spontaneous and widespread response, Ambassador Ghorbal said he was particularly grateful that so many of the letters were from Jews. He acted, he said, "in full determination about needing to help a human being."

Through his action and that of his colleagues, and through the response it generated, a new link was formed between individuals who have long had reason to mistrust each other. That small link may be an omen for better days ahead in the Mideast. —The Boston Globe.

Firms drill their own gas wells

By John Moorhead

Akron, Ohio

Near the wooded hillside where Soap Box Derby cars roll every year, a bright blue rocker arm stands beside a parking lot.

It is a gas well drilled by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company to ensure supplies of the vital process fuel.

Shortages of natural gas added to the impact of the deep freeze this past winter, with curtailments forcing some industries to shut down temporarily. Now companies are drilling deep into the earth in search of their private gas jets.

"The payout from the well is so poor that we would prefer to buy from the utility [East Ohio Gas Company] if we could get ensured supply," says Frank Tully, director of manufacturing services for Goodyear and the man in charge of the gas-drilling project.

"But we think things will get worse, and we decided that 10 to 15 years down the road we had to protect ourselves." The company plans to drill two more wells this spring in Akron and is studying drilling sites at other plant locations in Ohio.

"Our need for gas is relatively limited, but critical, because there are processes for which we have found no substitute," Mr. Tully explains. "While we are trying to protect ourselves on supplies of natural gas, we are also trying to avoid the need to use it" by conducting research on alternative methods or substitute fuels.

Other companies with drilling plans include Goodyear's Akron neighbor, Firestone. "We have all the necessary approval and are getting ready to drill," says Firestone spokesman Robert Troyer.

General Motors has done extensive drilling near its Lordstown, Ohio, plant west of Youngstown. GM currently has 175 producing wells there. Through agreements with two Ohio utilities, East Ohio Gas and Columbia Gas, GM is able to use the utilities' pipelines to send gas to other company plants in Ohio, such as its central foundry in Defiance.

"Every plant that we were able to get gas to, continued to run throughout the curtailment," comments Dave Van Sickle of GM's energy-management division.

Republic Steel has several gas wells operating in southern Ohio and plans to drill more this year.

Goodyear's little blue rocker arm, pumping out the comparatively modest yield of 50,000 cubic feet a day supplied a radial-tire production line when East Ohio Gas turned off the spigot last winter. That kept 450 workers on the job despite the curtailment. There were gas-related work stoppages in some other of Goodyear's Ohio plants, however.

Goodyear plans to drill two more wells in Akron shortly and is studying other possible sites in Ohio. Says Mr. Tully: "By next winter, we hope to be able to maintain production in all of our Akron manufacturing facilities. Hopefully, too, we will have gas wells at other Ohio plants that will help to alleviate shortages from our regular suppliers."

Car mileage expenses may be deductible tax expense. . . . . .

Taxpayers who drive their automobiles for business, moving, charitable and medical purposes may be able to deduct such expenses on their tax returns, the Internal Revenue Service said.

Taxpayers who keep records of actual costs may claim operating expenses and fixed expenses, such as depreciation and insurace, for business use of their automobile. For deductible nonbusiness uses, only operating expenses may be claimed.

Instead of claiming actual expenses, taxpayers may use an optional mileage allowance method. Taxpayers can deduct 15¢ per mile for the first 15,000 miles and 10¢ per mile for each additional mile when their automobile for charitable, medical or moving expenses are allowed 7¢ per mile under tax guidelines. In all instances parking and toll fees may be claimed in addition to the mileage rate.

These deductions can be made only if the taxpayer was not reimbursed for the expenses by his or her employer. If the employer's reimbursement exceeds the employee's actual expenses, the amount of the excess must be shown as gross income, the IRS said.

For more details concerning business expenses, the free IRS Publication 463, "Travel, Entertainment and Gift Expenses," is available from local IRS offices.

AUSTIN NOTEBOOK

By Bill Kidd

Austin—Now that the 65th Legislature has passed the midpoint, in terms of days, in its regular session, it would be in order to assess what's been done, and what's left.

Actually, it's easier to note what hasn't been done, in terms of major issues facing lawmakers.

SCHOOL FINANCE, tax reform and that grab-bag of goodies known as the general appropriations bill remain to be faced—while malpractice insurance, which pitted doctors and trial lawyers in a Godzilla vs. The Smog Monster—type brouhaha, has been tackled but not yet brought down.

Which isn't to say lawmakers have been twiddling their thumbs.

Several major items, such as coal slurry pipelines, and innumerable smaller matters have been moved through, and the general tone of the session has been "business-like."

Speaker Bill Clayton says the House is movng a bit quicker than he had anticipated, with the Appropriations Committee expected to bring out its version of the biennial spending bill shortly.

And the Senate, exhibiting its usual aplomb, has been moving purposefully ahead as well.

Highway funding appears on the way to being unsnarled, following the Briscoe-Hobby summit conference, even if there are some slices off the loaf the governor wanted.

CLAYTON HOPES the pace of the session will continue as it has, with the process wrapping up by Memorial Day, a few days before the official end.

At the moment, school finance appears to be the biggest stumbling block, and the issue of teacher pay raises the area where lawmakers are likely to stump their toes the most.

Last session was billed as the "education session," but after much debate, numerous amendments and tough floor fights, a compromise measure was approved with members saying that they could come back in two years and improve things.

Now it's time to do so — and another round of debate and amendments — as indicated by 39 amendments in the House Public Education Committee — appears due when the bill reaches the House.

ON THE SENATE SIDE, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby likewise hopes for an early adjournment, perhaps as much as a week before the 140-day deadline.

Hobby feels school finance may be toughest issue and that finding some way to give West Texas much-sought tax relief, while preserving the ability of metropolitan districts to meet their needs will be the key to school finance.

While it will be tough, "it's not beyond human wit," Hobby feels.

Hobby expects the Senate to move its versions of school finance and the appropriations bill out shortly, with the appropriations bill likely to be in conference committee around the end of April.

The reason the session has had a faster start appears to be the number of veteran lawmakers returning on both sides of the rotunda, the veteran leadership in both House and Senate, the fact that many of the issues are re-runs, and the lack of an inauguration to distract lawmakers during the first two weeks.

Hobby also sees the prefiling of bills as a significant factor — although not as many folks in either the House or Senate took advantage of the prefiling provisions to get legislation in as might have.

SO THE LEGISLATURE at mid-point in time still has about three-quarters of its work ahead of it, just as has been true in other sessions.

But it looks like the major issues, such as appropriations, may be spaced out a bit more evenly, instead of all being crammed into the end-of-session crush.

No one expects that crush to be avoided, but it looks as if legislators will have a bit more time to discuss and consider those issues still facing them — if they want to.

Whether they do, and how well they do it, won't be known until the final half of this session is over.

STATE Capital NEWS

AUSTIN — House Speaker Bill Clayton, "laying rumors to rest," announced he will seek an unprecedented third term as House speaker in 1979.

Clayton, 48, denied any interest in running for U.S. senator or lieutenant governor next year or in getting the state agriculture commissioner's post vacated by veteran John C. White.

He told reporters he has 90 firm pledges of support in 1979, virtually ruling out any genuine contest unless some of his backers change their minds.

"If we allow a speaker's race to develop, it could throw us off schedule in handling the important legislation we face, and we could end up in a last-minute tangle as has happended in the past," said Clayton.

Others speculated that Clayton, anticipating difficult times ahead in the 1977 legislative session that will test powers of leadership, wanted to demonstrate that he is no lame duck boss of the House.

Rep. Buddy Temple of Diboll said he is still a candidate for 1979 speaker and sees nothing wrong or unusual with having a race on during a session.

Other potential candidates — Reps. Bill Sullivant of Gainesville, Tom Schieffer of Fort Worth, Tom Uher of Bay City and John Wilson of La Grange — indicated they have no intention of taking on Clayton for the speakership.

Charge Unwanted

Texas senators expressed their firm disapproval of a telephone directory assistance or information charge permitted by the Public Utility Commission.

They voted 19-9 to prohibit such charges in spite of warnings the bill may actually lead to higher monthly phone rates for most subscribers.

Southwestern Bell Vice President Doyle Rogers announced after the vote 96 per cent of residential telephone customers and 87 per cent of business customers pay no directory assistance charges. The first 10 such calls per month are free, and a 20 cent charge is levied for each additional call over that level.

Rogers called the bill "anti-consumer," and said if the bill becomes law, costs of the service will have to be spread system-wide to all customers rather than just those who lean heavily on information operators.

Senate Acts

Coal slurry pipeline legislation and a multi-billion tax break for farmers won Senate approval last week, but senators stalled the first effort to bring up a controversial measure which would raise consumer loan interest rates.

Slurry pipelines would be granted power to condemn rights of way under SB 185.

SJR 1 would authorize special tax valuation formulas for farm, ranch and timber lands.

The loan bill received an 18-12 vote on a motion to bring it up for consideration — two short of the necessary two-thirds majority for order-of-business rules suspension.

Meanwhile, another controversial measure before lawmakers — medical malpractice legislation — was slated for a House test this week.

Courts Speak

In a split decision, the Texas Supreme Court found a wheat farmer is a "merchant" in so far as being bound to an oral agreement to sell his crop for $3.56 a bushel.

The high court said a data processing company is not obliged to pay a sales tax if its primary product is service rather than computer punchcards.

The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed a San Antonio death penalty murder conviction because a defense psycholigist was not permitted to testify.

Another murder case was sent back to Dallas for new trial due to testimony about a previous gun offense by the woman defendant.

An El Paso County embezzlement conviction also was reversed because the state did not recall a key witness.

AG Opinions

A Texas medical school is not prohibited from imposing admission requirements for students who have attended foreign medical schools, Atty. Gen. John Hill determined.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

— Contributions for election expenses or non-reimbursable office expenses do not constitute "pecuniary benefits" if legally reported as contributions under the election code and are not within the scope of penal code sections.

— The family code prohibits a law enforcement agency from fingerprinting a child except under certain exceptions.

— A visiting court reporter from another county judicial district is not entitled to per diem in addition to expenses.

— The chairman of the Texas Youth Coucil is a member of the council entitled to vote on matters before the body, and the group cannot limit or restrict his voting privileges.

Short Snorts

Former State Rep. Ralph Wayne of Plainview will become new state deputy comptroller and chief clerk, succeeding Randall B. Wood of Austin who is entering private law practice.

Texas cities last year collected $11.7 million from occupants of hotel rooms, up 22 per cent from 1975.

A bill to allow terminally ill persons to direct that their lives not be sustained artificially by machines received Senate committee approval.

Dr. Kenneth D. Gaver, Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation commissioner, is the new chairman of the national accreditiation council of psychiatric hospitals.

Average calendar day allowable of Texas oil production as of March 15 was 3.6 million barrels.

"I am boycotting the businesses whose employees park on the square"

March 23, 1977

Letter to the Editor:

The Sun's article on the square's parking problem gave me hope that maybe, this time, something would really be done. Much to my dismay, however, I feel I must be one of the very few employers who read it.

When I look out my shop window each day and can count at least one dozen cars of employees just on the south side of the square, I feel both angry and hurt. Don't these people realize I make my living off the people who park at my curb? Since neither I nor my employees park in the two spaces in front of my building, don't I have some moral right to expect that those two spaces can be for my customers, and not some secretary up the street.

Even though other businesses do not care about my business, certainly they should be concerned about their own. Many shops and offices on the square have at least three employers and/or employees park in front of their business daily. Where do they expect their customers to park? Do they want an unhappy disgruntled customer who has driven around the block four times and then had to walk two blocks? Or maybe they just drove to a shopping center instead!

As a concerned Georgetown resident and business-owner, I have resolved to boycott all businesses that allow employees to park on the square, for these businesses are not only being inconsiderate, but they obviously do not value you or me as a customer. I am sure most businesses do not care about my patronage, but if you, the reader, will join with me in this resolve, we may turn the tide!

Our local police force tries diligently to control the parking, but is almost powerless since the parking meters were voted out of Georgetown. The present policy of marking tires will succeed only in a town of honest people, not people who "sneak" out of parking tickets by backing up or driving around the block. I would be embarrassed to have anyone see me breaking the law in broad daylight; for that is precisely what they are doing. The signs say two hour parking; not 'park all day if you can get away with it.' It is disgusting to watch these working people, most of whom are over thirty-five years of age, break laws, and then bemoan the state of our young people or our political system. They should be smart enough to see they are doing the same thing.

Legally I have no control at all over any other private business, but as I help pay the salaries of city, county, state, and federal employees, I feel I can speak about this group. The Williamson County Courthouse has no written policy on parking of employees. It is a well-known fact, however, that workers in this building spend many minutes each day moving their cars around the square. I, for one, do not appreciate the hours of salary time an employee spends moving his car each month. The courthouse is a busy public place, and each parking space around it is needed by all of us. Many people using the courthouse facilities are either elderly or disabled in some way; they have a hard time just getting up the steps.

Our city has provided us with very nice parking lots never more than two blocks from the square. It takes less than five minutes to walk those two blocks. That is much less time than moving a car three or four times a day, besides the fuel it wastes.

Those who are guilty will be the only people offended by this letter. I really don't care about them, because they obviously don't care about their neighbor, their job, their business, their town, or the law. Let's show them we care. Unite for a growing Georgetown.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Carol Trevathan

Reconstitute means to restore concentrated food. Frozen orange juice is one good example—add water and you have the whole product. Dry milk works the same way—reconstitute, following the package directions, Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says.

SU freshmen to visit Chicago

Southwestern University freshmen will have an opportunity to study their subject first hand when they leave by train for Chicago Tuesday, March 29.

The students, enrolled in the new "Humanities in Practice" course, have been focusing this semester on Chicago, 1885-1915.

Following considerable reading, lecture and discussion on historic figures, the culture and economy, and the architecture that grew from Chicago—the students will spend a week visiting those places they studied.

The trip is an optional feature of the course, and the students will be spending part of their spring vacation making the seven-day journey.

"We think it will be both educational and a lot of fun," says Dr. Martha Allen, chairman of the Humanities Division and one of six faculty members who will travel with the students.

Chicago was chosen as a focus of study when those designing the course decided that American history in the late 19th century was needed in the humanities curriculum.

"The more we looked at it, the more we realized that Chicago during this period was the center of what was going on," Dr. Allen said.

Among the places the Southwestern group will visit will be Hull House, the settlement house established in 1889 by Jane Addams to meet the social, recreational and cultural needs of the poor in a section of Chicago.

They will visit the site of the Columbian Exposition, a world's fair of 1893; Pullman Town, site of the Pullman strike of 1894; Robie House, designed by Frank Lloyd Wright, and the auditorium designed by Lewis Sullivan, two architects studied by the group.

And they will spend time on the Northwestern University and the University of Chicago campuses, in several museums, in Old Town, and at the Board of Trade.

They will also be spending a number of hours on the train. "This will be a new experience for most of the students and should be fun," said Dr. Allen.

University Chaplain Farley Snell and Dr. Ellsworth Peterson, chairholder and chairman of the Music Dept., will serve as tour guides.

Other faculty members planning to make the trip are Dr. Karen Fisher, Claude Kennard, and Mrs. Elizabeth Lundblad.

Students planning to go are Bryan Russ, Mark McPhial, Mark Wood, Jackie Hooper, Grace Bernhardt, M'Lynda Wilsher, Ann Worthing, Laura Williams, Beth Whitfield, Richell Keene, Sarah Tunnell, and Laura Moffitt.

Top rally drivers to compete over area roads Saturday

Top sports car rallyists from the entire southern half of the United States are going to converge on western Williamson County as well as areas of Bell and Burnet counties today (Saturday, March 26) for the 1977 running of the Sports Car Club of America's Rustler's Run National Rally.

Rally headquarters will be located at the Stagecoach Inn in Salado, with the rally course itself running southwest into the scenic Texas Hill Country.

THIS YEAR'S Rustler's Run will cover approximately 215 miles of paved road in the western part of the county. The course has been carefully calculated by SCCA officials, to determine the time it should take a car to travel the exact course at precise legal speeds specified in the instructions.

In SCCA championship rallying, competitors are divided into classes according to the type and amount of navigational equipment used; Class A having no equipment limitations, Class B strictly limited equipment, and Class C (often referred to as SOP—Seat of the Pants), in which no equipment is allowed. Even the car's odometer is taped over. Many competitors in Rustler's Run are actually pro rallyists competing in cars especially prepared for this particular rally. These competitors will participate as amateurs.

The rally will get underway as the first car leaves the Stagecoach Inn at 7:31 a.m. Saturday.

The public is invited to attend.

Athletes, weight control

Too-rapid weight loss by athletes diminishes strength and endurance, Mrs. Mary Sweeten, a foods and nutrition specialist, says.

She specifically cautioned against "too-rapid weight loss by starvation, dehydration, super vitamins and fad diets.

"Instead, the best way to reduce body weight — and achieve a maximum ratio of muscle strength to body weight — is by eating a lower-calorie balanced diet and increasing exercise moderately," the specialist recommended.

"THAT REDUCES excess body fat and increases muscle strength," she added.

Mrs. Sweeten is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

On the other hand, athletes wanting to gain weight should increase weight as muscle mass and not fat, the specialist pointed out.

"THE ONLY WAY to increase muscle mass is by exercising more and eating appropriately, because no food vitamin, drug or hormone alone will achieve this increase in muscle mass. Also, a higher caloric diet to increase muscle mass should be in animal fats and cholesterol."

However, whether the athlete wants to lose or gain weight, the daily diet should include at least two 2-3-ounce servings of Meat Group Foods, two to three servings of Milk Group Foods, and four or more servings daily from Fruit and Vegetable—and Bread and Cereal Groups.

Pirates blast Wartburg, face St. Mary's Saturday

Southwestern's Pirates removed a wart Thursday, but will be facing a much more serious operation — like snake bite — when they face St. Mary's Rattlers in Georgetown Saturday (today).

THE BUCS bombed Wartburg College of Iowa 5-0 and 16-7 Thursday as Bobby Fuller, Joe Farr and Steve Wendtland all hit home runs in the same inning of the second game. It was Farr's second grand-slam homer in five days.

Wendtland had just finished winning his fourth game against no losses as Pirate pitcher in the first game, striking out seven, walking four while allowing five hits.

The shut-out made him feel so good that he went three-for-three at the plate including the three-run-homer as a designated hitter in the second contest.

Wartburg had actually gone into a 5-2 lead in the third inning before the Bucs broke loose with the home run brigade and 14 runs in the fourth inning, a school record for one-inning scoring for the state's oldest university.

Rick Gravens, along with Bill Harlow, Bruce Partain and Kelvin Blank pitched for Southwestern in the second game with Gravens getting the win, his fourth with no losses.

THE BIG GAMES will be Saturday, however, when the Pirates take on defending champion St. Mary's in a double-header at Georgetown's San Gabriel Park beginning at 1 p. m. Admission is free.

Southwestern finished half a game behind the Rattlers in the Big State Conference last year as each team won a game over the other in league play. The Bucs also dropped a game to Texas Lutheran last year which put them second in the standings.

This year conference schools will be playing each other three times instead of twice, and the double-header in Georgetown this afternoon is expected to put the winner in the conference driver's seat.

St. Mary's edged another strong contender, TLC, 10-9 in the conference opener for those teams last Saturday while Southwestern rolled over Huston-Tillotson in two games in Austin.

THIS WEEK St. Edward's upset East Texas Baptist taking two of three games in the conference openers for those schools. ETBC had come into Austin with a sparkling 13-1 record before running into the Hilltoppers.

Statistiscally Southwestern gained four points in team batting, from .308 to .312, while Bruce Fell improved his individual stats by jumping up to .371 from .338. Steve Klopp pirated two more stolen bases for a total of nine for the season. He led the team in that department last year with 12.

The Pirates now own a 21-11 season record.

Tennis match re-set

The men's tennis match between Southwestern University and St. Mary's University scheduled for last Thursday was postponed because of rain.

The conference match has been re-scheduled for 2 p.m. April 12 in Georgetown.

Buc golfers dominate own tourney

Pirate golfers from Southwestern University took most of the booty from their own tournament Thursday as their "black" team won first and their "gold" team third in the eight-team meet.

Coach Bill Merritt has been having some difficulty in deciding which four among his eight golfers are best, so he arbitrarily divided them into two teams for the tournament at Georgetown Country Club.

THE "BLACK" TEAM featured consistency as Les Russell, Smith Tonahill, and Steve Doering all fired 72's and Clay Cornett 73 for the winning 289 total.

Jerry Birkelbach of the "gold" fired a 69, however, to place second in individual play behind Southwest Texas State's Bill Wooley with a 68. SWT's Wade Smith was third in individual play with a 71 followed by most of the other Southwestern players in the top 10.

The other "gold" team members and their scores were Steve Wilkins, 72; Ricky Preston, 76; and Garry Hammac, 81.

Team scores following Southwestern's "Black" were SWT 294, SU "gold" 298, Texas Lutheran 301, Midland Lutheran of Nebraska 314, St. Mary's 321, St. Edward's 329, and Huston-Tillotson (three players).

THE PIRATE GOLFERS will next play April 1 in an Austin tournament with the University of Texas, TLC, Huston-Tillotson, and St. Edward's. The meet will be on the Morris Williams course, one of two courses where the conference tournament will be held April 14-15.

"All eight of our team did better than I expected," Coach Merritt said. "If we would feel that we could play on other courses like we play on ours, we would be in good shape.

"That's our goal right now — we've got to improve our mental approach, or confidence," Merritt said.

Babe Ruth plans 13 year-old league

Babe Ruth League organizers are beginning a league for 13 year-olds only, league president James Knight said, and are accepting signees through April 1.

The league is open to all boys who will be 13 as of July 31.

Cost for registering for the league is $10, and applicants must have a birth certificate as proof of age.

Three teams are planned so far, with Jim Barksdale, Bodie McCormick and Archie Schneider as coaches, although Knight said a fourth team will be added if necessary.

Play begins April 25.

For more information, contact Knight at 863-6161 or Weldon Petty at 863-2637.

SU's women netters continue winning ways

The women's tennis team at Southwestern University continued its winning streak by beating St. Edward's University and Concordia this week.

THE PIRATE WOMEN now have nine wins against only one defeat, and they have a chance to avenge that loss when they host Baylor in the final match of the season in Georgetown Tuesday at 2 p.m.

Southwestern downed St. Edward's 5-1 in Georgetown Wednesday, winning all the singles matches and splitting in doubles play.

Laura Moffitt beat Michelle Hannah 6-3, 6-4; Carole Gordon topped Teresa Salamone 7-6, 6-2, Julie Crain blasted Ann Harris 6-1, 6-1; and Gayle Murphy beat Carolyn Czichos 6-0, 7-6.

In doubles Moffitt and Crain beat Hannah and Salamone 6-2, 6-2; and SU's Liz Hedley and Beth Hollingsworth dropped a match to Harris and Czichos 4-6, 6-2, 3-6.

AGAINST CONCORDIA in Austin Tuesday Moffitt beat Cindy Akridge 6-1, 6-1; Gordon topped Mary Ware 6-0, 6-0; Crain beat Annette Belcher 6-1, 6-0; and Murphy defeated Cindy Pace 6-0, 6-0.

In doubles the Pirates beat Concordia as Moffitt and Crain topped Akridge and Ware 6-2, 6-0 and Gordon and Murphy beat Belcher and Pace 6-0, 6-1.

Baylor defeated Southwestern 6-1 in Waco early in the season in some close matches. Coach Glada Munt feels her team has a chance of reversing the score although the Bucs may be without the help of Moffitt, their top-seeded player, who has to catch a train to Chicago that afternoon for a humanities course field trip. Moffitt, a San Marcos freshman, was the only winner against Baylor in the first match.

The Baylor match, scheduled on the Georgetown Country Club courts, will be the final one for Southwestern this year. The team has cancelled plans to participate in the zone tournament of the Texas Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women because of conflicts of schedules by the players.

G'town Sportsmen land bass bonanza in March tourney

The Georgetown Sportsman's Club held its March tournament on Lake Belton last Sunday.

THE DAY started out cloudy and cold, but the fish didn't seem to mind at all. They took almost any kind of bait that was thrown at them, and they were taken at various depths.

Most of the larger fish, however, were caught on plastic worms in 10 to 20 feet of water. The colors that paid off best were black, purple and strawberry.

There were eleven teams that fished the tournament and they weighed in an average of 10 lbs. 1 oz., although most of them reported catching many smaller fish which would not meet the 12 inch club minimum and were released.

The winning teams were:

First place — Erasmo Acevedo and Jackie Kirk — 24 lbs.

Second place — Roger Baker and Allen Petty — 12 lbs. 10 oz.

Third place — Jim Brown and Fred Henry — 11 lbs. 3 oz.

Big bass which weighed 5 lb. 9 oz. was caught by Jackie Kirk.

THE TOP TEN standings for the year so far are as follows:

1.	Jim Brown	400
2.	Ken Stanford	355
3.	Jackie Kirk	289
4.	Paul Bohanan	241
5.	Roger Baker	233
6.	Gary Kurio	227
7.	Erasmo Acevedo	172
8.	R. L. Smedley	139
9.	Butch Floyd	125
10.	Allen Petty	118

The next meeting of the Georgetown Sportsman's Club will be Thursday, April 7th at 8 p.m. in the Stonehaven Community Center. Visitors are welcome. For further information, call Fred Henry at 863-6074.

Beef is aged to develop additional tenderness and characteristic flavor. Aging requires special conditions. Aged beef means that the beef is held at temperatures 34-38 degrees F. for three to six weeks or held for two days at about 70 degrees F. Ultraviolet light is used to reduce bacterial growth in the second method, explains Mrs. Mary Sweeten, foods and nutrition specialist.

DISCOVER 4-H

By CAROLYN BONNER & EDWARD WILKIE

Youth across the county are getting started working on 4-H demonstrations. A demonstration is an 8 to 12 minute presentation by a team or individual, and can be given on any topic related to a 4-H project.

If any 4-Her is thinking about giving a demonstration and needs help in getting things together. Call us at 863-2318 and we will be happy to help you.

There will be a food preservation workshop for 4-Hers and interested youth on Tuesday night, April 12. The meeting will be held at 7 p.m. at the Texas Power and Light Meeting Room in Taylor.

WE WILL DEMONSTRATE canning and freezing methods, for safety and good quality products. This is planned especially for youth, but adults are welcome. Mark your calendar for April 12 at 7 p.m. and come learn proper food preservation.

THE TEXAS 4-H Leaders Forum is just around the corner. The forum is for all interested 4-H leaders and is an excellent opportunity for leaders to learn together and have a lot of fun.

The forum will be held April 15-16-17 at the Texas 4-H Center on Lake Brownwood. The forum begins at noon on Friday and is over at noon Sunday. Speakers, panels, seminars and films are planned. This adds up to a great experience for the 4-H leaders.

Any 4-H leader interested in attending all or a part of the forum should contact us at the 3rd floor of the Courthouse, Georgetown, Texas, for more information.

On June 20-24 there will be a statewide 4-H Roping School held in Stephenville, Texas. The school will be held at the Burrus Indoor Arena on the west side of town. This event is being developed in order to encourage young men and women in 4-H to develop leadership and to exercise their abilities in working with younger members in roping activities in 4-H. Participation is open to all districts of the state, with membership being offered on a first-come, first-serve basis to those boys and girls who are 14 years of age and older. Special emphasis will be placed on teaching methods and providing material which will make this possible.

The cost of the school will be $60.00 for the week. This will include group insurance, meals, lodging, stall rent for the horses and will cover the cost of practice calves used in the teaching process itself. The meals will be taken in the Tarleton State University Dining Room. The students will be housed in the Tarleton State University Dormitories.

It is planned that this school will begin at 1 p.m. Monday, June 20 and will be completed about 4 p.m. Friday afternoon, June 24. It will be necessary to have the horses removed from the Burrus Arena area by Saturday morning as there will be a Jackpot Roping held over the weekend.

Any Williamson County 4-H Club member who is interested in attending this school should contact the County Extension Office for an application form and a copy of the rules for participants. The deadline for submitting your application to the County Extension Office is Friday, April 15.

First Baptist youth will be leading revival

The First Baptist Church of Georgetown is planning a revival March 28 through April 3, using their own church youth.

Those proclaiming the gospel for the revival are Paul Sutton, Jeff Hoppe, Tim Cummins, Mark Whitten, Larry Simpson, Jay Wolf and George Simms.

Paul Sutton has been Youth Director at First Baptist for the past four years. He is now in his third year at Southwestern Seminary.

JEFF HOPPE is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Hoppe, owners of Hoppe Construction Company. Last summer he was summer Youth Director at First Baptist Church in Tyler. Jeff is a senior at Baylor and on graduation he plans to enter the Proclaiming Ministry.

Tim Cummins was an honor graduate of Georgetown High School. He is currently a freshman oral communications major at Baylor. The Proclaiming Ministry is also his goal after graduation.

Mark Whitten is a senior at Baylor and is currently Pastor of the Weir Baptist Church. A Georgetown native, Mark was a GHS honor graduate, too, and a member of the Crestview Baptist Church.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Simpson, owners of Century 21 Real Estate, Larry Simpson is working for Youth for Christ in Katy, Texas.

JAY WOLF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Wolf, is another GHS honor graduate. He is currently a senior at Baylor and president of the student body there. After graduation he plans to minister for God through Proclamation.

The final young man to be spreading the gospel for the First Baptist revival is George Simms, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Simms. George is finishing his third year at Southwestern Seminary. He plans to prepare for a ministry of Proclamation as a teacher and preacher.

Aside from the leadership of these young men, the revival will also involve song. Mrs. Thomas (Dodie) Griffith will sing during Sunday and Monday services. Don Cook of Austin will sing Tuesday. Two groups from Baylor University will also lend their voices to the week's services on Wednesday. On Saturday, the Wilson Family, Austin recording artists will add their vocal tribute.

Other special events on the schedule for the week are testimonies of Baylor athletes on Tuesday and Thursday. A special emphasis on the Fellowship of Christian Athletes will also be part of the Thursday program. A Fellowship "rap session" for young people will follow the evening service on that night.

ACCORDING TO PASTOR Al Cummins, "Seldom does a town or church our size have this many tremendously talented young people going into the ministry — young men who combine certain qualities of high scholarship, deep sense of Christian commitment and ability to develop wide range personal relationships.

"It would be interesting to keep the revival poster and take it out 20 years from now," he added, "to see where these young men are. I think we will be terribly proud of a town that produced this kind of young men and a community that attracted families such as these."

Burson will go to conference

Mike Burson has qualified to attend a career conference of New York Life Insurance Company agents April 18-20 in Dallas, Texas, according to General Manager Donald R. Edwards, CLU, of the company's Austin General Office.

He will join other agents and company executives for educational work in life underwriting, health and employee protection insurance.

Papers were signed Saturday making Miss Coleen Beck the owner of the W. C. Love building on the corner of Main and Brewster streets.

For sentimental reasons, to sell this building was a hard decision to make. My father, W. C. Love bought the corner lot with a wooden building in 1895 when he was a young single man and put in a hardware and grocery store. The rock building was built in 1910.

From the time I was a small child, I played in the back yard, which was fenced, and went to the store to stay until my father and uncle went home. There were always two showcases of candy and one of chewing gum and numbers of boxes of apples and oranges. Though my father was very generous we never were allowed to just help ourselves to the candy. He told us to get a certain number of pieces. That made it hard to choose when it all looked so good. I was never tempted to take oranges or apples as I never cared for raw fruit.

Now our hope is that the building will be made into something of which our father would be proud. He loved that site and building.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Pope of Irving are parents of the bridegroom who attended Irving schools and is presently employed with Jay's Moving Service of Irving.

When a person enters the shared life of marriage, the right to have privacy should not be surrendered, advises Dorthy Taylor, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

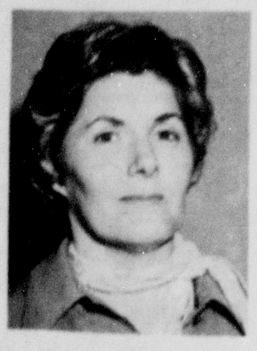
Georgetown school board candidates

The Sunday SUN
Page 8
Georgetown, Texas
Sunday, March 27, 1977

1. What are your three major concerns about the Georgetown schools?
2. What emphasis do you place on vocational versus academic programs in the local schools?
3. Are you satisfied with the current relationships between teachers and administrators? What is the responsibility of the administration to teachers and their professional organizations?
4. Do you favor enforcement of Title IX regulations (equal treatment for male and female students)? Are you aware that the school board has just passed a policy (the student dress code) which does not comply with Title IX and thus jeapordizes all federal funding? What would you do to see that the school district complies with these federal regulations?
5. What is the role of the physical education program in the schools?
6. How do you feel about the new Georgetown Community Education Program? Do you think the program should be expanded and continued year-round?
7. What should the relationship between the school board and the school administration be?
8. Do you feel the present curriculum in the high school is adequate?
9. What are your concerns and priorities for children in the primary school?
10. How do you plan to deal with the rapid growth of the school system and the critical need for space at the primary level?
11. As an elected official, what would your budget priorities be?
12. Do you feel a responsibility to obtain input from the public concerning the decisions and priorities of the board? How would you obtain this input?
13. What kind of preparation (reading and continuing study) will you undertake if you are elected to the school board?

DONNA BARKSDALE



1. My three major concerns for the Georgetown schools are:
a. that we prepare our children for a future that will benefit all of us;
b. in order to prepare our children we must have the best possible faculty and adequate facilities; and c. the only way we can achieve these goals for our children is to get the most out of every tax dollar we spend.

2. Vocational and academic programs should not be in competition with each other. Georgetown has a very good vocational program, and I would like to build our academic program to compliment the vocational. Both programs are necessary for comprehensive educational growth.

3. Teachers and administrators must work in close harmony for the benefit of all students. The administration should respect the skills and accomplishments of the teachers, and use their expertise in forming goals and policy for the school system. In return, the teachers must have a respect for the administrators in implementing these policies. The administration should encourage teacher participation in professional organizations as long as they are dedicated to professional growth and not personal benefits.

4. Every student should be given the opportunity to participate in any activity that he or she might desire. Georgetown has made great progress in girls' athletics, and also in boy-girl participation in vocational programs. I think this can be useful for a well-rounded education. I am aware of the recent school board action and the emotional state it has caused. This is now seen as a yes or no issue. What about an intermediate ground that all can be comfortable with? Personally, I can go along with students having discretion in their dress desires, but only to the extent that others are not distracted and discipline is not jeopardized.

5. Physical education is a vital part of each student's preparation for the future. Exercise has been proven necessary in keeping our bodies healthy. Beginning in the early grades, I would like to see a program of life-time sports. When we are physically fit, our concentration ability is such that classroom attention is greatly improved. Physical education can be fun as well as a valuable learning tool, if properly administered.

6. The new Community Education program has been very well received, and I would like to see it continued. Adult education is one of the best ways we can involve all Georgetown citizens in the use of school facilities and money. I would like to see the program expanded into other schools and continued on a twelve month basis.

7. The school board and the administration must have a working relationship that will accomplish the most productive learning situation for the students. As I understand, the role of the board is to set goals and policy for the school system. The administration is then responsible for carrying out these goals. There must be a positive attitude on the part of both groups for this procedure to succeed.

8. The present curriculum in the high school is probably adequate, but I can certainly see areas that could be strengthened to fit the needs of a changing society. Our foreign language and behavorial sciences are inadequate. The students entering adulthood in the future will have many different occupations to consider. I would like to feel that our school system has done its best to prepare these students for whatever profession or vocation they choose.

9. I would really like to see the children at the primary level have a positive learning experience from the very beginning. We must challenge our students with the basic knowledge of reading, writing, and number sense. This can best be accomplished when they are surrounded by caring people who want to equip them with the necessary skills and tools to fulfill their potential.

10. A master plan that will deal with the rapid growth we are experiencing is absolutely necessary. This plan must be available for review by all the community and it must be closely adhered to. It is regrettable that we are not better prepared for what is upon us right now. Our future depends on the learning situation of our children and this must be our first priority. In years past it was recognized that a need existed to provide a good education for each of us. Today, we have this same obligation to our children.

11. As an elected official, it will be my duty to closely monitor and manage the funds of the school district. Space in the lower grades is an absolute necessity. If we are to strengthen our curriculum, we will certainly need learning materials which will help challenge the students. In this time of rapid change and tight money supplies, I cannot stress enough the need to spend our money wisely.

12. The school board is responsible to the community. Therefore, it would seem only right that we obtain input from the public. I would like to see the board form work areas and the members be responsible for determining if we are getting the most from the money we are spending. Our goals and priorities must be meeting the needs of the students. I would like to have some board meetings over the radio. Public attendance at board meetings should always be encouraged, and an agenda should always be readily available to the public before each meeting.

13. I have attended school board meetings on a regular basis for a number of months. In order for me to be continually prepared, I realize that it will be absolutely necessary to study the policy book, the minutes of the previous meeting, and the agenda for the upcoming meeting. The money dispensed each month must be closely watched. Time must be spent obtaining input from our administrators and teachers concerning their needs. This will take many hours if I am to be a contributing member of the board, and I am willing to give this time to my community.

For the Good of Our Children
Donna Barksdale
The qualified choice for School Board

JAMES DRAEGER

1. a. Quality education for all students
b. Long term planning for the physical facilities
c. Development of future academic programs

2. I don't think that academic and vocational programs should be pitted against each other. Both programs are important. Each individual student should make his or her choice according to his or her abilities and desires. The school district should offer quality courses in each of these programs.

3. In general, I believe the relationships are good. However, there are certain areas in which I would like to see improvement. I believe it is the responsibility of adminstrators to encourage teachers to participate in organizations that will promote enrichment in their field and organizations that will provide a channel of communication between the teachers and parents.

4. I am in favor of enforcement of Title IX regulations and believe we are in compliance with these regulations. As an incumbent board member, I am aware that the board recently approved the school manual which included the dress code that has been in effect for several years. Federal courts have upheld dress codes as being legal. To my knowledge, no school district has lost federal funds because of a dress code. Therefore, I do not feel our federal funds are in jeopardy.

5. No educational system is complete unless its curriculum includes a strong physical education program. Along with their minds, children's bodies need an education too. During children's growing years, they need help in developing better coordination and building stronger, healthier bodies. I feel we definitely need improvement of the physical education program in the lower grades where at the present time, it is lacking or non-existent. The elementary curriculum should include regularly scheduled exercises and free and organized play. In addition to the present improvements being made in the upper grades, I would like to see a gymnastic program and the expansion of life time sports.

If this question refers to physical education as being extra curricular football, basketball, etc., I feel these programs should supplement the physical education program and should not be given any higher priority than any other subject.

6. I have endorsed the Community Education program and encourage participation. This is an excellent opportunity to further mental skills and develop new hobbies in different areas of interest to all age groups.

If interest continues to grow and we have more participants, I feel the program should be expanded and continued to a twelve month basis, providing we receive state funding for the program or the program becomes self-supporting.

7. The school board should function as a policy making body. The administration's responsibility is to handle the day to day affairs and enforce the board's policies. Mutual respect should lead to open lines of communication resulting in sound policies and the best education possible for our students.

8. We must never take the position that everything is adequate, but strive to continually improve our curriculum. However, we must realize that a school district our size will never be able to offer every course that will be requested. In the past, we have offered courses and have had only a few students enroll. This is not financially feasible within our limited budget. With the recent addition of a full time curriculum director, I believe we will see improvement in the development of our academic program, allowing it to meet the continually expanding and changing needs of our students.

9. With the projected enrollment increase and all day kindergarten coming, we must assign the enlargement of our physical facilities as our number one priority for the primary school. This will entail additional classrooms, a new cafeteria and repairs to the present building.

In addition, I would like to see:
a. physical education program instituted,
b. an expanded program for gifted children
c. continuing improvements in our special education program
d. a greater emphasis on the development of children's creative abilities through art and language.

10. The school board has been studying our future needs for the last several months. The junior high must be expanded and restroom and locker areas increased. Westside school must be expanded with additional classrooms and cafeteria. Primary school needs classroom, cafeteria and general repairs. This growth must be planned in such a manner that we will be able to meet our students' needs and at the same time, do not put an additional unreasonable tax burden on the taxpayers. Personally, I endorse the proposed pending state legislation that would eliminate or drastically reduce property taxes.

11. I have no particular spending priorities except as stated in the previous answer. We will need to expand our facilities to meet our growth. We must provide our teachers with adequate supplies and teaching materials.

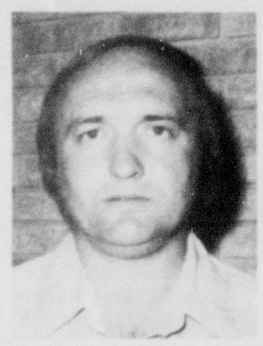
I feel we must continue updating our bus fleet in order to meet the increased number of routes and by having good equipment, we are reducing the cost of repairs and down time.

I do believe that we must spend the tax dollar wisely and not spend money for the sake of spending on items that do not carry a high priority. Spending must be maintained at a level consistent with revenues.

12. A board member has a definite responsibility to obtain information from the public. They elected him to represent them and he must listen to determine their desires. The public must serve as a board member's eyes and ears and express their opinions to him. He must be understanding of personal situations and simultaneously keep the overall picture in perspective. The board member must be easily available to the public to obtain input by personal contact, phone calls or letters to keep informed of the public's wishes. In the past, I have actively solicited the opinions of concerned members of the community and will continue to do so. As a board member, I feel complimented that many have felt free to express their desires to me.

13. My preparation for the school board will continue to consist of reading articles published in such magazines as the TEXAS ASSOCIATION OF SCHOOL BOARDS and other periodicals that are available. These publications enable me to stay abreast of current educational philosophies. As in the past, I will study each item on the agenda prior to each board meeting and secure the necessary data along the public opinions to study the issues, enabling me to render a better informed decision.

BOBBY POPE



1. Three major concerns about the Georgetown schools:
a. Taxes — We should search for other means of funding to go along with our present taxes to keep taxes from going any higher than they are at the present time.
b. School facilities — We need more classroom space in our lower grades and we need to provide upkeep of our present school facilities. We also could use additional athletic facilities as funds permit.
c. I think it is important to continue our present school programs and keep the door open for improvement for the benefit of all students.

2. I believe it is important that we have a strong vocational and academic program for all of our students. I do not think we should sacrifice one for the other.

3. Yes, it appears to me we have a good working relationship between administration and teachers. The administration should encourage teachers to take part in their professional organizations.

4. I believe it is necessary for schools to have a dress code as long as it is carried out equally among the students, whether male or female. I intend to carry out whatever regulations are lawful. I understand that Title IX is administered by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare which makes it subject to the courts. At a school board meeting where this was brought up and voted on, I understood that Georgetown Independent School District was in compliance.

5. The role of physical education is a necessary part of the school's overall program. It not only provides recreational activity, but helps build character in the student. All students should be given the opportunity to participate in all sports.

6. I think it is good that we have such a program as Community Education. If the funds were available for this type of program to be offered on a 12-month basis, I think this would be fine; but, I do not think we should sacrifice the education of our students for such a program if funds are not available.

7. The school board is the policy making body and should see that its policies are being carried out by the administration. The working relationship between the school board and the administration should be good. The school board should be an extension of Georgetown Independent School District people's vote.

8. Yes, I think the present curriculum is adequate, but we must always keep the door open for improvement.

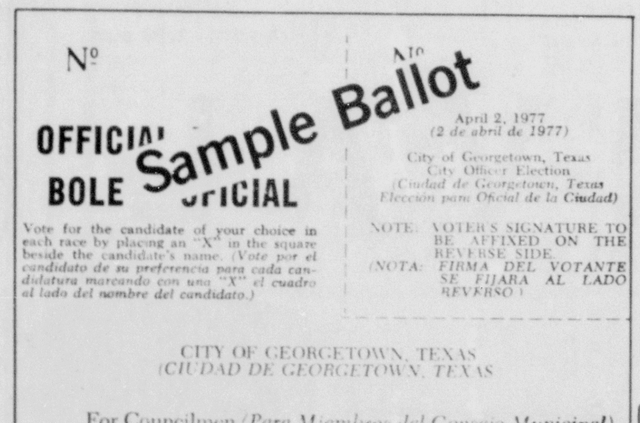
9. We should try to provide for the best teachers available to us for primary level. Classrooms should be kept small. In small classes the student can receive better and more personal instruction.

10. It seems to me that a bond election would be the only way to provide for additional classroom space.

11. Instruction and related expenses would be my first priority and next would be for debt against the school district.

12. The school board should listen to citizens of the school district. The public should and always is welcome to attend all school board meetings.

13. If elected I will do whatever reading or study necessary to become an informed board member.



Re-Elect April 2, 1977

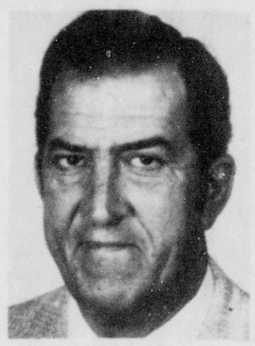
JOHN R. "BOBBY" THOMAS



1. a. Additional funding other than from local tax increases. Most school districts need additional state funding.
b. Lack of facilities — chief concern in this area is classroom and auxiliary space in the Primary and Westside schools, and upkeep of the present buildings.
c. Continuation of the many fine programs now in progress and expansion of the curriculum to meet the needs of all students.

2. The academic and vocational programs should not be in competition. I feel that both can and should be strong to meet the needs of each particular student.

3a. Yes, the relationship between administration and teachers is very good in most cases. In the Georgetown Independent School District this is shown by the fact that the faculty during the 1976-76 school year voted down the need for a consultation agreement to be drawn up. The comments from the faculty were that they had good administration and that if at any time this should change, then the faculty could approach the board about a consultation agreement.

3b. The administration should encourage the professional staff to participate in such organizations as is necessary for professional growth.

4. There should be no discrimination as far as race, color, sex or creed are concerned. The courts have upheld the right of the schools to have a reasonable dress code as long as it is written, approved and enforced indiscriminately. Title IX is administered by HEW and as such is subject to the court decisions.

5. The role of physical education is to provide for all students an opportunity to enjoy and appreciate athletic and recreational activities which include individual and carry-over sports. Physical education is a necessary and important part of the total school program, and the physical activities as part of the curriculum can be as important and fulfilling as any other part of the school program.

6. Community Education is very important to the GISD and should be expanded into other areas as funds permit. However, the primary function of the public schools is education of students K through 12 and they should not be short-changed in favor of Community Education.

7. The school board is the policy-making body. They are responsible to all the people of the community. The implementation of policy is the responsibility of the administration. The school board should evaluate all administrative personnel to see that board policies are being carried out. The relationship between the board and administrative staff can and should be good.

8. Additions can certainly be made to the present curriculum at the high school. However, it has been the policy of the board in the past to teach any subject of importance where sufficient student interest has been shown. The board has spent extra money to see that physics, calculus, and courses such as these are taught even with a low enrollment.

9. The Primary School must have small classes. The board has kept the classroom size around 25. Very strong emphasis should be placed on a basic program of reading, writing, language arts and mathematics.

10. The board has been working on plans to alleviate the crowded condition by a proposed bond issue to include additional classrooms for Primary School, Westside School and Northside Middle School. The proposal includes construction of a new cafeteria in each of the schools and renovation of the old cafeterias for additional classroom use.

11. The main budget priority is for instruction, which is approximately 75 percent of the budget. The next largest expenditure or priority is for debt service, which comprises about 10 percent of the total budget.

12. The board has in the past and does at the present encourage citizen input by attending school functions and open invitation to attend all school board meetings.

13. Any citizen or board member can keep abreast of current educational problems by attending conferences, reading periodicals such as Texas Association of School Board monthly bulletin, National School Board monthly bulletin and other current educational periodicals.

Sammy Davis axed

Networks strangle syndicators

By DAN LEWIS

Sammy Davis' Sunday night syndicated show, which had been considered successful, has been cancelled by its distributor, a victim of network greed.

Five years ago, the commercial networks were forced to move out of the syndication business. The FCC and Justice Department ruled the nets couldn't produce their own shows, run them on the networks, then put them into the syndication market for reruns when the shows ran their course in prime time. Then along came prime-time access, and syndicators found themselves in their own particular gold rush.

But while FCC and Justice Department took the networks out of syndication, they have been unable to prevent the TV networks from influencing the destinies of shows in syndication. Sammy Davis is a case in point.

For two seasons now, Syndicast has been distributing Sammy and Company. Not necessarily the hottest show to be offered off-network, and off prime-time (Sundays at 11:30p.m.), Sammy's show nevertheless had built a good roster of stations around the country. The 80 markets where it has been seen represents some 90 per cent of the U.S. market.

It was showing a good profit, according to Sheldon Boden and Len Koch, both executive vice presidents of Syndicast. The show, in fact, netted several hundred thousand dollars. Sammy himself was earning a good buck.

To do the show, he had to give up a number of weeks of lucrative nightclub engagements, but he was more than equally compensated.

Among the 80 or more stations airing the Sammy Davis weekly variety show were three of the five owned by NBC -- New York, Chicago, and Los Angeles, the three largest markets in the country. Combined, they represent 17 per cent of the total U.S. viewing market.

A few weeks ago, NBC's president, Robert Howard, disclosed that the network was going to offer its affiliates a late Sunday night major movie package, starting in the spring.

That obviously meant that NBC's stations in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles, listening to Big Daddy at the network, would have to pick up the movie package and cancel Sammy's show.

"It kills Sammy," Boden declared. "You can't lose those three major markets and stay alive. It takes away 17 per cent of the market, and a lot of money."

What it means is that the networks can still manipulate the competition and influence the growth of any syndicated show. Syndicators strive to make a package deal with any of the three networks to sign on for their owned-and-operated stations. By law, networks can own just five TV stations and if they subscribe to a prime-time access syndicated show for its channels, it virtually guarantees a full season run. A network guarantee is that lucrative.

But should a syndicator be moving other shows that intrude on the networks, or, if networks should intrude on non prime-time hours, as NBC has done to Sunday nights, clipping Sammy Davis' show, it leaves little doubt of the network power to control the situation. Sammy Davis did not represent competition to NBC, other than he happened to be in a spot the network figured could be more profitable with its own programming.

So, Sammy is to be replaced by movies in three markets, and his show goes down the drain.

Syndicast is not destitute, however. It has several other shows on the market, including a half-hour contemporary comedy show called "Bananas," which Don Kirshner, the music maven, is producing and a 60-minute variety-talk show hosted by Jim Nabors.

FRIDAY'S SPECIAL

EVENING

7:00 (7) ORAL ROBERTS SPECIAL

TV Dial-ogue

MONKEE MIKE -- I know that a couple of the Monkees are back together and touring regularly, but whatever happened to my favorite -- Mike Nesmith? Also, what was the nickname he used to go by when they first formed? Josie Callahan, High Point, N.C.

Mike Nesmith, easily the most talented of the original Monkees, has a new album out called simply "Michael Nesmith." Island Records is releasing it for distribution and took out a full page ad in Billboard, so they must have faith in it. He's made a number of albums over the years, mostly a kind of eccentric country-rock, and he is still something of a cult artist on the West Coast. The nickname was "Wool Hat," derived from his wearing a wool watch cap most of the time.

DEAD MAN -- I loved Rich Man, Poor Man, Book II, but why, oh why, did they have to kill Rudy off? Peter Strauss was my favorite on the show. Marylou Huff, Bartlesville, Okla.

They had to kill Rudy off because Strauss wanted out of the show. He only agreed to do the series for a year so he would have enough money to then be more selective. He no longer felt challenged by the role.

JUAN WHO? -- What's Wong's real name on Welcome Back, Kotter? Where does he live and how old is he? S. Crose, Gulfport, Miss.

I assume you mean Juan Epstein. His real name is Robert Hegyes, a half Italian, half Hungarian playing a Jewish Puerto Rican. Bob is married and lives in Burbank with his wife. He's in his late 20's.

RIFLEMAN -- Could you please tell me the name of the character that Chuck Connors played on The Rifleman? Thank you. Mychael M. Patrick, Soquel, Calif.

Sure. It was Lucas McCain.

MORE ON PA -- Having read things in print on all the players in The Waltons, except Ralph Waite who plays John Walton, I wonder about him. Can you give me some information on him? Agnes Marie Summers, Tampa, Fla.

Ralph Waite still considers himself a theatre person and says this season will probably be his last with The Waltons. He would like to get back to the stage, in fact he even runs his own theatre in Los Angeles. His background is in New York where he worked with Joe Papp's Shakespeare Festival along with many other now well known actors. Waite has been divorced for 15 years, but has recently fallen in love, he says, and may marry soon.

MARY, MARY -- In an old movie I saw Mary Badham play Natalie Wood's younger sister in "This Property Is Condemned" also starring Charles Bronson. Is she now acting under the name of Mary Kay Place as Loretta Haggars in Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman? Rita Morrison, South Point, Oh.

Those are two entirely different women. Mary Badham was a very fine teenage actress who also appeared in "To Kill A Mockingbird" and "Let's Kill Uncle." She has not made any films recently and is currently 25 years old. Mary Kay Place is a bit older than that and was never an actress in her youth. She got into the business first as a comedy writer for such shows as "The Mary Tyler Moore Show."

OLD FACE -- There's a movie around town now called "The Farmer." Gary Conway is the star. I know he was in an old TV series, but what? He looks so familiar! Jack Coltrane, Ada, Minn.

Conway appeared in two old series. First, he was the sidekick to Gene Barry on "Burke's Law", then he co-starred with a whole bunch of familiar faces in "Land of the Giants." Incidentally, he is also the producer of "The Farmer."

Management is the key to farm ponds

Management is the key to top fish producing farm ponds, says a fisheries specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Texas has about one-half million acres of small farm ponds. Stocked with channel or blue catfish, these ponds can produce up to a thousand pounds of fish per acre annually if managed properly," emphasizes Don Steinbach.

"A lot of things come under consideration," says the specialist. "Anyone putting in a farm pond must be serious about it and must work at it. A good fish producing pond doesn't just happen."

THE KEY to beginning a good farm pond is the correct location. First of all, the pond site should be able to hold water—clay soil is best. The watershed—the area over which water will flow into the pond—should be covered with grass sod. This will prevent silt from filling the pond at a rapid rate. For an acre pond, at least 25 to 50 acres of land is needed for the watershed.

"The pond should be at least three to five feet deep around the water's edge when full," contends Steinbach. "Fish production is not increased with the depth of the water but it may prevent the pond from going dry during a drought."

THE SOIL should be cleaned where the dam will be located and a drain pipe should be lodged through the dam at construction to allow drainage if needed.

Problems such as seepage can be controlled with bentonite, a soft, porous, moisture-absorbing mineral clay. Muddy water can be cured by broadcasting agricultural gypsum or aluminum potassium sulfate (alum). Hay or grass cuttings may also be spread over a muddied pond to help clear the water.

When it comes to stocking the pond, a variety of fish can be used—sunfish, largemouth bass, channel and blue catfish. However, channel and blue catfish offer the most potential.

FISH for stocking ponds are available from both public and private hatcheries. Requests for fish from state hatcheries should be directed to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas 78701. Fish from these hatcheries are available only for new or renovated ponds. All applications should be made before January 1 of each year. Information on private hatcheries is available from county Extension agents or Extension fisheries specialists at Texas A&M University.

"For production of large, healthy fish in a limited amount of time, a pond should have an adequate food supply during the year," emphasizes Steinbach. "Fertilizing water is the key to growing fish because this initiates the food chain. Apply a fertilizer such as 20-20-5 at 100 pounds per surface acre in March or April or when the water temperature is about 60 degrees F. Later apply smaller doses at two-week interims until the desired amount of plankton is obtained, but do not fertilize after May 31.

"TO INCREASE good fishing, feed fish with a commercial feed. Feeds come in the floating and sinking type and either is acceptable as long as it contains at least 25 percent protein. However, do not fertilize a pond if a commercial fish feed is being used.

"Piles of brush and automobile tires also concentrate fish and can make for more successful fishing," notes Steinbach.

Good management of ponds includes the removal of any unfit or undesirable types of fish such as shad, carp, bullhead catfish or suckers. Steinbach advises removing the complete population and beginning over with a balanced stock.

Rotenone is often used to clear fish out and can be used after the water temperature reaches 65 degrees F. and when the water is at its lowest level. The chemical is harmless to humans and livestock and will lose its strength in 7 to 14 days, at which time the pond may be restocked.

"BOTHERSOME plants can be controlled with certain herbicides but these must be used with care," emphasizes Steinbach.

More information on farm fish ponds is available from county Extension agents or fisheries specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M University.

U.S. shoe sizing was developed in England during the 14th century. A measurement of one-third inch, the length of an average barley corn, represents the difference in whole numbered shoe sizes., Mrs. Becky Clup, area clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says.

TV Star Scene

A civil war of sorts has come to television with the recent expulsion of the Hollywood chapter from the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences. The heave-ho came after a longstanding battle between the New York and Hollywood chapters. The West Coast clique felt their 5,000 members were getting short shrift. The Academy has 11,000 members in all. As of now, the actors, producers, directors and such on the L.A. side have decided to form their own organization and are planning to boycott this year's Emmy Awards, set for NBC May 15. So, maybe this year that old show biz adage that the show must go on will be cancelled.

The Father Knows Best family will be reunited for a 90-minute TV movie. Robert Young, Jane Wyatt, Billy Gray, Elinor Donohue and Lauren Chapin return in the story for the parents' 35th wedding anniversary. Time wore heavily on at least two members of the cast. Gray became a drop-out druggie after the series and pudgy-faced Lauren Chapin spent years in analysis recovering from her childhood stardom. It'll be nice to see them working again.

NBC keeps churning out the pilots in hopes of scoring big in next year's ratings race. Among the hopeful offerings are "James at Fifteen," starring Lance Kerwin, Melissa Sue Anderson, Lynn Carlin and Linden Chiles. The two-hour comedy/drama focuses on the joys and pains of adolescence. Yvette Mimieux and Gil Gerard co-star in "The Busters," an action picture, co-starring Gavin MacLeod of Mary Tyler Moore fame. Then there is "CHiPs," a revved-up look at some California Highway Patrol motorcycle cops. Starring are Larry Wilcox, Erik Estrada, John Baker and Robert Pine. Vvrroooom!!!

Since leaving Rich Man, Poor Man last year, Nick Nolte seems to be getting along quite well, thank you. He's been signed to co-star with Audrey Hepburn and Tatum O'Neal in an upcoming film . . . During TV's Golden Age, a cigar-chomping comedian introduced a zany brand of comedy uniquely suited to the small screen. His name was Ernie Kovacs, and PBS will air "The Best of Ernie Kovacs" as a series in early April . . . Lined up for the second season of Austin City Limits on PBS are The Earl Scruggs Review, The Amazin' Rhythm Aces, Willie Nelson, Roy Buchanan, Steve Fromholz and The Nitty Gritty Dirt Band. The series begins May 15.

"People used to just stare at me in public because they had seen me play so many bad-guy roles in movies," Claude Akins says, "so now it will be nice to have people walk up to me thinking that maybe I'm not such a bad guy after all."

Akins was in such a good-guy mood recently as a result of his role of a lawman in CBS' new series Nashville 99, running for four weeks beginning April 1. Akins has the perfect background for the role.

"In playing Stoney," he says, "I want to be the kind of policeman my father was for 22 years in Indiana. If my dad found a drunk wandering around, he would bring the guy home to sleep it off rather than throw him in jail. He told me that if you help a man in trouble, you have a friend for life, but throw him in jail and you've made an enemy for just as long. I play that kind of compassionate cop. It's kind of a tribute to my old man."

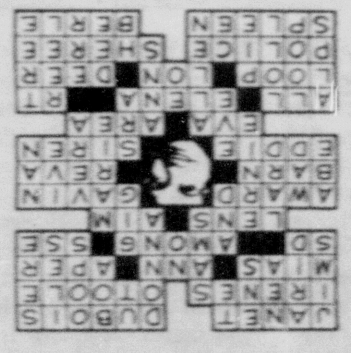
SOLUTION



SEEDS FROM THE SOWER

By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

The French say, "Sorrow comes on horseback, but it goes away on foot." How swiftly our happiness seems to pass, but how long our heaviness seems to last.

David was distressed, and he cried, "How long wilt Thou forget me, O Lord? For ever? How long wilt Thou hide Thy face from me?" But a hidden face does not indicate a forgetful heart. The Lord has said, "I will never fail you or forsake you."

A little girl had the measles, and her infected eyes could not stand the sunlight. As the mother darkened the room, she asked, "Are you afraid?" The sick girl answered, "I am not afraid, Mother, as long as you stay where I can touch you."

So, too, our Lord is out of sight, but He is never out of touch. And like the Psalmist we have our dark days when the time seems to linger in its flight. We say, "The Lord has forgotten me!" but He says, "I will not forget thee." We say, "The Lord has left me!" but He says, "I will never leave thee."

Because the Lord said, "I am with you always," there will never be a day that you will be without Him. It may be a sad day or a glad day, but if you practice His presence it will always be a profitable day.

DR. JOHN R. WEBB

1. My major concern as a candidate is to see that the Georgetown schools develop a better academic program. This needs to be our school system's primary purpose. Other concerns are for more classroom space, especially at the primary levels. Also, we need to develop a long term growth plan for our school system; one that will be useful into the 1980's.

2. Over the last several years, our school system has developed a very good vocational program. It is now time for us to emphasize a more thorough and better academic program. We must insure that our graduates have thoroughly mastered basic skills in language, math, and science. We also need some type of program for our educationally gifted students. Hopefully this program will challenge them to use their talents more fully than the present academic program does.

3. I am not aware of any highly significant breakdown in the relationship between our teachers and administrators. Certainly they must work as a team, with both sides contributing to our educational goals. My understanding is that some administrators are members of the Texas State Teachers Association, though not required to be. I feel this shows that those administrators are aware of the teachers' professional organizations.

4. If, in fact, our school system is not in compliance with federal regulations, then we need to change the policy so that we meet those regulations. Personally, I am not in favor of the school board having either a dress code or a hair code. This is a matter that the parents and child should decide, not the school board.

5. A physical education program should be directed towards teaching students to be physically active all through their adult life. It should emphasize life-time sports so that the students can use their physical skills long after they graduate. It should also emphasize the health reasons for maintaining good physical shape.

6. I feel that the new Community Education has been an excellent way to show our school system's responsiveness to community needs. I feel it has been extremely successful. I would favor expanding it to a 12-month program.

7. The school board should set the educational goals and establish policy for the school system. The administrators should see that those goals and policy are carried out. The board must check to make sure that the administration is carrying out the goals and policy faithfully.

8. I feel that the present curriculum in high school could be improved. We need to offer some type of program for our educationally gifted students. We need to encourage all our students to take more language, math, and science courses. We need a better selection of foreign languages. Our concern in developing our curriculum should be one that challenges our students to perform at their highest levels of skill.

9. The children at the primary levels must receive a thorough background in basic language skills, including reading, spelling, and writing. They must also have a very good knowledge of math and science skills. These formative years are the backbone for the more complex educational years. We must develop appropriate measures to see that they are achieving at their grade level.

10. I would like to see our board develop a long term plan to deal with the already crowded classroom space. This is especially important since we are a growing community with an increase in our school enrollment of about 7 to 8 percent yearly. We must expand our classroom space at the Primary and Westside schools. But just as important is the need to look further and develop an adequate program for the 1980's.

11. My priorities for the budget include wise use of tax money for expanding the facilities already available. My concern is for an excellent education for all students, and, to me, this means classroom space and adequate salaries for the teachers necessary to insure our educational goals. I feel that our athletic and vocational budgets are sufficient at present.

12. The school board must remain responsive to the taxpayers. We must build public support and understanding of our policies and goals. We need to make sure that voice votes are taken and recorded at our public school board meetings so that the citizens are aware of how each board member voted.

13. I plan to try my best to attend at least one continuing education program yearly. These are sponsored by the Texas Association of School Boards or Texas Educational Association. Also, I feel that my daily contact with the public will keep me in touch with the taxpayer's attitudes and opinions about our school system.

THE JOHN R. WEBB FAMILY

To The Georgetown Area Citizens:

As a concerned taxpayer and parent, I am running for Georgetown Independent School District Trustee. I feel that we need to develop a better academic program in all our schools.

My major concern is to develop appropriate educational goals and see that those goals are attained. We also need to develop a long term growth plan for our school system. I am asking for your support and vote in the April 2nd. School Board election.

Thank you for your support.

Russia is topic in Leander

"A Report on Religious Worship in Soviet Russia" will be the topic concerning missions and missionary activity by Pastor D.A. Calvin, Leander Assembly of God, Highway 183, Leander, TX. Sunday, March 27, at 6 p.m.

"Stephen Walegir, Business Manager, Central Bible College, Springfield, MO., has mailed me a complete report on his second trip to Soviet Russia," explained Pastor Calvin, "and it is very interesting, particularly to any freedom-loving American."

The pastor said the following is an excerpt from Mr. Walegir's report on his trip to Russia:

"You could well imagine four sermons in one service and with four to five choir numbers, how long the service can be. However, it is very meaningful, very rich, and very warm. Many of the leaders have spent time in prison. Many of the workers in the church, such as choir leaders, working with youth and so on, have spent time in prison.

"It is true there are no Sunday Schools in Russia. There are no youth services. There can, however, be a youth choir. There are no missionary activities in Russia, no tract distribution or any religious distribution at all.

"It is against the law to invite anyone publically in any way to a service. Russia will not allow missionaries to visit: They do allow tourists. There is one church in the city of Leningrad and Moscow."

The public is invited to hear this missionary report Sunday evening, March 27, at 6 p.m. at the church.

HARK THE QUEEN! — The cast of the Georgetown High School UIL One-Act Play entry, "Mary of Scotland", was caught Wednesday during one dress rehearsal without their make-up and with pins still holding some of their costumes together. The group still managed to look terribly regal, however. By the final curtain next Tuesday all the seams, frills, beards and stockings will be in place. Members of the cast are (left to right) Butch Pickens (sitting), Russell Caluette, Bob Brown, Rufus Tanksley (sitting), Adrienne Holmans, Jim Smith (kneeling), Missy Kingery (sitting), Pat Cox, Lori Rodgers, Scott Smith, Paul Minshew, Beth Morse (sitting) and Carl Thomas. The Georgetown entry will be judged at 10 a.m. Tuesday, March 29, at the Alma Thomas Theatre on the Southwestern University campus. The public is invited to attend.

ABZ holds rush party

A rush party for prospective members was held recently by Alpha Beta Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority. Hostess for the evening was Mrs. Edward Wilkie.

Those attending enjoyed a light supper and get-acquainted games and charades. Guests were Mrs. Ray F. Thomas, Jr. and Mrs. R. S. Spacek. The party was planned and carried out by Mrs. William White and Mrs. Tommy Foust.

Mrs. Mike Burson was hostess for the last regular meeting of the month at which guest speakers were Mrs. Otis Person and G. E. Almquist, Jr. Mrs. Person, representing Austin City Council of Beta Sigma Phi, reviewed procedures for girlof-the-year nominations and progressing into another chapter. Mrs. Almquist spoke of the activities of the Williamson County City Council. Plans were finalized for an evening of bowling with husbands and for the upcoming garage sale to be held May 7.

Coach Moffitt reports that his Liberty Hill Panthers lost a slug fest last Tuesday to Burnet 11-6. Liberty Hill, in their first time at bat got two men on base when catcher Travis Gilmore hit a three-run homer to put them ahead by 3-0.

In Burnet's first time at bat, they got two runners on base, one at second and the other at third with no outs. The third batter then hit a short hopper to David Hernandez who threw him out at first base. Robert Stephens, Liberty Hill's first baseman, saw the runner at second base off the bag and ran toward him when the third base runner tried to get home. Stephens threw to Gilmore, the catcher, who tagged the runner out before throwing the ball to Roy Montemayor who tagged the runner out at third before the runner could advance to complete a triple play.

In the third inning, Donnie Johnson hit a solo home run over center field to give the Panthers a 4-0 lead going into the bottom of the third inning. Burnet did not score in the second inning.

Liberty Hill did not score in the third inning, but Burnet via three walks, a hit and an error scored two runs with no outs. With the bases still loaded, Roy Montemayor came into pitch, and he was promptly tagged for a grand slam giving Burnet a 6-4 lead.

Burnet added two more runs in the fourth inning, and Liberty Hill scored one in the fifth inning. Burnet also scored one in the fifth inning and two in the sixth. Liberty Hill added one more run in the seventh inning on a fielder's choice.

Eddie Brewster and Donnie Johnson each got two hits with Eddie getting two singles and Donnie hitting a home run. Roy Montemayor and Robert Stephens each got singles as did Joe Lopez and Omar Lopez and Travis Gilmore hit a home run.

BOX SCORE

Liberty Hill	3 0 1 0 1 0 1

   c) No
8. a) Yes
   b) No
9. No. Because I think the city's money should go on the present City of Georgetown San Gabriel Park for all of its citizens to enjoy.
10. No
11. I think the businesses around the square are doing good. I feel more parking should be available.

HARRY GOLD

1. Being able, within our capabilities, to keep up financially with capital improvements and planned, orderly growth with no additional heavy tax burden.

2. I will work to see that it stays as it is now. Our city will be larger, but basically it will be of the same quality it is now.

3. The water intake structure and the new water storage facilities are two steps in this direction. Our city zoning regulations are current.

4. Thru the citizens advisory committee, public hearings, and individual conversations with interested citizens.

5. Serving on boards should be done by people from all segments of our community. The percentage of men, women, and minorities should be based on citizen's willingness, qualifications, and dedicated regardless of sex or national origin.

6. I believe any involvement in this area would only be duplicating services now being rendered by the county juvenile probation officer and his staff. Getting into this area would be duplication for a city of this size.

7. No. An application is before the proper authorities for 60 additional low rent housing units which may be approved by this summer. Also, there are now 2 subdivisions that will provide for about 500 homes in the $25,000 to $35,000 range. Loans for these homes can be had through FHA and VA sources for those qualifying.
Community development funds are used exclusively from citizen input into the program. After public hearings have been held and all citizens have been involved, their recommendations to the city council will determine projects to be funded.

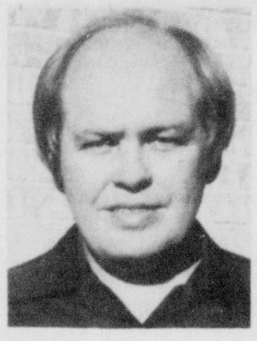
8. Current building codes are adequately enforced. Our current building inspection department is doing a first-class job.

9. This matter has already been taken care of. Elimination of refund contracts to builders was changed to channel that money into parks and recreation fund. I think parks and greenbelt areas should be put in by the city in areas in which they are needed.

10. No. The city council is capable and needs full control of all utilities serviced by the city and by franchises.

11. It needs to be kept fresh looking and in good state of repair. As long as that is done there will be business activity around the square. Planned, coordinated programs on a yearly basis by a majority of current businesses would stimulate traffic more.

KENNETH OLSON



1. My three major concerns about Georgetown are:
(1) A well planned growth pattern for the city, including adequate utilities for all citizens;
(2) Increased tax exemptions for veterans and for people age 65 and over; and
(3) Improved traffic safety measures, especially in the school speed zones, to protect our children.

2. I envision Georgetown as a progressive and prosperous community ten years from now. It has been predicted that Georgetown will have a population of 25,000 by the year 2000. If this prediction is true, our population should be around 13,000 within ten years.

3. The city council should have a well organized master plan for the growth of the area and it must be updated on a regular basis. Yes. It will be necessary because of the rapid growth of the city.

4. I'm a businessman located on the square and will be in constant contact with all segments of the Georgetown community.

5. There are currently women and minorities serving on city commissions and boards. I would review and evaluate the circumstances and if they are qualified I would support their appointments.

6. Insure that the city's law enforcement agency assist the county judges and probation officers in any way possible and also seek federal funding for an educational program if one is available.

7. There is definitely a deficiency in the low and middle income housing supply in Georgetown. I would seek out any federal funding program that may be available through Community Development grants or other HUD related programs.

8. From my observation of the delapidated buildings that have been torn down and of the new buildings under construction, city inspection is being enforced. I would have to review present programs and if they are not being properly enforced, I would give it due consideration.

9. Yes. They should be financed by the city or the county depending on where they are located.

10. No. This is one major reason I'm seeking election to the council. We must do everything possible to reduce the high utility rates.

11. The Historical Zone Commission has a great input to the development of the square. I believe this Commission must be flexible enough not to destroy downtown growth. As I view the situation there are many areas we could improve. If elected one of the major areas would be making an all out effort to improve parking situation in the downtown area of Georgetown.

J. D. WININGER

1. To propose better lighting around the courthouse and square. To have our parking situation overhauled. This can be done by parking meters and more parking lots. Beautifying our town around square with greenery and flowers, to have some kind of tourist program. This would bring in money.

2. Georgetown will increase in population to 15,000 or 20,000 with proper leadership.

3. To annex more land into the city, thereby giving the city more tax dollars. Yes, to provide commercial zoning when and where needed.

4. To have public meetings with all interested businesses, the county commissioners and all people concerned. We all need to work together for a better place to live. We have a wonderful city. Let's see if we can't make it better.

5. Yes, I am in favor of these appointments. The more people you get involved in the work, the more interest there will be. In my opinion the Georgetown city council, if not now, in the near future will and can use seven members on the city council.

6. To provide counseling with parents and young people to help them work out their problems. I would be in favor of some kind of work program under city management that these young people could perform under our present minor laws. We could keep our city and parks clean of debris and by the same token keep these young people busy and out of mischief. This would work out, if it could be adopted.

7. No, I don't think Georgetown's housing is sufficient. Working people with families cannot pay 30 or 40 thousand dollars for a house. We need more housing in the $25,000 range. We all need to work in unity for this purpose.

8. Yes, I feel that our inspector is doing a good job; however, he needs help and to be on the job full time. Even at full-time, he needs assistance. This would keep the bugs out of the jobs.

9. Yes, I have in the past and will in the future. We have voted to cut off the rebates to the developer and place this money toward financing the green belt project. I propose for us to ask from all clubs donations for the purchase of swings, slides or park equipment, or perhaps they would like to purchase and donate a piece of playground equipment.

10. A city utility commission to deal with LCRA, the gas company and General telephone would not accomplish anything as the state has taken all municipal powers and vested them in the Public Utilities Commission and Railroad Commission. As far as establishing city utility rates for the citizens, I believe that the Citizens Advisory Commission and City Council can handle these adequately.

11. Yes, repair, remodel, paint and fix up with the help of the Chamber of Commerce and all concerned. We must have our city attractive for visitors or people interested in moving here.

WILLIAM C. "WIGGY" SHELL

1. Water treatment plant
   b. All utility rates
   c. Growth of the City
2. I feel that the community will grow at a rapid pace, however, with a good sound city government I still envision Georgetown to be a great community to live and raise your family.
3. All types of city service such as electric, water, sewer, police and fire protection. More zoning ordinances to protect homeowners and commercial businesses.
4. Encourage more people to come to the city council meetings and public hearings and zoning commission and express their views and opinions.
5. I am in favor of putting some women and minorities on appointed boards, as long as they are willing to take the responsibility for which appointed.
6. If the County needs our assistance I would be willing to discuss the problems that juveniles have and if at all possible I would be willing to work with the county on any juvenile problems within the city.
7. I do not feel that the low income and middle income housing is adequate for the citizens of Georgetown. I will strive to encourage more of the developers to construct houses under the Section 8 program. Also, I will support construction of additional units such as we now have at Stonehaven.
8. No, because I feel we have so much construction at this time that they do not have sufficient time and manpower to keep up with the old construction as well as the new. Yes, I am in favor of expanded building inspection service.
9. Plan for and make sure that we develop park areas and natural greenbelts in new developments. Appropriate a portion of the city budget for these areas as long as they are within the city limits of Georgetown.
10. No, because I feel that the present council is aware of the problems with all utilities.
11. No.

Perry's paintings on display at Alma Thomas

Currently on exhibit in the Gallery of the Alma Thomas Fine Arts Center at Southwestern Unviersity is an art show featuring 25 works by Robin Judd Perry of Burlington, Massachusetts, a candidate for graduation this spring from the School of Fine Arts, according to Claude Kennard, director of the Gallery.

The public may view the exhibit through April 12.

INCLUDED IN THE SENIOR ART SHOW are seven scenes of dreamimagery drawings (ebony pencil on manilla vellum), seven scenes of "studio paintings" in oils, three oil portraits and a selection of life studies in varied media, ranging from conte crayon to pastels.

Majoring in art and minoring in art history for the bachelor of fine arts degree, Ms. Perry has exhibited frequently in Massachusetts while a student at Framingham State College and in Texas while enrolled at Southwestern University. Last spring she was represented in a juried show during the Texas College Art Major Exhibit in Dallas and in student exhibits on the university campus.

Perry has studied art with Fred Fiandaca and Don Osier in Massachusetts and with David Everett and Guss Farmer of the art faculty in the School of Fine Arts at Southwestern University.

PERRY IS A MEMBER OF THE Fine Arts Dean Selection Committee (spring 1976) at Southwestern University and Art Activists at Framingham State College, Framingham, Massachusetts, where she was named to the Dean's Distinction List.

FREEDOM

Inscription for the Statue of Liberty

BY EMMA LAZARUS

Give me your tired, your poor,
Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free,
The wretched refuse of your teeming shore,
Send these, the homeless, tempest-tossed, to me:
I lift my lamp beside the golden door.

This truly reflects the attitude of a nation living close to God. The concern and love for others grows through Christian fellowship. Attend Church Regularly.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH — THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

SU evening courses set for summer

Several evening courses have been planned at Southwestern University this summer for the working public who want to continue their education, says Dr. Suk-soon Suh, summer school director.

The growing summer program will have three sessions with the first May 10-27, the second June 3-July 12, and the third July 13-29.

Dr. Joe Colwell, who has been on sabbatical for the past year studying real estate at the University of Texas, Austin, and at Texas A&M, will be back on campus for the May session to teach an evening course in real estate (selected topics). The course is scheduled at 6 p.m.

Two evening courses are scheduled during the June session with Colwell teaching business law and Harold Eidson teaching computer programming techniques. Both three-hour courses begin at 6 p.m. in the evening.

A late afternoon course in "Mass Media and Politics" will be taught by Dr. Suh at 4:30 p.m. during the June session.

Dozens of other courses ranging from the popular French House (a total living experience in the French language) to racquetball and from "Post-Biblical Judiasm" to the "Physiology of Reproduction" will be offered during the summer.

Many of the courses are "by arrangement" for the convenience of the student.

Pre-registration for the summer sessions will be April 25. Schedules and lists of courses are available at the admissions office in Mood Hall.

Society holds 1st rock hunt

The first club rock hunt of the year was held March 20 by members of the Williamson County Gem and Mineral Society. Time and location arrangements were made by the vice president, Ray F. Hotopp.

The hunt was for agates and fossilized limestone and was most successful.

The April meeting has been postponed from the second Sunday, which is Easter, to the third Sunday and will be held at Stonehaven at 2:30 p.m.

Paula Gamble performs with SWT choir

SAN MARCOS — A student from Georgetown, Paula Gamble, a soprano, is among the 48 singers of Southwest Texas State University's top student choir, the Chorale, which performed recently at a concert in St. Mark's Episcopal Church of San Marcos.

The chorale's program included Heinrich Schutz' "Sing to the Lord a New Song," Anton Bruckner's "Three Graduals for the Church Year" and Gabriel Faure's seven-part mass, "Requiem."

Fleming becomes ACTU president

DR. DURWOOD FLEMING

Southwestern University President Durwood Fleming will take office as president of The Assn. of Texas Colleges and Universities (ATCU) on Friday, April 1, in Fort Worth.

This will be the third major position of service assumed by Dr. Fleming within the year. He already serves as president of the Assn. of Colleges and Universities for International-Intercultural Education (ACUIIS), the largest consortium of institutions organized for international education both abroad and in this country.

And President Fleming was just recently named to The University Senate of the United Methodist Church, the professional educational advisory agency for the United Methodist Church and all educational institutions related to it, of which there are more than 150.

The Assn. of Texas Colleges and Universities, founded in 1916, has become the only spokesman for both the tax supported and the independent schools of higher education in Texas. Virtually all colleges, universities, and junior colleges in the state are members of ATCU.

"My administration will be focused on ATCU's assuming a stronger leadership role for higher education with particular emphasis on its perceiving the future of colleges and universities in Texas and communicating this message to all Texans," President Fleming said.

An early function of ATCU was in evaluating high schools and colleges in Texas, and it served as the statewide accreditation agency until 1968.

In recent years ATCU's principle work has been in sponsoring such studies as "Private Colleges: Pluralism and Partnership;" "Transfer of Credit," related to applicability of transfer of credit for degree requirements; and "A New Affirmation on Higher Education," which has just been published and released.

Dr. Fleming is the 12th President of Southwestern, the state's oldest university, assuming that position in 1961 after serving 16 years as founding pastor of St. Luke's United Methodist Church of Houston.

A native of Sulphur Springs, Dr. Fleming earned a B.A. degree from Southern Methodist University and a Th.M. degree from Perkins School of Theology. He has also studied at East Texas State University and Union Theological Seminary in New York. In 1957 he was awarded a Doctor of Divinity degree from McMurry College and in 1965 he received the Distinguished Alumnus Award from SMU.

President Fleming is also a member of the Texas Planning Commission; the Board of Ministry, Texas Conference, of the United Methodist Church, and is chairman of the Big State Conference Council of Presidents.

He is a past president of the Texas Council of Church-Related Colleges and past chairman of the Texas Methodist College Assn.

French professor to speak at SU

A distinguished professor from France will discuss the latest political developments in that country Wednesday at Southwestern University.

Professor Maurice Saias will speak to Dr. Francis O'Brien's class on "European Governments" at 11 a.m. Wednesday in room 318 of Mood Hall. The public is invited.

Dr. O'Brien, himself an on-the scenes scholar of the Irish political situation, said that he expected Dr. Saias to discuss the gains made by Communists in France in last Sunday's election.

"THEY (Communists) predict victory in the next Assembly election," O'Brien said. "The French Communists say that they are now entirely divorced from Moscow and are 100 percent a French party, but many Frenchmen say 'We don't believe them'."

Saias has been on the faculty and the dean of the University of Aix-Marseille for the past 15 years and has served as visiting professor to the University of Texas at Austin and to the Administrative Staff College of Henley-on-Thames (his present post).

HE ALSO has been a professor at the International Management Institute of Northwestern University and of the London Graduate School of Business for the International Teachers Program.

Saias has been consultant for many large companies in both France and the United States, has been a member of the Executive Committee of the European Foundation for Management Development, and served on the Jury d'Agregation des Sciences de Gestion," the first national recruitment examination for management professors in the French university system.

Revival begins Sun. at Cedar Park Baptist

New Hope First Baptist Church announces their revival dates, March 27-30.

The Sunday services are at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. The services Monday through Wednesday will be at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. The members extend a cordial invitation to all to attend any of these services. A nursery will be provided for children 3 years and under.

Henry B. Sims, pastor, will be he evangelist. He is a graduate of the University of Corpus Christi and Southwestern Seminary. He recently came to Cedar Park from the First Baptist Church Smithville.

Rex Lane will be leading the music for the revival.

New Hope Baptist Church, organized in 1868, has a rich history.

"We accept the authority of God's inspired Word. We believe in salvation by grace through faith. We believe and practice the independence and autonomy of the local church. We do co-operate with other churches in carrying out the great commission."

Incorrect, illegible data delays refunds

Incorrect or illegible addresses and social security numbers on tax returns can delay refunds, the Internal Revenue Service cautioned today.

Taxpayers who have moved since filing their tax returns should inform both the U. S. Postal Service and the IRS Service Center where they filed their return of the new address, or any refund due might not reach its destination.

An incorrect or illegible social security number can also delay the processing of the tax return and slow up the issuance of a refund check due.

A simple solution to the problem is for the taxpayer to use the peel-off label attached to the tax package mailed out by the IRS. The taxpayer can make any name, address or social security number corrections right on the label so that the IRS will know to whom and where to direct the refund.

Alpha Iota Thetas have spring party

Alpha Iota Theta held its Spring Rush party in the home of Mrs. Denise Bird at 809 East 4th Street.

A St. Patrick's Day theme was used. Shamrocks and hats set the mood and a shamrock cake, cookies and lime sherbet punch completed the theme.

Eagle's Eye

by NATALIE HUBBARD

Friday afternoons have become almost useless. Some classes are totally drained. Both athletes and literary contestants are away winning more trophies. It is nice to see GHS performing well in these opposite events.

Vocational students are among top contenders too. Last weekend Missy Kingery and Hilda Guevara attended the State TAHOS contest. Missy placed first in her event. Both girls are very talented. Patricia Cox has gone to the state meeting of OEA this weekend. Patricia, like other vocational students, represents our school well.

The three fine arts departments are also preparing for their contests. The UIL One-Act Play, "Mary of Scotland", competes Tuesday, March 29, at 10 a.m. Band and Choir competitions come shortly after Easter vacation.

From the small cross-section of events I have mentioned, you can get an idea of how busy the third quarter is.

This part of the year is the hardest on the yearbook staff. Events happen and are then written up for the book almost simultaneously. If you've ever wondered why the AERIE comes out in August and not May, it is because the Aerie staff must work vigorously to cover everything from registration to graduation.

Even though pre-registration took place this past week, the calendar shows that graduation is not far away.

At GHS, the word "graduate" applies not only to students, but also to cafeteria food. I'm sure, by now, you have noticed the higher quality menus. Mrs. MacEwan would really appreciate some well earned praise. Now students will have to find something other than school food to criticize.

In the game department, Debbie Howell received a prize for remembering the most facts. Janet Cashmore took the boobie prize. In matching up faces to baby pictures, Marie Christopher won, while Carmen Alcoces took the boobie prize. Rita Burgess, president, won the door prize.

Members attending were Rita Burgess, Linda Cisneros, Juanita Carter, Mary Miranda, Wanda Franklin, Judy Whitfield, Juanita Toungate, Joan Medrano, Denise Bird and Shirley Russell.

Commissioners to sign showbarn land lease

County Commissioners are expected to sign the final contract with the City of Georgetown to lease land in San Gabriel Park for the new livestock showbarn when they meet next Monday.

AFTER THE LEASE is signed, they will approve final specifications for the building and authorize advertising for construction bids.

County Attorney Billy Ray Stubblefield expects to have the lease ready for Commissioners to sign on Monday.

Consideration of professional liability insurance for county officials and employees is also on the agenda for next Monday.

FINDING a suitable liability insurance policy, especially one that will cover Sheriff's deputies and Emergency Medical Services personnel, has been a problem.

Commissioners are also expected to:

- Discuss unleased mineral rights on land owned by Williamson County in Sutton County. The land was originally acquired for use by Williamson County Schools.
- Hear the Sheriff request overhead lights on patrol cars.
- Consider appointment of a Deputy to help Constable H. T. Ward in Precinct No. 2.
- Consider reappointing Justice of the Peace Inez Ward. Inez Ward unintentionally vacated her position as JP when she filed to run for the Granger City Council. She has since withdrawn her bid for the city council and Commissioners will consider re-appointing her as JP.
- Consider the vacation policy for EMS personnel.

No violations found by grand jury in C.P. leaflets

A Williamson County grand jury found no felony violations after investigating a series of political leaflets distributed in connection with the last Cedar Park bond election.

Alleged erroneous information in the leaflets had been blamed for the failure of the water and sewer system bond election.

THE LEAFLETS had been distributed by the Cedar Park Water Corporation.

THE GRAND JURY investigated charges that corporate funds had been used to finance the leaflets, but found no evidence to substantiate the charges.

Cedar Park Mayor Ron Merrill said that the city still intends to file a complaint with Williamson County Attorney Bill Stubblefield against the leaflet's financial backer for violation of state election codes.

Texas' 77 Rice Crop Record

AUSTIN–Texas' rice bowl is overflowing, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has announced, with rough rice stocks in the state at near record levels.

"Abundant rice crops last year in traditional American export markets brought down demand for our product," White explained, "and in response to decreased demand coupled with resulting price slumps, Texas farmers have reduced their current acreage six per cent to 480,000 acres."

As of Jan. 1, 1977, Texas had 23,613,000 hundredweight (cwt.) of rough rice in all positions, 22 per cent more than a year earlier. Stocks of rough rice in the U.S. totaled a record high of 100.3 million cwt., 46 per cent above the 1975 total, according to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Stocks of milled rice were 84 per cent higher than in 1976, at 1,664,000 cwt. "And only 475,000 cwt. were in port or in transit to ports," White said.

"After beginning last year with 804,000 cwt. of milled rice on hand, little moved from warehouses, and by harvest completion in the fall we had upped our January, 1976, inventory by 706,000 cwt.," he stated.

the safety it offers, especially for children. Since it connects the VFW and San Gabriel Parks, youngsters can now travel from one to the other without having to cross either the low-water crossing bridge farther downstream or Highway 81.

"We feel it's going to carry a lot of traffic and many local residents are going to enjoy it," Wood added. "All those who were concerned with making the trail a reality, including our Bicentennial Commission, the state Parks and Wildlife Dept., and the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, are to be commended. I feel it really completes our Bicentennial celebration."

farmers, who had seen what over-production could do to the price structure, had gone along with the government's request to curtail production, so their allotments were drastically reduced.

Well, now the irrigation scheme has about played out. Northwest Texas farmers drew on the vast underground reservoirs to such an extent that now they are virtually empty. The farmers want water diverted from the Mississippi river, or some other place to keep them in business.

And, for the "backward type family farmer" growing cotton in the black belt, new methods of insect control, new developments in fertilizer and farming methods have improved his yields. He is now what he was 20 years ago, the hope for continued, economical production of cotton, which is becoming more in demand, more valuable all the time.

WE AREN'T HAPPY about the west Texas situation, understand. The world could use a lot more cotton than it is now producing and the more of it that can be grown in Texas, the better. We are pointing to the situation to illustrate how the lack of foresight on the part of governmental bureaucracies, plus some personal greed, can lead a state or nation down the path of self-destruction.

COME ON OUT to Georgetown's Municipal Airport any time between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. today (Sunday), invites Chief Warrant Officer Bud Rogers of Ft. Hood, who along with other U. S. Army officers will give visitors a gander at the Mohawk aerial surveillance plane displayed behind him. Eight of the big birds are temporarily stationed at the airport, where two army units are participating in Gallant Crew '77, a huge Central Texas war game. The army has scheduled Sunday's public visitation to acquaint Georgetown area residents with the Mohawk and with some of the operations under way at the airport as part of the training exercise. To get to the airport, take the west frontage road of Interstate Highway 35 to the sign directing you to the field, turn left, and drive on to the airport entrance, where you'll make another left and drive a short distance to the waiting Mohawk near the airport operations building.

Top flower choices show little change

Americans seem to be "sticking to their guns" when it comes time to buy flower seed each year. Their choices have changed little in the past 29 years.

Dr. William C. Welch, landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, cites figures by the National Garden Bureau which show that the three most popular flowers in 1946 — petunias, zinnias and marigolds—are still the most popular today. The figures are based on seed packet sales in 1946 and in 1975.

"Although the top three flowers remained the same, their individual rankings changed," notes Welch. "Petunias held the top spot in 1946, with zinnias second and marigolds third. Last year zinnias were tops in seed sales while marigolds were second and petunias third."

The horticulturist points out that the rankings were based on seed sales and did not include the sales of bedding plants. If bedding plants were included, petunias would no doubt be the most popular flower today, with marigolds probably nabbing second place.

Welch notes that bedding plants are more readily available today, and their sales are skyrocketing.

Completing the list of top 10 flowers in 1946 were asters, sweet peas, snapdragons, nasturtiums, portulaca (moss rose), larkspur and alyssum. Rounding out the 1975 list were nasturtiums, alyssum, asters, morning glory, portulace, snapdragons and sweet peas.

"It's interesting to note that there has been little change in gardeners' preferences for flowers during the past 29 years," says Welch. "Apparently they have stayed with the flowers that have performed well—the old reliables, so to speak. The main change seems to be toward low-growing, heat resistant flowers."
